YANKS BATTLE TO HOLD OFF REDS

Pact Ministers Approve Plans For Unified Army Of 1,000,000

Force Would Include 25 German Combat Teams, German Air Arm

BRUSSELS, Belgium, Dec. 18 (AP)—Cabinet ministers of the 12 Atlantic pact nations announced tonight they have approved firm steps to form an international army, including Germans, for the defense of Western Europe against Communist aggression.

This step, in defiance of threats from the Soviet Union, was taken at a three-hour meeting this afternoon behind closed doors. A final decision will be announced tomorrow.

Conference officials said the plans call for 55 to 60 divisions and air and sea forces, totaling at least 1,000,000 men by the end of 1953. There was little if any doubt that the man to be picked to command this unified force will be Gen. Dwight Eisenhower. The ministers will ask President Truman to name Eisenhower to the job.

Permits German Air Force

Diplomatic informants said the plan also permits Western Germany to form her own air force. Its precise size was not disclosed, but these informants said the German air arm would be made up mostly of fighter planes with some fighter-bombers. This would give German combat teams the close air support they would need in event they go into action.

Under the plan the West Germans would contribute about 25 combat teams of 6,000 men each. In return the Bonn regime would be given political and economic concessions by occupying powers but not full immediate independence, the informants said.

Eisenhower, the Allied World War Two supreme commander, will probably have two or three deputies—at least one Briton and one Frenchman. Mentioned among possibilities for deputies are Lt. Gen. Alphonse Juin, resident-general of Morocco, and Lt. Gen. Alfred M. Gruenther, chief U. S. Army Planning Officer.

Two Meetings Held

There were two meetings here today—one of defense ministers in the morning and another this afternoon of the defense ministers with the foreign ministers, including Secretary of State Dean Acheson. It was after the second meeting that it was disclosed approval had been given for formation of the international army to include Germans.

After appointment of a commander, the member nations are expected to begin committing units to the new force at once. Britain is reported already to be preparing an armored division for Europe, and the United States target is said to be four or five divisions within the next year or so.

Navy Plane, Seven Aboard, Believed Down In Pacific

SEATTLE, Dec. 18 (AP)—A naval patrol bomber with seven men aboard has been unheard from since 6:30 a. m. (9:30 a. m., EST) today and is presumed down somewhere in the Pacific Ocean, Navy officials said tonight.

The plane was due to return to its Whidbey Island Naval Air Station base at 4 p. m., today. Its fuel supply was designed to last until 8 p. m. tonight, the Navy said.

Adding strength to the belief the plane is down was a report that sea markers were sighted shortly after noon 400 miles off Cape Flattery. The cape is approximately 150 miles northwest of Seattle and is at the extreme northwest tip of the United States.

U. N. Cease-Fire Negotiators Send Plea To Peiping

Request Conference To Discuss Truce

LAKE SUCCESS, Dec. 18 (AP) — United Nations truce negotiators have appealed directly to Peiping for a meeting to discuss a cease-fire in Korea. They indicated a willingness to go to Peiping or anywhere else to talk over the plea.

Lester B. Pearson of Canada told the 60-member Assembly Political Committee today that it was still too soon to expect an answer. The appeal went out Saturday but was disclosed only today.

The committee adjourned all its work until the negotiators have something new to report. It refused to heed Jacob A. Malik's demands to take up Russian charges that the United States' Formosa policy makes it guilty of aggression toward Red China.

Unsatisfactory Answer Seen

Pearson, Sir Benegal N. Rau of India and Assembly President Nasrollah Entezam of Iran are the cease-fire negotiators.

Some foresaw a final answer along the line of the statements made by Wu Hsiu-Chuan, head of the Communist Chinese mission here to discuss the Formosa question.

Wu told reporters Saturday that membership in the U. N. for Red China, withdrawal of all foreign troops—U. N. forces—from Korea, and moving the U. S. Seventh Fleet away from Formosa should be the basis of negotiating for a Korean cease-fire.

One Nationalist Chinese source predicted the Peiping regime would invite the negotiators to travel to Peiping—and then tell them the same thing that Wu told the reporters.

Message Is Quoted

The message sent by the negotiators to Chou En-Lae, Peiping foreign minister, told him "the purpose of this cease-fire in Korea will be to prevent the conflict from spreading to other areas, to put an end to the fighting in Korea, and to provide an opportunity for considering what further steps should be taken for a peaceful settlement of existing issues."

One of the principal issues, Red China's demands for the Chinese seat in the U. N., was taken up briefly last week by a committee of seven to study that demand, under Rau's chairmanship. It agreed not to discuss it until the cease-fire issue is decided.

China Suspends Deals In American Currency

HONG KONG, Tuesday, Dec. 19 (AP) — Communist China today was reported to have suspended all transactions in the currencies of the United States, Canada and the Philippines.

The action, reported in a special dispatch to the pro-Communist Hong Kong newspaper Ta Kung Pao, was seen as a move toward severance of economic relations with the three countries.

Rail Negotiations In Night Session

WASHINGTON, Dec. 18 (AP)—The White House arranged special night sessions in the railroad dispute tonight after several hours of discussion of the "wage situation."

Negotiations, steered by Dr. John R. Steelman, assistant to the President, recessed at 6 p. m., EST, to give union and management representatives a chance to consult with their committees standing by in nearby hotels.

The night conferences with Steelman were to resume at 9 p. m. A White House spokesman said that the wage problems had not been settled at the afternoon meeting and that the night parley did not necessarily mean that agreement was near.

However, considerable progress was indicated by the stepped up negotiations since last week's wildcat strikes were ended and most of the negotiators were optimistic.

Dr. Steelman brought the negotiators face to face last night for the first time since the roads were seized Aug. 26.

Warships For Neighbors

WASHINGTON, Dec. 18 (AP)—Government officials confirmed today that negotiations are under way with several Latin American nations for the sale of some "excess" U. S. warships.

Non-Union Plumbers Install Fire Hose In Soviet Embassy

WASHINGTON, Dec. 18 (AP)—James B. Carey, president of the CIO electrical workers, said tonight the Soviet Embassy has used non-union plumbers to install fire hose "presumably as a defense precaution against a possible bombing of Washington."

Carey said that the Soviet Embassy had been employing "scab" labor in alteration work. He said this indicated that Russia is "no friend of organized labor."

"There's a large touch of irony in the Soviet's Embassy hiring non-union labor for protective measures against bombings, because the only bombing the embassy has to fear is that which would come only from Soviet Russia," Carey said in a statement.

"Here is a shining example of Soviet Russia's flagrant hypocrisy in professing to be a friend of organized labor. There are more than 70 plumbing contractors in Washington who hire union labor and have union contracts, but the official Washington representative of the 'fatherland of the proletariat' deliberately selected a firm that employs scab labor and has no relations with the plumbers union."

"The embassy's employment of scab labor is a deliberate insult to organized labor in the U. S."

CAUSE OF RIOT—The innocent cause of the recent racial rioting in Singapore, Maria Bertha Hertogh, 14-year-old Dutch girl, is shown with her mother following the child's arrival in Amsterdam. A court decision which annulled Maria's marriage to a Moslem set off a series of riots in which a score were killed. Yesterday, a rising fear swept through Singapore that Communists intend to fan the bitterness over the fate of Maria into a widespread clash between the Mohammedan and Christian worlds. British authorities arrested six left-wing Moslem leaders.

Truman Seeks Reorganization, Contract Powers

Requests Congress To Revive Authority

WASHINGTON, Dec. 18 (AP)—President Truman today asked Congress to restore certain World War II powers permitting him to adjust defense contracts and cope with other aspects of the booming mobilization program.

Specifically, the President requested the lawmakers for quick legislation reviving authority he held under titles one and two of the First War Powers Act of 1941.

Title one permitted the President to "create, consolidate, transfer or abolish" federal agencies. Title two allowed him to modify contracts to avoid "undue delays in production."

On the subject of contracts, Mr. Truman wrote Vice President Barkley and House Speaker Rayburn (D-Tex.):

"For example, some government suppliers now face possible bankruptcy because fixed prices in their government contracts are entirely inadequate to meet rising costs; in certain cases, contract price adjustments are essential to keep these firms in production.

"Other government contractors, engaged in especially hazardous work for the military services, may have to be indemnified promptly for damage to facilities and equipment in order that repairs or replacement may be undertaken without delay."

Referring to powers under title one, the President said mobilization requires that he be authorized to set up such defense agencies as may be needed and to shift existing agencies and workers around.

Mr. Truman also said he expects to ask still further emergency authority when the new 82nd Congress meets in January. He did not say what new powers he had in mind.

No Immediate Meat Price Freeze Planned

WASHINGTON, Dec. 18 (AP)—The government said today it does not plan an immediate meat price freeze.

Economic Stabilization Agency officials reported this following a day-long meeting with packer representatives.

GM Halts New Car Sales, Asks Modification Of Price Rollback

'Discrimatory' Order 'Threat' To Wage Pacts

Reaction Of Other Producers Awaited

DETROIT, Dec. 18 (AP)—General Motors Corp. stopped the sale of 1951 model autos today.

The world's biggest car producer reportedly asked the government to modify its order rolling back prices on new cars to the Dec. 1 level.

After GM took its new cars off the market, economic stabilization officials in Washington said they had been advised that the corporation was telegraphing to Washington details of its proposal for modification of the rollback.

GM officials declined immediate comment on the report.

A spokesman for the Economic Stabilization Agency in Washington said Price Stabilizer Michael V. DiSalle has already been given "rough details" of GM's ideas.

Dealers Are Notified

The corporation notified its Chevrolet, Pontiac and Cadillac dealers that until further notice all cars delivered to them on or after today will remain the property of GM and are not to be sold until further notice.

The action was taken, GM said, "pending an examination of the discriminatory order of the Economic Stabilization Agency affecting passenger car prices, including the possible effect x x x on wages."

Last Saturday the agency ordered car prices cut back to Dec. 1 levels. This affected increases announced by Chevrolet, Pontiac, Buick, Cadillac, all Chrysler Divisions, Ford, Mercury and Lincoln and Nash.

Whether Ford, Chrysler and Nash would follow the GM action was not immediately indicated. Neither was there any immediate reaction from the White House or the Economic Stabilization Agency.

Reuther Withholds Comment

Also withholding comment was Walter P. Reuther, president of the CIO United Auto Workers. Following the price rollback order Reuther said his union would fight to retain advantages obtained in new wage agreements with the auto industry. He referred specifically to the cost-of-living clauses that automatically move up wages as living costs mount and also to annual wage improvement provisions.

This was one of the fears expressed by Reuther, and soon after its wire to dealers, GM gave out a telegram to unions representing its workers. The wire to the unions said the price rollback action "places in jeopardy" all phases of the new five-year wage agreements.

A price freeze, General Motors said, "would seem" under the defense production act to "require an equally arbitrary wage freeze." C. E. Wilson, GM president, said, however, that the corporation intends "to do everything possible to preserve its labor agreements."

Committee Votes For Profits Tax

WASHINGTON, Dec. 18 (AP)—The Senate Finance Committee tonight approved a multi-billion dollar excess profits tax bill. Last minute changes sliced some millions from the measure's expected revenue yield.

Chairman George (D-Ga) said he plans to move for Senate debate on the bill Wednesday and get a vote Thursday.

Such a program raised hopes of congressional tax leaders that it can be sent to the White House before Christmas. George said that if the bill is passed Thursday, differences in the Senate and House versions possibly could be ironed out in conferences Friday.

Both George and Chairman Doughton (D-NC) of the House Ways and Means Committee are driving for a final vote of both chambers this week — even if it means a special Saturday session of the Senate.

Before giving final approval, the Senate committee wrote additional new excess profits tax exemptions into the bill. It also eased retroactive features of an increase it has proposed in the present corporation surtax rate.

There are an estimated 100,000 corporations which have to pay the surtax involved. Under the new changes, the proposed increase in the surtax rate from 20 to 22 per cent will not become effective for about 75,000 of these corporations until July 1, 1951.

Demo Senators Turn Back GOP Resolution, 47-29

Demanded Details Of Truman-Attlee Talks

WASHINGTON, Dec. 18 (AP) — Democratic senators closed ranks today in the embittered running dispute over foreign policy and turned back by a 47 to 29 vote a tell-all demand for full details of the recent Truman-Attlee talks.

Solidly, the 44 Democrats present voted to send the resolution by Sen. Kem (R-Mo) to a Foreign Relations Committee pigeonhole, and they were joined by three Republicans—Sen. Gurney of South Dakota, Saltonstall of Masschusetts and Margaret Chase Smith of Maine. Twenty-nine Republicans, no Democrats, voted nay.

McKellar Hits GOP

Shortly before the action, 81-year-old Sen. McKellar (D-Tenn) dug into the Republicans for their almost continuous attacks on Secretary of State Acheson and exhorted the members of both parties to rally "behind our President and our government" lest the nation lose its first major conflict in a war with Russia.

In a later speech, Sen. Fulbright (D-Ark) accused the Republicans of pursuing a policy of "character assassination" in their efforts to bring about a change in American foreign policy.

The Republican membership in each of the two houses approved oust-Acheson resolutions last week, just before the Secretary's departure for the conference of North Atlantic treaty nations at Brussels.

At "Cross Purposes"

McKellar said he had been around the Capitol almost 40 years and never had seen Americans working so much at cross purposes as they are today.

He pointed out that Mr. Truman's term as President runs until January, 1953, and that the Senate had confirmed Acheson as his Secretary of State.

"We cannot change our government overnight—we cannot change our officials overnight," the Tennesseean observed.

Girl Receives Over 27,000 Yule Cards

CAMDEN, N. J., Dec. 18 (AP)—Nine-year-old Patricia Grover got more than 27,000 Christmas cards last year and she's getting even more this year.

Patricia is a victim of chronic asthma and must stay close to home. Last year she asked for a few second-hand Christmas cards. Newspapers published her appeal and she got bushels of them.

That collection already is surpassed this year, and a lot of the cards aren't second-hand either. About 2,000 letters and 250 packages containing cards have been arriving nearly every day for two weeks now.

Patrolmen Chase, 'Pinch' Plane Pilot

SANTA MONICA, Calif., Dec. 18 (AP)—Patrol Car Officers R. J. Lewis and A. R. McMillan saw the lights of a plane about 200 feet overhead Saturday night and gave chase. They followed its erratic course, radioing its wing numbers to headquarters.

The CAA reported the plane was based at Culver City. The officers sped to the airport there, arriving in time to arrest Vernon Baker, 30, as he landed. They said they found some beer bottles in the plane. They booked Baker, of Venice, Calif., on suspicion of flying too low.

Crop Production Third Largest

WASHINGTON, Dec. 18 (AP)—Crop production this year turned out today to be the third largest on record to put the nation in a good position to meet most demands a war might bring.

A month ago it was rated only fourth largest.

The Agriculture Department's final report of the year said the crop volume exceeds the average of the previous eight years, which it described as the most productive period in American agriculture.

Only in the case of cotton did production disappoint. Poor weather and insects helped cut the crop sharply below last year and below the government's production goal.

The department said a prolonged fall season for maturing and harvesting crops helped improve the quantity and quality of many crops. Hence, the total volume turned out to be a third only to those of 1948 and 1949, instead of fourth, as predicted last month, behind 1946, 1948 and 1949.

Added to carryover supplies from previous years, this years harvest will provide adequate quantities of most crops to meet expected civilian, military and export needs as well as to leave desirable reserves for future emergencies.

Civilian Defense Bill Is Approved By House Group

Caldwell Expected To Head New Agency

WASHINGTON, Dec. 18 (AP)—The civil defense bill — urgent legislation tagged for passage before Christmas — cleared the House Armed Services Committee today by a unanimous vote.

The Senate Armed Services Committee reached unanimous agreement Saturday on a similar measure with the expectation of sending it to the floor for action this week.

Rep. Vinson (D-Ga), chairman of the House committee, ticketed the House bill for passage Wednesday.

With a national emergency officially declared, and the world's nerves taut, approval of the legislation in some form was accepted as certain.

While the bill approved by the House committee carries no funds, the civilian defense program is expected to result in an outlay of at least $3,100,000,000 over the next three years by the federal and local governments..

The legislation before Congress is a blueprint for the establishment and operation of a federal civil defense administration, which would cooperate with state and local defense setups. The national government could match dollar for dollar any state funds set aside to build public bomb shelters.

The new agency would be headed by a $17,500-a-year administrator, expected to be Millard E. Caldwell, former Florida governor. He would have broad powers to train civil defense workers, coordinate federal and state defense activities, and work out emergency procedures in the event of an attack.

Caldwell now is acting head of the civilian defense program under an executive order issued by President Truman, which indicated that he is in line for the position of administrator when it is created by law.

Enlistments Soar, Breaking Usual Pre-Christmas Lull

[By The Associated Press]

Voluntary enlistments soared in the armed forces yesterday on the heels of President Truman's week-end proclamation of a national emergency.

Military officials said newly-expanded draft calls for the near future also probably induced many young men to seek immediate entry into the services.

"I'd rather get there before they get to my house," said 20-year-old Melvin Paul of the Bronx, one of the throng of would-be recruits that swamped New York City Navy, Air Force and Army offices.

The upswing in enlistments, coming as a surprise in the usual pre-Christmas lull for recruiting headquarters, was registered in many cities across the country.

Navy offices particularly were busy, with applications increased four to five times the usual number in some cities. Several Air Force and Army recruiters reported activity more than doubled.

In Salt Lake City, recruiting rose 200 per cent in the Army and Navy, and 300 per cent in the Air Force.

Fresh Troops Join Assault On Beachhead

"Mo" Adds Her Big Guns To Defense

TOKYO, Tuesday, Dec. 19 (AP)—Two American outposts for the tiny Hungnam beachhead in Northeast Korea were penetrated briefly last night by banzai charges of Chinese and North Korean Reds, blowing bugles and whistles.

A field dispatch today from the beachhead said the positions were restored quickly.

TOKYO, Tuesday, Dec. 19. (AP)—American doughboys fought ferociously all day Monday and far into the night to contain fresh North Korean and Chinese Communist forces attempting to break through the contracting Hungnam perimeter in Northeast Korea.

Off shore, the mighty battleship Missouri added the heavy power of its nine 16-inch and 20 five-inch guns to the defense. The heavy cruisers St. Paul and Rochester and a host of destroyers already were hurling constant streams of fiery metal into enemy positions ringing the beachhead.

A U. S. Tenth Corps spokesman identified a "very aggressive" North Korean regiment as spearheading the Red attempt to drive the last remaining United Nations forces in Northeast Korea into the sea. Previously only Chinese troops have opposed U. N. forces along the perimeter.

100,000 Chinese In Drive

An estimated 100,000 Chinese are taking part in the drive, with at least one fourth of this force committed on the Hungnam plain.

The Tenth Corps spokesman said, "The right flank is the only place where the danger flag is flying right now."

U. S. Third Division infantrymen held firm there in their frozen fox holes.

Third Division doughboys on the front lines had intermittent fire-fights with the Reds most of the day, Associated Press Correspondent Stan Swinton reported.

Associated Press Correspondent Tom Lambert, also at Hungnam, said U. S. Seventh Division lines on the left flank of the perimeter had a day of quiet Monday.

On the left flank and to the west toward burning Hamhung the Reds were pinned down by the Navy bombardment.

The man in charge of Allied operations in Northeastern Korea was well satisfied.

Sabre Jets Best MIGs

"Things are going just the way we planned them on the Hungnam beachhead," said Maj. Gen. Edward A. Almond, commander of the Tenth Corps.

While Allied ground forces made their last stand in North Korea, the Far East Air Forces, supported by American and British carrier pilots and flying American Marines, carried punishing offensive operations against the Reds to the edge of the Manchurian border.

The first test of the fastest American jet plane—the North American F-86 Sabre — against the speedy Russian-built MIG-15 in mortal combat took place during the day.

Four Sabre jets engaged an equal number of MIGS over Sinuiji in Northwest Korea. One MIG was shot down and the remaining three streaked to safety in Manchuria after a five-minute clash.

ICC Demands LIRR Install Safety Devices

WASHINGTON, Dec. 18 (AP)—The Interstate Commerce Commission today demanded that the Long Island Railroad install safety devices to prevent disasters such as have occurred on its lines this year.

The ICC demand was made in a report on an accident near Jamaica, Long Island, N. Y., on Nov. 22.

In that accident, the commission said, 77 passengers and one train employe were killed and more than 360 persons were injured.

The report also mentioned an accident at Rockville Centre last Feb. 17 which resulted in the deaths of 31 persons and the injury of 158 others.

House OKs Yugoslav Aid Bill Compromise

WASHINGTON, Dec. 18 (AP)—The House today approved a compromise bill authorizing $38,000,000 in emergency aid to drought-pinched Yugoslavia.

The bill now goes to the Senate, where final action is expected tomorrow before the measure goes to the White House.

Without debate, the House agreed to a compromise on minor conflicts between earlier Senate and House versions.

GM Halts New Car Sales, Asks Modification Of Price Rollback

Reaction Of Other Producers Awaited

DETROIT, Dec. 18 (AP)—General Motors Corp. stopped the sale of 1951 model autos today.

The world's biggest car producer reportedly asked the government to modify its order rolling back prices on new cars to the Dec. 1 level.

After GM took its new cars off the market, economic stabilization officials in Washington said they had been advised that the corporation was telegraphing to Washington details of its proposal for modification of the rollback.

GM officials declined immediate comment on the report.

A spokesman for the Economic Stabilization Agency in Washington said Price Stabilizer Michael V. DiSalle has already been given "rough details" of GM's ideas.

Dealers Are Notified

The corporation notified its Chevrolet, Pontiac and Cadillac dealers that until further notice all cars delivered to them on or after today will remain the property of GM and are not to be sold until further notice.

The action was taken, GM said, "pending an examination of the discriminatory order of the Economic Stabilization Agency affecting passenger car prices, including the possible effect x x x on wages."

Last Saturday the agency ordered car prices cut back to Dec. 1 levels. This affected increases announced by Chevrolet, Pontiac, Buick, Cadillac, all Chrysler Divisions, Ford, Mercury and Lincoln and Nash.

Whether Ford, Chrysler and Nash would follow the GM action was not immediately indicated. Neither was there any immediate reaction from the White House or the Economic Stabilization Agency.

Reuther Withholds Comment

Also withholding comment was Walter P. Reuther, president of the CIO United Auto Workers. Following the price rollback order Reuther said his union would fight to retain advantages obtained in new wage agreements with the auto industry. He referred specifically to the cost-of-living clauses that automatically move up wages as living costs mount and also to annual wage improvement provisions.

This was one of the fears expressed by Reuther, and soon after its wire to dealers, GM gave out a telegram to unions representing its workers. The wire to the unions said the price rollback action "places in jeopardy" all phases of the new five-year wage agreements.

A price freeze, General Motors said, "would seem" under the defense production act to "require an equally arbitrary wage freeze." C. E. Wilson, GM president, said, however, that the corporation intends "to do everything possible to preserve its labor agreements."

Committee Votes For Profits Tax

WASHINGTON, Dec. 18 (AP)—The Senate Finance Committee tonight approved a multi-billion dollar excess profits tax bill. Last minute changes sliced some millions from the measure's expected revenue yield.

Chairman George (D-Ga) said he plans to move for Senate debate on the bill Wednesday and get a vote Thursday.

Such a program raised hopes of congressional tax leaders that it can be sent to the White House before Christmas. George said that if the bill is passed Thursday, differences in the Senate and House versions possibly could be ironed out in conferences Friday.

Both George and Chairman Doughton (D-NC) of the House Ways and Means Committee are driving for a final vote of both chambers this week — even if it means a special Saturday session of the Senate.

Before giving final approval, the Senate committee wrote additional new excess profits tax exemptions into the bill. It also eased retroactive features of an increase it has proposed in the present corporation surtax rate.

There are an estimated 100,000 corporations which have to pay the surtax involved. Under the new changes, the proposed increase in the surtax rate from 20 to 22 per cent will not become effective for about 75,000 of these corporations until July 1, 1951.

Demo Senators Turn Back GOP Resolution, 47-29

Demanded Details Of Truman-Attlee Talks

WASHINGTON, Dec. 18 (AP) — Democratic senators closed ranks today in the embittered running dispute over foreign policy and turned back by a 47 to 29 vote a tell-all demand for full details of the recent Truman-Attlee talks.

Solidly, the 44 Democrats present voted to send the resolution by Sen. Kem (R-Mo) to a Foreign Relations Committee pigeonhole, and they were joined by three Republicans—Sen. Gurney of South Dakota, Saltonstall of Masschusetts and Margaret Chase Smith of Maine. Twenty-nine Republicans, no Democrats, voted nay.

McKellar Hits GOP

Shortly before the action, 81-year-old Sen. McKellar (D-Tenn) dug into the Republicans for their almost continuous attacks on Secretary of State Acheson and exhorted the members of both parties to rally "behind our President and our government" lest the nation lose its first major conflict in a war with Russia.

In a later speech, Sen. Fulbright (D-Ark) accused the Republicans of pursuing a policy of "character assassination" in their efforts to bring about a change in American foreign policy.

The Republican membership in each of the two houses approved oust-Acheson resolutions last week, just before the Secretary's departure for the conference of North Atlantic treaty nations at Brussels.

At "Cross Purposes"

McKellar said he had been around the Capitol almost 40 years and never had seen Americans working so much at cross purposes as they are today.

He pointed out that Mr. Truman's term as President runs until January, 1953, and that the Senate had confirmed Acheson as his Secretary of State.

"We cannot change our government overnight—we cannot change our officials overnight," the Tennesseean observed.

Girl Receives Over 27,000 Yule Cards

CAMDEN, N. J., Dec. 18 (AP)—Nine-year-old Patricia Grover got more than 27,000 Christmas cards last year and she's getting even more this year.

Patricia is a victim of chronic asthma and must stay close to home. Last year she asked for a few second-hand Christmas cards. Newspapers published her appeal and she got bushels of them.

That collection already is surpassed this year, and a lot of the cards aren't second-hand either. About 2,000 letters and 250 packages containing cards have been arriving nearly every day for two weeks now.

Patrolmen Chase, 'Pinch' Plane Pilot

SANTA MONICA, Calif., Dec. 18 (AP)—Patrol Car Officers R. J. Lewis and A. R. McMillan saw the lights of a plane about 200 feet overhead Saturday night and gave chase. They followed its erratic course, radioing its wing numbers to headquarters.

The CAA reported the plane was based at Culver City. The officers sped to the airport there, arriving in time to arrest Vernon Baker, 30, as he landed. They said they found some beer bottles in the plane. They booked Baker, of Venice, Calif., on suspicion of flying too low.

Crop Production Third Largest

WASHINGTON, Dec. 18 (AP)—Crop production this year turned out today to be the third largest on record to put the nation in a good position to meet most demands a war might bring.

A month ago it was rated only fourth largest.

The Agriculture Department's final report of the year said the crop volume exceeds the average of the previous eight years, which it described as the most productive period in American agriculture.

Only in the case of cotton did production disappoint. Poor weather and insects helped cut the crop sharply below last year and below the government's production goal.

The department said a prolonged fall season for maturing and harvesting crops helped improve the quantity and quality of many crops. Hence, the total volume turned out to be a third only to those of 1948 and 1949, instead of fourth, as predicted last month, behind 1946, 1948 and 1949.

Added to carryover supplies from previous years, this years harvest will provide adequate quantities of most crops to meet expected civilian, military and export needs as well as to leave desirable reserves for future emergencies.

Enlistments Soar, Breaking Usual Pre-Christmas Lull

[By The Associated Press]

Voluntary enlistments soared in the armed forces yesterday on the heels of President Truman's weekend proclamation of a national emergency.

Military officials said newly-expanded draft calls for the near future also probably induced many young men to seek immediate entry into the services.

"I'd rather get there before they get to my house," said 20-year-old Melvin Paul of the Bronx, one of the throng of would-be recruits that swamped New York City Navy, Air Force and Army offices.

The upswing in enlistments, coming as a surprise in the usual pre-Christmas lull for recruiting headquarters, was registered in many cities across the country.

Navy offices particularly were busy, with applications increased four to five times the usual number in some cities. Several Air Force and Army recruiters reported activity more than doubled.

In Salt Lake City, recruiting rose 200 per cent in the Army and Navy, and 300 per cent in the Air Force.

Civilian Defense Bill Is Approved By House Group

Caldwell Expected To Head New Agency

WASHINGTON, Dec. 18 (AP)—The civil defense bill — urgent legislation tagged for passage before Christmas — cleared the House Armed Services Committee today by a unanimous vote.

The Senate Armed Services Committee reached unanimous agreement Saturday on a similar measure with the expectation of sending it to the floor for action this week.

Rep. Vinson (D-Ga), chairman of the House committee, ticketed the House bill for passage Wednesday.

With a national emergency officially declared, and the world's nerves taut, approval of the legislation in some form was accepted as certain.

While the bill approved by the House committee carries no funds, the civilian defense program is expected to result in an outlay of at least $3,100,000,000 over the next three years by the federal and local governments..

The legislation before Congress is a blueprint for the establishment and operation of a federal civil defense administration, which would cooperate with state and local defense setups. The national government could match dollar for dollar any state funds set aside to build public bomb shelters.

The new agency would be headed by a $17,500-a-year administrator, expected to be Millard E. Caldwell, former Florida governor. He would have broad powers to train civil defense workers, coordinate federal and state defense activities, and work out emergency procedures in the event of an attack.

Caldwell now is acting head of the civilian defense program under an executive order issued by President Truman, which indicated that he is in line for the position of administrator when it is created by law.

Fresh Troops Join Assault On Beachhead

"Mo" Adds Her Big Guns To Defense

TOKYO, Tuesday, Dec. 19 (AP)—Two American outposts for the tiny Hungnam beachhead in Northeast Korea were penetrated briefly last night by banzai charges of Chinese and North Korean Reds, blowing bugles and whistles.

A field dispatch today from the beachhead said the positions were restored quickly.

TOKYO, Tuesday, Dec. 19. (AP)—American doughboys fought ferociously all day Monday and far into the night to contain fresh North Korean and Chinese Communist forces attempting to break through the contracting Hungnam perimeter in Northeast Korea.

Off shore, the mighty battleship Missouri added the heavy power of its nine 16-inch and 20 five-inch guns to the defense. The heavy cruisers St. Paul and Rochester and a host of destroyers already were hurling constant streams of fiery metal into enemy positions ringing the beachhead.

A U. S. Tenth Corps spokesman identified a "very aggressive" North Korean regiment as spearheading the Red attempt to drive the last remaining United Nations forces in Northeast Korea into the sea. Previously only Chinese troops have opposed U. N. forces along the perimeter.

100,000 Chinese In Drive

An estimated 100,000 Chinese are taking part in the drive, with at least one fourth of this force committed on the Hungnam plain.

The Tenth Corps spokesman said, "The right flank is the only place where the danger flag is flying right now."

U. S. Third Division infantrymen held firm there in their frozen fox holes.

Third Division doughboys on the front lines had intermittent fire-fights with the Reds most of the day, Associated Press Correspondent Stan Swinton reported.

Associated Press Correspondent Tom Lambert, also at Hungnam, said U. S. Seventh Division lines on the left flank of the perimeter had a day of quiet Monday.

On the left flank and to the west toward burning Hamhung the Reds were pinned down by the Navy bombardment.

Sabre Jets Best MIGs

"Things are going just the way we planned them on the Hungnam beachhead," said Maj. Gen. Edward A. Almond, commander of the Tenth Corps.

While Allied ground forces made their last stand in North Korea, the Far East Air Forces, supported by American and British carrier pilots and flying American Marines, carried punishing offensive operations against the Reds to the edge of the Manchurian border.

The first test of the fastest American jet plane—the North American F-86 Sabre — against the speedy Russian-built MIG-15 in mortal combat took place during the day.

Four Sabre jets engaged an equal number of MIGS over Sinuiji in Northwest Korea. One MIG was shot down and the remaining three streaked to safety in Manchuria after a five-minute clash.

ICC Demands LIRR Install Safety Devices

WASHINGTON, Dec. 18 (AP)—The Interstate Commerce Commission today demanded that the Long Island Railroad install safety devices to prevent disasters such as have occurred on its lines this year.

The ICC demand was made in a report on an accident near Jamaica, Long Island, N. Y., on Nov. 22.

In that accident, the commission said, 77 passengers and one train employe were killed and more than 360 persons were injured.

The report also mentioned an accident at Rockville Centre last Feb. 17 which resulted in the deaths of 31 persons and the injury of 158 others.

House OKs Yugoslav Aid Bill Compromise

WASHINGTON, Dec. 18 (AP)—The House today approved a compromise bill authorizing $38,000,000 in emergency aid to drought-pinched Yugoslavia.

The bill now goes to the Senate, where final action is expected tomorrow before the measure goes to the White House.

YANKS BATTLE TO HOLD OFF REDS

Force Would Include 25 German Combat Teams, German Air Arm

BRUSSELS, Belgium, Dec. 18 (AP)—Cabinet ministers of the 12 Atlantic pact nations announced tonight they have approved firm steps to form an international army, including Germans, for the defense of Western Europe against Communist aggression.

This step, in defiance of threats from the Soviet Union, was taken at a three-hour meeting this afternoon behind closed doors. A final decision will be announced tomorrow.

Conference officials said the plans call for 55 to 60 divisions and air and sea forces, totaling at least 1,000,000 men by the end of 1953. There was little if any doubt that the man to be picked to command this unified force will be Gen. Dwight Eisenhower. The ministers will ask President Truman to name Eisenhower to the job.

Permits German Air Force

Diplomatic informants said the plan also permits Western Germany to form her own air force. Its precise size was not disclosed, but these informants said the German air arm would be made up mostly of fighter planes with some fighter-bombers. This would give German combat teams the close air support they would need in event they go into action.

Under the plan the West Germans would contribute about 25 combat teams of 6,000 men each. In return the Bonn regime would be given political and economic concessions by occupying powers but not full immediate independence, the informants said.

Eisenhower, the Allied World War Two supreme commander, will probably have two or three deputies—at least one Briton and one Frenchman. Mentioned among possibilities for deputies are Lt. Gen. Alphonse Juin, resident-general of Morocco, and Lt. Gen. Alfred M. Gruenther, chief U. S. Army Planning Officer.

Two Meetings Held

There were two meetings here today—one of defense ministers in the morning and another this afternoon of the defense ministers with the foreign ministers, including Secretary of State Dean Acheson. It was after the second meeting that it was disclosed approval had been given for formation of the international army to include Germans.

After appointment of a commander, the member nations are expected to begin committing units to the new force at once. Britain is reported already to be preparing an armored division for Europe, and the United States target is said to be four or five divisions within the next year or so.

Navy Plane, Seven Aboard, Believed Down In Pacific

SEATTLE, Dec. 18 (AP)—A naval patrol bomber with seven men aboard has been unheard from since 6:30 a. m. (9:30 a. m., EST) today and is presumed down somewhere in the Pacific Ocean, Navy officials said tonight.

The plane was due to return to its Whidbey Island Naval Air Station base at 4 p. m., today. Its fuel supply was designed to last until 8 p. m. tonight, the Navy said.

Adding strength to the belief the plane is down was a report that sea markers were sighted shortly after noon 400 miles off Cape Flattery. The cape is approximately 150 miles northwest of Seattle and is at the extreme northwest tip of the United States.

U. N. Cease-Fire Negotiators Send Plea To Peiping

Request Conference To Discuss Truce

LAKE SUCCESS, Dec. 18 (AP) — United Nations truce negotiators have appealed directly to Peiping for a meeting to discuss a cease-fire in Korea. They indicated a willingness to go to Peiping or anywhere else to talk over the plea.

Lester B. Pearson of Canada told the 60-member Assembly Political Committee today that it was still too soon to expect an answer. The appeal went out Saturday but was disclosed only today.

The committee adjourned all its work until the negotiators have something new to report. It refused to heed Jacob A. Malik's demands to take up Russian charges that the United States' Formosa policy makes it guilty of aggression toward Red China.

Unsatisfactory Answer Seen

Pearson, Sir Benegal N. Rau of India and Assembly President Nasrollah Entezam of Iran are the cease-fire negotiators.

Some foresaw a final answer along the line of the statements made by Wu Hsiu-Chuan, head of the Communist Chinese mission here to discuss the Formosa question.

Wu told reporters Saturday that membership in the U. N. for Red China, withdrawal of all foreign troops—U. N. forces—from Korea, and moving the U. S. Seventh Fleet away from Formosa should be the basis of negotiating for a Korean cease-fire.

One Nationalist Chinese source predicted the Peiping regime would invite the negotiators to travel to Peiping—and then tell them the same thing that Wu told the reporters.

Message Is Quoted

The message sent by the negotiators to Chou En-Lae, Peiping foreign minister, told him "the purpose of this cease-fire in Korea will be to prevent the conflict from spreading to other areas, to put an end to the fighting in Korea, and to provide an opportunity for considering what further steps should be taken for a peaceful settlement of existing issues."

One of the principal issues, Red China's demands for the Chinese seat in the U. N., was taken up briefly last week by a committee of seven to study that demand, under Rau's chairmanship. It agreed not to discuss it until the cease-fire issue is decided.

China Suspends Deals In American Currency

HONG KONG, Tuesday, Dec. 19 (AP) — Communist China today was reported to have suspended all transactions in the currencies of the United States, Canada and the Philippines.

The action, reported in a special dispatch to the pro-Communist Hong Kong newspaper Ta Kung Pao, was seen as a move toward severance of economic relations with the three countries.

Rail Negotiations In Night Session

WASHINGTON, Dec. 18 (AP)—The White House arranged special night sessions in the railroad dispute tonight after several hours of discussion of the "wage situation."

Negotiations, steered by Dr. John R. Steelman, assistant to the President, recessed at 6 p. m., EST, to give union and management representatives a chance to consult with their committees standing by in nearby hotels.

The night conferences with Steelman were to resume at 9 p. m. A White House spokesman said that the wage problems had not been settled at the afternoon meeting and that the night parley did not necessarily mean that agreement was near.

However, considerable progress was indicated by the stepped up negotiations since last week's wildcat strikes were ended and most of the negotiators were optimistic.

Dr. Steelman brought the negotiators face to face last night for the first time since the roads were seized Aug. 26.

Non-Union Plumbers Install Fire Hose In Soviet Embassy

WASHINGTON, Dec. 18 (AP)—James B. Carey, president of the CIO electrical workers, said tonight the Soviet Embassy has used non-union plumbers to install fire hose "presumably as a defense precaution against a possible bombing of Washington."

Carey said that the Soviet Embassy had been employing "scab" labor in alteration work. He said this indicated that Russia is "no friend of organized labor."

"There's a large touch of irony in the Soviet's Embassy hiring non-union labor for protective measures against bombings, because the only bombing the embassy has to fear is that which would come only from Soviet Russia," Carey said in a statement.

"Here is a shining example of Soviet Russia's flagrant hypocrisy in professing to be a friend of organized labor. There are more than 70 plumbing contractors in Washington who hire union labor and have union contracts, but the official Washington representative of the 'fatherland of the proletariat' deliberately selected a firm that employs scab labor and has no relations with the plumbers union."

"The embassy's employment of scab labor is a deliberate insult to organized labor in the U. S."

CAUSE OF RIOT—The innocent cause of the recent racial rioting in Singapore, Maria Bertha Hertogh, 14-year-old Dutch girl, is shown with her mother following the child's arrival in Amsterdam. A court decision which annulled Maria's marriage to a Moslem set off a series of riots in which a score were killed. Yesterday, a rising fear swept through Singapore that Communists intend to fan the bitterness over the fate of Maria into a widespread clash between the Mohammedan and Christian worlds. British authorities arrested six left-wing Moslem leaders.

Truman Seeks Reorganization, Contract Powers

Requests Congress To Revive Authority

WASHINGTON, Dec. 18 (AP)—President Truman today asked Congress to restore certain World War II powers permitting him to adjust defense contracts and cope with other aspects of the booming mobilization program.

Specifically, the President requested the lawmakers for quick legislation reviving authority he held under titles one and two of the First War Powers Act of 1941.

Title one permitted the President to "create, consolidate, transfer or abolish" federal agencies. Title two allowed him to modify contracts to avoid "undue delays in production."

On the subject of contracts, Mr. Truman wrote Vice President Barkley and House Speaker Rayburn (D-Tex.):

"For example, some government suppliers now face possible bankruptcy because fixed prices in their government contracts are entirely inadequate to meet rising costs; in certain cases, contract price adjustments are essential to keep these firms in production.

"Other government contractors, engaged in especially hazardous work for the military services, may have to be indemnified promptly for damage to facilities and equipment in order that repairs or replacement may be undertaken without delay."

Referring to powers under title one, the President said mobilization requires that he be authorized to set up such defense agencies as may be needed and to shift existing agencies and workers around.

Mr. Truman also said he expects to ask still further emergency authority when the new 82nd Congress meets in January. He did not say what new powers he had in mind.

No Immediate Meat Price Freeze Planned

Economic Stabilization Agency officials reported this following a daylong meeting with packer representatives.

CM Halts New Car Sales, Asks Modification Of Price Rollback

'Discrimatory' Order 'Threat' To Wage Pacts

Reaction Of Other Producers Awaited

DETROIT, Dec. 18 (AP)—General Motors Corp. stopped the sale of 1951 model autos today.

The world's biggest car producer reportedly asked the government to modify its order rolling back prices on new cars to the Dec. 1 level.

After GM took its new cars off the market, economic stabilization officials in Washington said they had been advised that the corporation was telegraphing to Washington details of its proposal for modification of the rollback.

GM officials declined immediate comment on the report.

A spokesman for the Economic Stabilization Agency in Washington said Price Stabilizer Michael V. DiSalle has already been given "rough details" of GM's ideas.

Dealers Are Notified

The corporation notified its Chevrolet, Pontiac and Cadillac dealers that until further notice all cars delivered to them on or after today will remain the property of GM and are not to be sold until further notice.

The action was taken, GM said, "pending an examination of the discriminatory order of the Economic Stabilization Agency affecting passenger car prices, including the possible effect x x x on wages."

Last Saturday the agency ordered car prices cut back to Dec. 1 levels. This affected increases announced by Chevrolet, Pontiac, Buick, Cadillac, all Chrysler Divisions, Ford, Mercury and Lincoln and Nash.

Whether Ford, Chrysler and Nash would follow the GM action was not immediately indicated. Neither was there any immediate reaction from the White House or the Economic Stabilization Agency.

Reuther Withholds Comment

Also withholding comment was Walter P. Reuther, president of the CIO United Auto Workers. Following the price rollback order Reuther said his union would fight to retain advantages obtained in new wage agreements with the auto industry. He referred specifically to the cost-of-living clauses that automatically move up wages as living costs mount and also to annual wage improvement provisions.

This was one of the fears expressed by Reuther, and soon after its wire to dealers, GM gave out a telegram to unions representing its workers. The wire to the unions said the price rollback action "places in jeopardy" all phases of the new five-year wage agreements.

A price freeze, General Motors said, "would seem" under the defense production act to "require an equally arbitrary wage freeze." C. E. Wilson, GM president, said, however, that the corporation intends "to do everything possible to preserve its labor agreements."

Committee Votes For Profits Tax

WASHINGTON, Dec. 18 (AP)—The Senate Finance Committee tonight approved a multi-billion dollar excess profits tax bill. Last minute changes sliced some millions from the measure's expected revenue yield.

Chairman George (D-Ga) said he plans to move for Senate debate on the bill Wednesday and get a vote Thursday.

Such a program raised hopes of congressional tax leaders that it can be sent to the White House before Christmas. George said that if the bill is passed Thursday, differences in the Senate and House versions possibly could be ironed out in conferences Friday.

Before giving final approval, the Senate committee wrote additional new excess profits tax exemptions into the bill. It also eased retroactive features of an increase it has proposed in the present corporation surtax rate.

There are an estimated 100,000 corporations which have to pay the surtax involved. Under the new changes, the proposed increase in the surtax rate from 20 to 22 per cent will not become effective for about 75,000 of these corporations until July 1, 1951.

Fresh Troops Join Assault On Beachhead

"Mo" Adds Her Big Guns To Defense

TOKYO, Tuesday, Dec. 19 (AP)—Two American outposts for the tiny Hungnam beachhead in Northeast Korea were penetrated briefly last night by banzai charges of Chinese and North Korean Reds, blowing bugles and whistles.

A field dispatch today from the beachhead said the positions were restored quickly.

TOKYO, Tuesday, Dec. 19. (AP)—American doughboys fought ferociously all day Monday and far into the night to contain fresh North Korean and Chinese Communist forces attempting to break through the contracting Hungnam perimeter in Northeast Korea.

Off shore, the mighty battleship Missouri added the heavy power of its nine 16-inch and 20 five-inch guns to the defense. The heavy cruisers St. Paul and Rochester and a host of destroyers already were hurling constant streams of fiery metal into enemy positions ringing the beachhead.

A U. S. Tenth Corps spokesman identified a "very aggressive" North Korean regiment as spearheading the Red attempt to drive the last remaining United Nations forces in Northeast Korea into the sea. Previously only Chinese troops have opposed U. N. forces along the perimeter.

100,000 Chinese In Drive

An estimated 100,000 Chinese are taking part in the drive, with at least one fourth of this force committed on the Hungnam plain.

The Tenth Corps spokesman said, "The right flank is the only place where the danger flag is flying right now."

U. S. Third Division infantrymen held firm there in their frozen fox holes.

Third Division doughboys on the front lines had intermittent fire-fights with the Reds most of the day, Associated Press Correspondent Stan Swinton reported.

Associated Press Correspondent Tom Lambert, also at Hungnam, said U. S. Seventh Division lines on the left flank of the perimeter had a day of quiet Monday.

On the left flank and to the west toward burning Hamhung the Reds were pinned down by the Navy bombardment.

The man in charge of Allied operations in Northeastern Korea was well satisfied.

Sabre Jets Best MIGs

"Things are going just the way we planned them on the Hungnam beachhead," said Maj. Gen. Edward A. Almond, commander of the Tenth Corps.

While Allied ground forces made their last stand in North Korea, the Far East Air Forces, supported by American and British carrier pilots and flying American Marines, carried punishing offensive operations against the Reds to the edge of the Manchurian border.

The first test of the fastest American jet plane—the North American F-86 Sabre — against the speedy Russian-built MIG-15 in mortal combat took place during the day.

Four Sabre jets engaged an equal number of MIGS over Sinuiji in Northwest Korea. One MIG was shot down and the remaining three streaked to safety in Manchuria after a five-minute clash.

ICC Demands LIRR Install Safety Devices

WASHINGTON, Dec. 18 (AP)—The Interstate Commerce Commission today demanded that the Long Island Railroad install safety devices to prevent disasters such as have occurred on its lines this year.

The ICC demand was made in a report on an accident near Jamaica, Long Island, N. Y., on Nov. 22.

In that accident, the commission said, 77 passengers and one train employe were killed and more than 360 persons were injured.

The report also mentioned an accident at Rockville Centre last Feb. 17 which resulted in the deaths of 31 persons and the injury of 158 others.

House OKs Yugoslav Aid Bill Compromise

WASHINGTON, Dec. 18 (AP)—The House today approved a compromise bill authorizing $38,000,000 in emergency aid to drought-pinched Yugoslavia.

The bill now goes to the Senate, where final action is expected tomorrow before the measure goes to the White House.

Without debate, the House agreed to a compromise on minor conflicts between earlier Senate and House versions.

City Folks With Inflation Worries Help To Inflate Farm Land Market

WASHINGTON.—(AP)—City folks with money—and worries about possible further shrinkage in its buying power—are helping to inflate the farm land market.

So said the Agriculture Department in a report that there has been a substantial increase in demand for farm land since the fighting started in Korea.

Many of the new buyers, the agency said, are business men and investors who are seeking good farms as an investment hedge against inflation.

Prices increased on a national average basis three percent between July and November. They now are five per cent above the record set in March, 1920.

The department predicted further increases in prices next year, as more people seek what they consider to be safer places to invest their savings.

The growing demand for farms is most noticeable, the department said, in eastern and midwestern states.

Improved farm product prices, of course, have contributed, the agency said, to the increased demand for land. Some buying is being done, it said, by farmers who already own land and who wish to invest surplus cash in real assets and at the same time take advantage of the better farm product prices.

The department has predicted that farm income in 1951 will be at least 15 per cent higher than this year.

The department said land values advanced in all states from July to November. The east north central states showed the largest average gain for any region—six per cent—but the west north central, west south central and Pacific regions were up five per cent.

Average prices are higher than a year ago in all but three states. Florida shows the largest gain—19 per cent—largely because of favorable returns from citrus fruits and pasture lands. During the year increases of 10 per cent or more occurred in Minnesota, Iowa, Illinois, Indiana and Texas.

Salt, cornstarch or talcum powder sprinkled on stains will keep them from setting until the garment can be laundered.

Marcantonio Demands Dewey's Impeachment

NEW YORK, Dec. 18 (AP)—Rep. Vito Marcantonio (ALP-NY) asked the impeachment of Gov. Thomas E. Dewey for giving retiring Lt. Gov. Joe R. Hanley a $16,000 state job.

Marcantonio spoke as chairman of the state American Labor Party. He made his demand in telegrams to Sen. Elmer F. Quinn and Assemblyman Irwin Steingut, leaders of the Democrat minority in the state legislature.

Hanley was Republican candidate for the U. S. Senate in the Nov. 7 election. He was defeated by Herbert H. Lehman, the Democrat incumbent.

In last month's bitter election Dewey promised the 74-year-old Hanley a state post if the lieutenant governor were defeated.

Anniversary Of First Plane Flight Observed

KITTY HAWK, N. C., Dec. 18 (AP)—The 47th anniversary of the world's first successful airplane flight, by the Wright brothers, was marked here recently. The ceremonies were at the Wright Memorial, a granite shaft on Kill Devil Hill, a sand dune on the North Carolina coast where the Wright's four short flights on Dec. 17, 1903, opened the way to the air age.

The 750 people present in cold, clear weather saw wreaths laid at the base of the memorial, while military blimps, helicopters and jet planes flew overhead.

Two operations in one: a wife's face lifted and a husband's jaw dropped — when he sees the bill.

Jammed Bus Rolls 400 Feet Down Mountain

GRAND FORKS, B. C., Dec. 18 (AP)—A Calgary-bound bus jammed with between 40 and 50 persons left the road yesterday and rolled 400 feet down a mountainside.

Only three persons were injured seriously, but the majority of the passengers were treated at the scene for shock, bruises and abrasions.

Those Mongol Horsemen

Dispatches from Tokyo, disclosing the arrival of two Chinese cavalry divisions on the front in Korea, describe these troops at some length and with considerable respect.

These units are thought to be Mongolian. They are 4,000 to 7,000 men each. They are further described thusly:

"Lightly armed, they are extremely mobile and capable of traversing the roughest terrain. Their Mongol ponies are accustomed to the extreme low temperatures and biting winds of the Mongolian plateau. They have extraordinary endurance and can operate on the barest minimum of food and water."

There is more. It is hardly necessary to go into detail about the camel trains that provide additional supplies when needed. To sum it up, these are descendants of the hard-bitten hordes that made Genghis Khan the scourge of Asia centuries ago. Their ancestors made conquering forays with bows and arrows, whereas they use rifles. Otherwise there is little to choose between them.

No doubt they are formidable foes. Yet they do not sound much more fearsome than the plains Indians who fought Americans in the last century. Their weapons may be better. They are probably better disciplined. But it is to be doubted that they are braver or more enduring than the wild warriors of the American West.

Those warriors were eventually beaten by the U. S. Cavalry, which had superior equipment and superior skill—and was as tough as they were. The point seems worth remembering just now.

Hiss Nearer Jail

The New York Circuit Court of Appeals has upheld the fairness and legality of the trial of Alger Hiss. The eminence of the judges who wrote the unanimous opinion leaves little doubt that the United States Supreme Court would rule likewise.

Hiss will almost certainly serve the prescribed term of his five-year sentence, technically for perjury, actually for betraying his government's trust in the interest of a foreign power.

This is the indicated outcome of one of the most avidly followed trials in American history, in which the defendant had the support of Supreme Court justices, secretaries of state, the governor of Illinois and —at least by inference—of the President of the United States.

The Hiss case undoubtedly contributed heavily to the decline of public confidence in the administration's Far Eastern policy.

The worst blunder of this policy, from which many of the nation's present troubles—and casualties —stem, was to give Russia concessions at China's expense, without the consent or even the knowledge of the Chinese Nationalist government.

Alger Hiss was a member of the State Department delegation that accompanied President Roosevelt to Yalta. Since he once was (and may still be) a Communist, people are naturally asking what influence he exercised on those fatal concessions.

International Controls

One of the many agreements reached by Prime Minister Attlee and President Truman has evoked little comment, although it is far-reaching and to put it into effect will not be a simple matter.

The two heads of state recognized "the necessity of international action to assure that basic raw materials are distributed equitably in accordance with defense and essential civilian needs." A number of steps are necessary, however, before this can be done.

The nations of the North Atlantic Security Pact must agree on export controls so that raw materials needed in their mutual defense program will not be sold indiscriminately. Each participating nation must set up production controls so these materials will not be wasted on non-essentials.

Thus free international trade cannot go forward even on the limited scale of the postwar period. The free play of economic forces, which is normally desirable as the best means of regulating demand and supply, will be discarded. Competition for raw materials, between nations, will be controlled as will competition within a country where the need to rearm creates an inflationary situation.

Americans would prefer to avoid international economic controls, just as they would rather not have domestic controls. But the mistakes of those who aided in building up the Russian menace have created a dangerous situation, and their effects will be far-reaching.

Not Shorn Of All Power

Although obviously far-reaching in its effects, the Supreme Court's decision in the Blau case does not entirely destroy the government's power to wage war on Communists and Communist organizations in this country. Witnesses in criminal trials may refuse to answer questions about their Communist affiliations but only on the basis of possible self-incrimination.

There is nothing in the ruling of the court to comfort others who have been claiming that their civil rights were invaded when they were asked if they were or had been members of the Communist Party.

The Fifth Amendment to the Constitution, which the court now upholds again, refers only to criminal cases. It makes no reference to investigations by congressional committees. It may be assumed, therefore, that the courts still have the authority to punish those persons — like the Hollywood screen writers — who made free speech the issue in their refusal to testify on certain points before duly constituted committees of Congress.

That the decision of the court will make it more difficult for the government to obtain convictions in some Communist cases is apparent. That it will weaken, if not invalidate, sections of the new McCarran Communist Control Law is likewise a possibility. Congress may be compelled to forge different weapons to protect the nation against the enemies within its borders.

If "Better late than never" had not been coined before, it certainly would have been invented for the automobile age.

The Effect Of Vibrating Tools

MODERN INDUSTRY has many hazards but accidents are kept to a minimum among skilled workers. When a national emergency exists, however thousands of untrained men and women are subjected to unfamiliar surroundings and complicated machinery. This condition produces a sharp rise in industrial disabilities.

Rosie, the riveter, has trouble as well as individuals who use other types of vibrating tools such as electric or air driven hammers, chisels, drills, polishers, and lathing machines. Vibrating tools have been utilized for more than a hundred years yet only in the last two decades have we learned that some individuals cannot use them. This is especially true since the speed of the tools has been stepped up to unbelievable levels. Women seem to suffer more than men and although the effects are not permanent they are liable to be so disabling that it often is necessary for the girls to seek employment in other lines.

Rapid vibrations disturb the blood vessels, joints, and nerves, depending upon the speed of the machines. The use of devices with a rate of 1,000 cycles per minute or less leads to arthritic manifestation. Apparently the low vibrations stir up the bones, joints, and muscles, particularly of the hand and wrist and sometimes of the elbow of the arm that holds the tool. At any rate the tissues become painful, stiff, and thickened. It may become so difficult to move the fingers, hand, and wrist on the involved side that work is impossible. In many instances, distress is present only when the machine is being used. A few are bothered even at rest. If the individual continues to work, the muscles of the arm gradually become weaker and sooner or later an annoying tremor appears. Meanwhile, aching increases as arthritis becomes more definitely established. The solution lies in detecting the cause early and changing occupations.

The blood vessels appear to be damaged when the number of vibrations jumps to 3,000 per minute. As a result, they are more sensitive to cold. As a rule, the only area involved is that which comes into contact with the vibrating tool, and the trigger finger suffers most. It blanches and becomes numb on exposure to cold or when the hand is held above the head. More severe injury leads to aching over the affected areas that often is described as worse than a toothache. Vibrations of 5,000 revolutions or more per minute influence the nerves and the extremity becomes painful, weak, and occasionally so overly sensitive that even the prick of a pin is agonizing. Numbness and tingling also occur.

To the best of our knowledge, the vibrations are implicated in this type of disturbance. Apparently the body is not accustomed to being shaken up by a pneumatic drill or hammer. Each vibration represents a blow to the hand or arm and, even tho it is slight, when the sessions are repeated hour after hour they are likely to leave their mark. A somewhat similar syndrome has been noted among typists, concert pianists, telegraphers, switchboard operators, and handball coaches. It may be that in the future a tolerance to these recent innovations will be developed but at the present time the medical profession has little to offer except to advise the victim to seek a different type of occupation.

TOMORROW: Menstrual irregularities.

PSEUDO ANGINA

K. C. writes: Is false angina an imaginary ailment in a person with a rheumatic heart?

REPLY

Chest pain is never imaginary and there are many causes. When it is not caused by coronary heart disease, it is often referred to as "false angina." This type of anginal pain may be caused by rheumatic heart or by the natural anxiety associated with the knowledge that the pumping apparatus has been damaged.

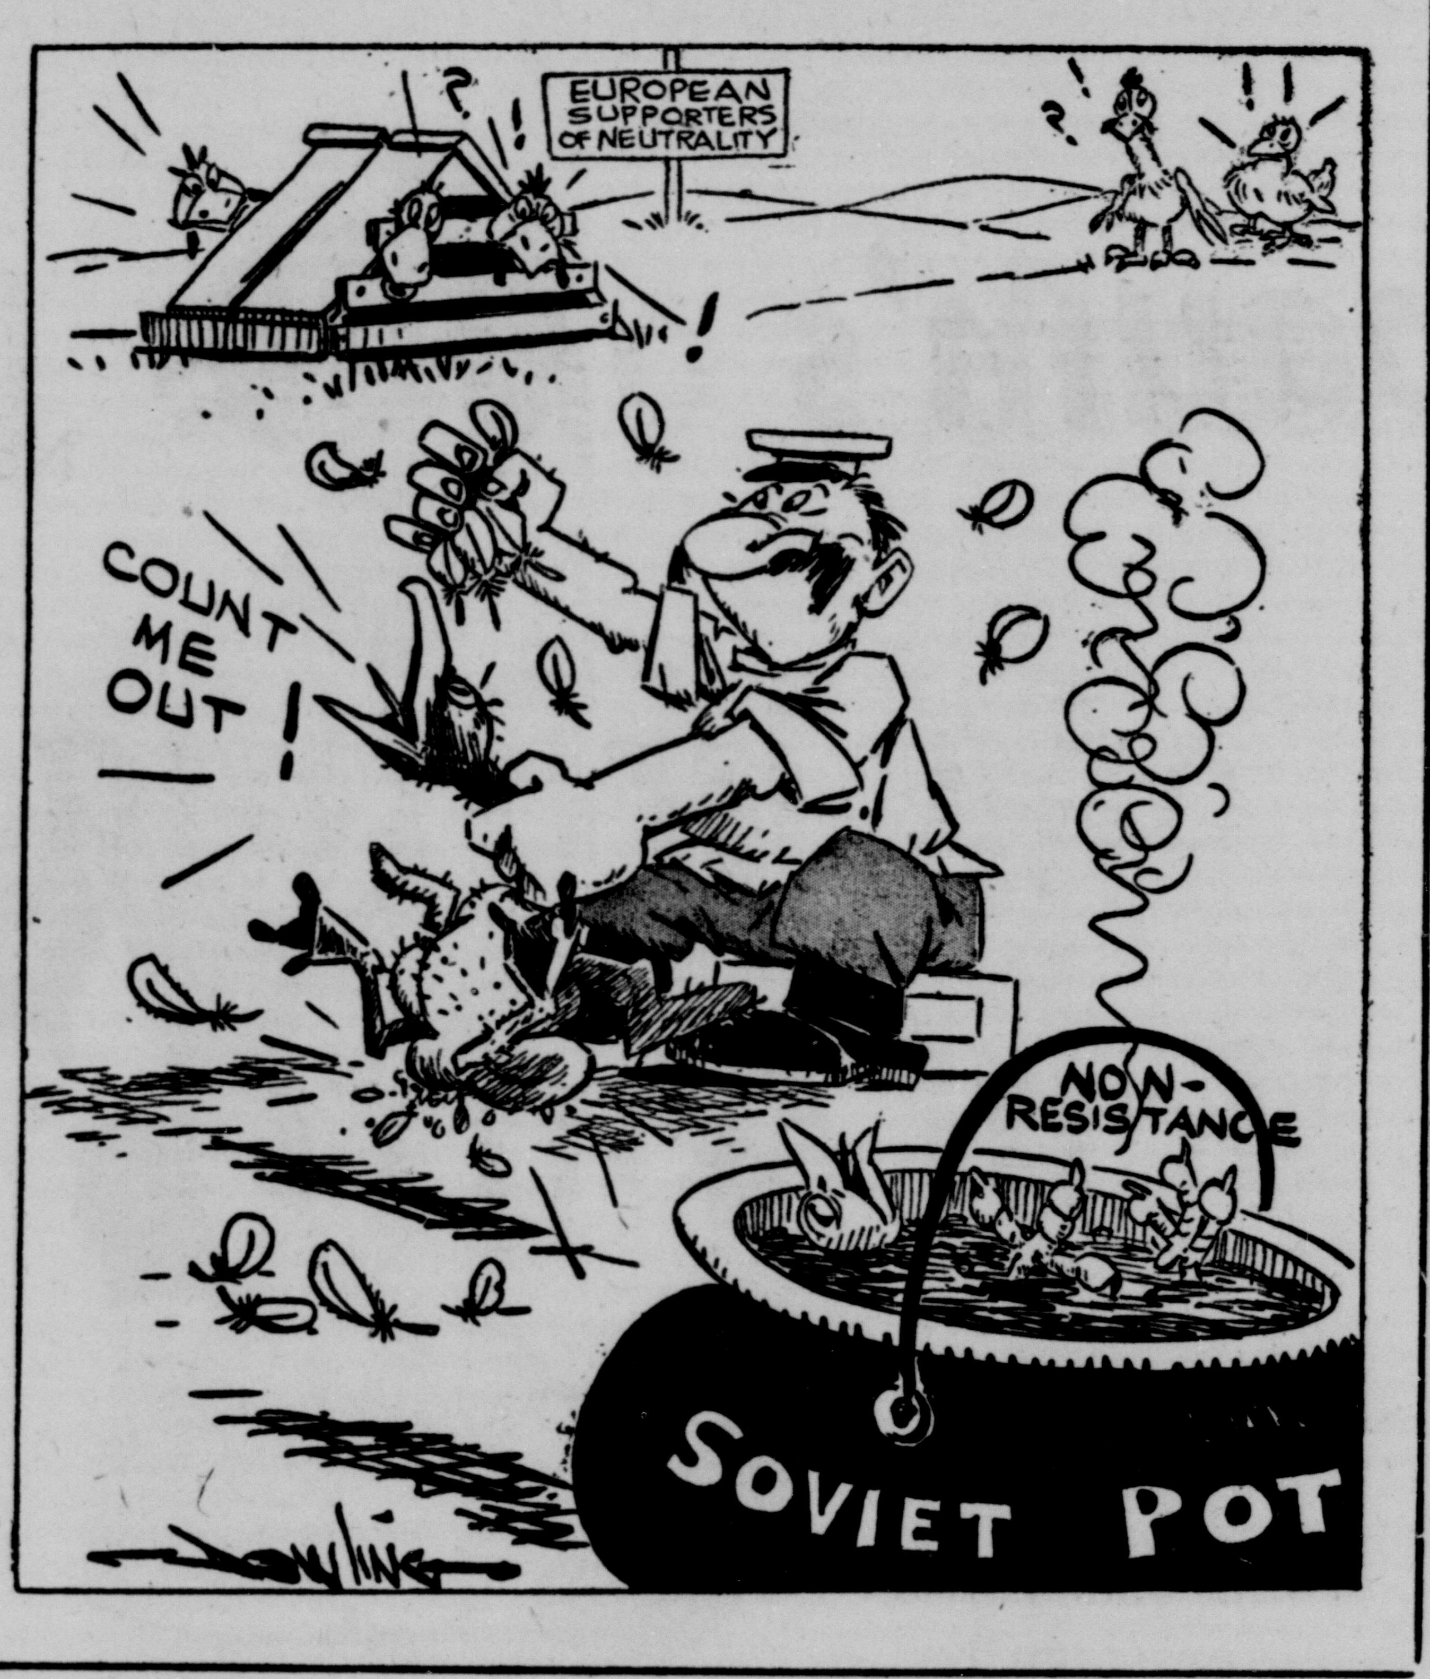
SECOND THOUGHTS ON THE ADVANTAGES OF REMAINING NEUTRAL



The Washington Merry-Go-Round

Says DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — It looks as if the cost of certain key food items isn't going to be controlled very soon, after all.

Price Administrator Mike Di Salle whom came to Washington prepared to do a job for the housewife got a rude shock when he read the price-control law thoroughly. For the farm lobby had neatly inserted certain exceptions to price control, and one of them is grain. In brief Di Salle has no power whatsoever to control the price of grain or any food made from grain.

So Di Salle will have to go back to Congress in January and get the law rewritten.

Aside from this the new price czar has decided that he will not try to control a whole variety of prices, but will stick briefly to a few cost-of-living items plus basic metals and war production raw materials.

NOTE—Di Salle arrived in Washington from Toledo, Ohio, to find he had no telephone, no staff, and no full legal power to stop price rises. All he had was a heap of angry letters from housewives. At first he was tempted to buy a return ticket to Toledo, but he has been getting to work at 6 a. m., going to bed after midnight, and is gradually working order out of chaos.

Russian War Plans

Outguessing the Kremlin is extremely difficult these days, but here is how American experts, trained to do this job, size up the immediate war future.

No. 1. Soviet strategy will probably be to grab off weak and isolated nations one-by-one.

No. 2. Will be to lure the United States into committing men and resources in a big war in Asia. In this case Russia would throw enough armament into the battle to aid local Communists to hold down American strength.

No. 3. While we were tied up in Asia, Russian aries would drive across Western Europe. The latter move is not expected this year, however. The Kremlin wants to entrap us in other areas first.

A summary of Soviet war strategy can be paraphrased as follows: "Russian policy is to expand its borders as far as the indifference or timidity of its neighbors allow, and to hold or draw back when met by determined resistance, and wait for a new chance to spring at its victims."

Next probable Soviet victim will be French Indo-China, already torn with Communist revolt. Siam, Burma and Malaya would probably follow.

Another weak spot which may fall to Russia without a battle is Iran. Already, Soviet pressure has caused Iran to ban rebroadcasts of the Voice of America and the British Broadcasting company on local radio stations. Meanwhile, a secret Russian station has been calling Kurd tribes to revolt.

Truman And MacArthur

President Truman came into a Cabinet meeting some time ago carrying a copy of the New Republic, the liberal weekly magazine.

During the Cabinet session, Secretary of Defense Marshall complained about the difficulty of getting cooperation from General MacArthur. He indicated that MacArthur was a law unto himself. Truman listened, finally help up a copy of the New Republic.

"This is the way to handle that bird," he said.

Cabinet members, after the meeting, immediately sent for copies of the magazine. It contained an article by former Secretary of the Interior Harold Ickes criticizing MacArthur for violating directives from Washington.

Happy Chandler's Tears

Senate colleagues always knew Baseball Commissioner A. B. (Happy) Chandler as one of the happiest men in Congress when he served as Senator from Kentucky. But his smile turned to tears at his annual banquet for major league club owners in Tampa.

Happy had just been informed by his guests that his $65,000-a-year contract would not be renewed.

No one was expected to show up for the banquet that followed, but Chandler went through with it nontheless. News reports that the party "proceeded without a hitch" were wrong. It started at 8 p. m.—two hours late. All but New York Giants' Horace Stoneham and St. Louis Cards' Fred Saigh came. Saigh is reported to be the big gun behind Chandler's outster.

The unhappy host refused to take his customary seat at the head table but sat by himself with his back to his guests. Several times he was forced to leave the room to wipe his eyes.

Chandler, sitting alone, said he was sitting where he felt he belonged. Once he sent out for a box of cigars and presented them to Joe Cronin of Boston as an ironic gift for Cronin's anti-Chandler vote.

The atmosphere was tense and electrifying. Hardly anyone dared speak to other guests. Branch Rickey of the Pittsburgh Pirates, Cincinnati Reds' Warren Giles and Bill Wrigley of the Chicago Cubs carried on whispered conversations.

Ford Frick, president of the National League, during the banquet whispered to William Harridge, president of the American League:

"What an unusual feeling. It's ghostlike."

"Not one man here is enjoying his food," Harridge whispered back. "Mine is stuck right here." He pointed to his throat.

As the club owners departed after the banquet, Chandler shook hands with them. His smile was forced. Each wished him well—perhaps in his next job.

Austin Bows

Philosophical ex-Senator Warren Austin of Vermont, now U. S. Ambassador to the United Nations, was sitting in the delegates' lounge at Lake Success the other days, when visitors asked him how he felt in view of the dangerous days ahead.

"We have a lot to go through," Austin replied. "And maybe we will have to bow our heads a bit. It reminds me of a line of Cotton Mather's. He and Ben Franklin were good friends—though in their ideas they were as far apart as the poles.

"Well," continued Ambassador Austin, "once the two were passing through a passage somewhere — a low-beamed place. Franklin bumped his head on a beam. Mather turned around and said to him, 'Franklin, if you will learn to lower your head when necessary, you will spare yourself many a bump.'"

Austin told the anecdote as a symbol of what he thinks may be the necessary policy of the United States today.

MATTER OF FACT

By JOSEPH And STEWART ALSOP

The Need For Allies

WASHINGTON

A NEW, extreme isolationism is being born of the defeatism that now horribly pervades this confused city. No leading figure has as yet dared to give public voice to this important trend. But all over Washington, in the lobbies of the Senate and House, among the more tremulous policy-makers, and even in the recesses of the military staff the same subterranean muttering is going on. Our Allies cannot be depended on. We have not the power to carry the burden of world leadership alone. We must "contract our commitments" (the new catchword). We must abandon first Asia and then Europe to their fate. We must retire into our own hemisphere, which we can defend. So goes the story. It makes even Senator Robert A. Taft, who at least proposed a Monroe Doctrine for Europe, look like a rabid one-world man.

The simplest way to see the poisonous falsehood of this reasoning, is to have a look at the effect on the value of our only major military asset, the stockpile of atomic weapons. To put the cart of conclusion before the horse of proof, the atomic stockpile which is our only security will lose almost its whole value, if the above-outlined program is blundered into or adopted.

The causes are plain enough. In the first place, plutonium and even hydrogen bombs, no matter how numerous they may be, or how great their destructive power may be, have no value whatever locked up in a cave in Kentucky. They must be delivered to their destined targets, or at least they must be possible to deliver, in order to fulfill their purpose. As of today and for a long time to come, the value of our atomic stockpile must therefore be measured by the capabilities of our strategic air arm.

Soviet Defenses Improved

The strategic air arm is presently composed of 14 groups, of which four are B-36 groups designed to strike targets in the Soviet Union from bases in this hemisphere, and ten are "medium-range" groups equipped with B-29's B-50s and B-47s. Improvements in Soviet air defenses in recent months have considerably depreciated the worth of the B-36 groups, since so many other characteristics had to be sacrificed to build great range into this airplane. Hence the "medium-range" groups, which are all to be equipped eventually with the admirable B-47, must be regarded as vitally important.

The worth of these medium-range groups in turn obviously depends upon the availability of bases for them. By the tricky method of refueling in the air, they can in theory reach targets in the Soviet Union from airfields on this side of the Atlantic. But in practice, even the enthusiasts frankly admit that the efficiency of the strategic air arm will be hopelessly impaired, if there medium range groups, which now comprise over two-thirds of the total force, are denied bases overseas.

At the moment, the necessary overseas bases are available and ready. They comprise the large airfield complex that has been built up in Eastern England; another important complex in the British-controlled North African region of Cyrenaica; a vital, very advanced base on the British-controlled island of Syprus; bases now abuilding in French North Africa; and airfields used by us as "transport bases" in Tripoli and at Dahran in Arabia. A glance at this list reveals what is now rapidly becoming almost the central fact in the strategic situation of the United States.

Allies Control Bases

We may control the atomic stockpile, but our Allies, and particularly Great Britain, control most of the bases we need to give the atomic stockpile any value.

There are a thousand other reasons of course why the program of abandoning our Allies to their fate and withdrawing to our hemisphere is a quick way to national suicide. Some of them will be examined in a subsequent report. Meanwhile, the significance of the situation outlined above ought to be faced by every American. We have gone on smugly for five years, supposing the atomic bomb was ours to use or not to use, as we alone saw fit. We have gone on smugly for five years, neglecting our own defense and the defense of the free world, relying for security on this magical weapon.

But we have been wrong. When Prime Minister Attlee told Parliament the other day that he was sure we would not use our bombs without consulting the British government, his promise was doubly guaranteed by the facts of geography and the ranges of our airplanes. If now, in the hour of peril, we abandon our Allies, we cannot hope that they will not abandon us. And thus, those American leaders who are secretly advocating this course today, and will no doubt publicly advocate it tomorrow, are in truth proposing that the United States freeze its only military asset, the atomic stockpile, which is also, at the moment, the only defense of the free world.

Question Of Punishment In Rail Strike Discussed

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Dec. 18—Do the persons who defied the authority of the Government of the United States and stopped train service in many strategic places last week, causing an enormous property damage, now go scot free?

If a young man refuses to accept a darft call he is punished, if a soldier refuses to obey an order he is disciplined, and if anyone puts an impediment on the tracks of a railroad and causes the trains to halt he can be jailed under the laws governing interruptions to interstate commerce.

But what of the individuals who reported "sick" and tied up the railroads in several cities even though the same trains were being operated as a part of the United States Army? Will those who engaged in a conspiracy to interrupt train service escape any punishment? Who wil reimburse the citizens for millions lost by the rail tie-up and interrupted delivery of mail?

Not Ordinary Dispute

Usually where there are labor disputes and a refusal to operate facilities, infractions are waived when a settlement is made. Normally as a condition of settlement the employer is coerced into dropping lawsuits. But this time it was the Government of the United States which was acting as the employer. The circumstances under which a conspiracy was hatched to damage the transportation service of the government and to interfere with the orderly shipment of the mails are beyond the realm of an ordinary labor dispute.

Nor does the episode come under the right to strike or the right to refuse to work. Individuals have a right to stay off the job. That's an individual act which is covered by the involuntary servitude provision of the Constitution. But the moment there is action in concert, a conspiracy emerges which isn't protected by the Constitution. Two or more persons who persuade others to refrain from work can, under certain circumstances, be adjudged guilty of a conspiracy. Where, moreover, the conspiracy tends to violate the laws of the United States or to obstruct the operations or functioning of the government itself, there is ground for prosecution.

The test is here. Will the Department of Justice as the law enforcement agency of the government carry on a thorough investigation and ask for the indictment of the guilty parties?

There is much talk about ridding the country of those engaged in subversive activities. There is talk about refusing to appease when there is a problem of justice and wrongdoing involved. The administration has at times appeased union labor and so has Congress on the theory that the votes of the unions must not be alienated. But appeasement doesn't pay in any instance where a fundamental principle is concerned.

Justice Department Criticized

The issue as to whether a union is responsible for wildcat or "unauthorized" strikes is before the courts now as a sonsequence of the failure of the coal miners' union last year to obey a court order. The Department of Justice at that time was severely criticized for its laxity in gathering evidence but it remains to be seen whether the courts will agree or disagree in the final analysis with the Department's case as it was presented.

The present situation, however, is far different from that created by recalcitrant coal miners. Here the conspiracy to obstruct came from individuals who were working for the United States Army. They all reported "sick." Evidence can certainly be gathered as to whether any physicians were actually consulted in any cases and what testimony such physicians will give where several hundred switchmen were involved. Will the switchmen under oath swear that they were "sick"? Plainly any refusal to continue at work raises the issue of whether seniority rights have been forfeited. Are the switchmen who returned to work now employes? It may turn out that the switchmen were innocent victims of a conspiracy engineered by persons higher up. Will the Department of Justice follow through and get at the guilty persons or will principle be abused once more and the country be given additional proof of the deterioration of government in Washington?

These Days

Total Mobilization

VERY late the government has been forced to recognize that it is engaged in a war and that the nation needs to be mobilized for its defense. This should have been done on August 15, 1945, when our present troubles were already apparent. Instead, on that date, this country threw its strength to the winds and engaged in a round of palavers and of buying friendships which has wasted our heritage.

Invaluable equipment was dumped, sold and permitted to be stolen, as in the Philippines, and now we have to start all over again. The appointment of Charles E. Wilson of General Electric to the responsibility of the management of supply is an acknowledgment that more than paper planning is needed. Wilson is tough and will hold the economic line with hardihood, depending, of course, on how much effective authority is delegated to him. If he is in reality subordinated to the White House economists, his office will be decorative. No man can do a good job if his boss is everlastingly changing his mind about policy.

The mobilization of manpower and of production is, however, insufficient. That alone will not win.

It is necessary also to re-examine the policies of this nation which brought us our present discredit and to remove from public office the bunglers. The dismissal of Dean Acheson is essential. As long as he remains, most Americans will have no confidence in the conduct of our foreign relations. In no other country could a public servant survive Mr. Acheson's just unpopularity.

In a manner, Dean Acheson has become a symbol of the men of Yalta—those officials who participated in the arrangements for our defeat by Soviet Russia. It is unsound to question their loyalty; it is not unsound to impugn their judgment. Men who over so long a period have always been grievously wrong have no place in the national leadership. They should go and forthwith. Their presence in the government imperils the morale of the people.

Not only should Dean Acheson go, but Philip Jessup and Dean Rusk and any other architects of our misfortunes as are involved in this need for the deposit of policy in hands that are trusted. As long as they remain in the State Department, no pleas for unity, no matter by whom uttered, will have public support.

And we need to mobilize our friends and allies. We now know that money does not buy friends or allies. When they no longer need your money, they dislike you as a creditor. Machiavelli said what I have in mind so much better than I can:

". . . in general of men . . . they are ungrateful, fickle, false, cowards, covetous, and as long as you succeed they are yours entirely; they will offer you their blood, property, life, and children . . . when the need is far distant; but when it approaches they turn against you. And that prince who, relying entirely on their promises, has neglected other precautions, is ruined; because friendships that are obtained by payments, and not by greatness or nobility of mind, may indeed be earned, but they are not secured, and in time of need cannot be relied upon. . ."

Precisely that has happened to us. Joseph P. Kennedy, in his recent speech, emphasized the fact that we hardly have a real ally in the world and he suggested that we get out of Europe and Asia and devote ourselves to our Latin American neighbors. It was too angry and limited a plan, but was nevertheless an inevitable response to the challenge of our isolation. Certainly, those who once called such as Joe Kennedy, isolationists, now witness the spectacle of the United States as a country perforce isolated by her erstwhile allies to whose support she had twice come in war. They pled for aid and we gave it and now they flirt with our enemies.

But it is not good enough to admit such a failure of our policy. This country needs at this moment a Disraeli, a Talleyrand, to reverse its policy and to move back to the authority in the world to which our strength entitles us. Such a person is not in sight; yet he must exist among us who have been so rich in talent everywhere but in government.

Those Mongol Horsemen

Dispatches from Tokyo, disclosing the arrival of two Chinese cavalry divisions on the front in Korea, describe these troops at some length and with considerable respect.

These units are thought to be Mongolian. They are 4,000 to 7,000 men each. They are further described thusly:

"Lightly armed, they are extremely mobile and capable of traversing the roughest terrain. Their Mongol ponies are accustomed to the extreme low temperatures and biting winds of the Mongolian plateau. They have extraordinary endurance and can operate on the barest minimum of food and water."

There is more. It is hardly necessary to go into detail about the camel trains that provide additional supplies when needed. To sum it up, these are descendants of the hard-bitten hordes that made Genghis Khan the scourge of Asia centuries ago. Their ancestors made conquering forays with bows and arrows, whereas they use rifles. Otherwise there is little to choose between them.

No doubt they are formidable foes. Yet they do not sound much more fearsome than the plains Indians who fought Americans in the last century. Their weapons may be better. They are probably better disciplined. But it is to be doubted that they are braver or more enduring than the wild warriors of the American West.

Those warriors were eventually beaten by the U. S. Cavalry, which had superior equipment and superior skill—and was as tough as they were. The point seems worth remembering just now.

Hiss Nearer Jail

The New York Circuit Court of Appeals has upheld the fairness and legality of the trial of Alger Hiss. The eminence of the judges who wrote the unanimous opinion leaves little doubt that the United States Supreme Court would rule likewise.

Hiss will almost certainly serve the prescribed term of his five-year sentence, technically for perjury, actually for betraying his government's trust in the interest of a foreign power.

This is the indicated outcome of one of the most avidly followed trials in American history, in which the defendant had the support of Supreme Court justices, secretaries of state, the governor of Illinois and —at least by inference—of the President of the United States.

The Hiss case undoubtedly contributed heavily to the decline of public confidence in the administration's Far Eastern policy.

The worst blunder of this policy, from which many of the nation's present troubles—and casualties—stem, was to give Russia concessions at China's expense, without the consent or even the knowledge of the Chinese Nationalist government.

Alger Hiss was a member of the State Department delegation that accompanied President Roosevelt to Yalta. Since he once was (and may still be) a Communist, people are naturally asking what influence he exercised on those fatal concessions.

International Controls

One of the many agreements reached by Prime Minister Attlee and President Truman has evoked little comment, although it is far-reaching and to put it into effect will not be a simple matter.

The two heads of state recognized "the necessity of international action to assure that basic raw materials are distributed equitably in accordance with defense and essential civilian needs." A number of steps are necessary, however, before this can be done.

The nations of the North Atlantic Security Pact must agree on export controls so that raw materials needed in their mutual defense program will not be sold indiscriminately. Each participating nation must set up production controls so these materials will not be wasted on non-essentials.

Thus free international trade cannot go forward even on the limited scale of the postwar period. The free play of economic forces, which is normally desirable as the best means of regulating demand and supply, will be discarded. Competition for raw materials, between nations, will be controlled as will competition within a country where the need to rearm creates an inflationary situation.

Americans would prefer to avoid international economic controls, just as they would rather not have domestic controls. But the mistakes of those who aided in building up the Russian menace have created a dangerous situation, and their effects will be far-reaching.

Not Shorn Of All Power

Although obviously far-reaching in its effects, the Supreme Court's decision in the Blau case does not entirely destroy the government's power to wage war on Communists and Communist organizations in this country. Witnesses in criminal trials may refuse to answer questions about their Communist affiliations but only on the basis of possible self-incrimination.

There is nothing in the ruling of the court to comfort others who have been claiming that their civil rights were invaded when they were asked if they were or had been members of the Communist Party.

The Fifth Amendment to the Constitution, which the court now upholds again, refers only to criminal cases. It makes no reference to investigations by congressional committees. It may be assumed, therefore, that the courts still have the authority to punish those persons — like the Hollywood screen writers — who made free speech the issue in their refusal to testify on certain points before duly constituted committees of Congress.

That the decision of the court will make it more difficult for the government to obtain convictions in some Communist cases is apparent. That it will weaken, if not invalidate, sections of the new McCarran Communist Control Law is likewise a possibility. Congress may be compelled to forge different weapons to protect the nation against the enemies within its borders.

If "Better late than never" had not been coined before, it certainly would have been invented for the automobile age.

The Effect Of Vibrating Tools

MODERN INDUSTRY has many hazards but accidents are kept to a minimum among skilled workers. When a national emergency exists, however thousands of untrained men and women are subjected to unfamiliar surroundings and complicated machinery. This condition produces a sharp rise in industrial disabilities.

Rosie, the riveter, has trouble as well as individuals who use other types of vibrating tools such as electric or air driven hammers, chisels, drills, polishers, and lathing machines. Vibrating tools have been utilized for more than a hundred years yet only in the last two decades have we learned that some individuals cannot use them. This is especially true since the speed of the tools has been stepped up to unbelievable levels. Women seem to suffer more than men and although the effects are not permanent they are liable to be so disabling that it often is necessary for the girls to seek employment in other lines.

Rapid vibrations disturb the blood vessels, joints, and nerves, depending upon the speed of the machines. The use of devices with a rate of 1,000 cycles per minute or less leads to arthritic manifestation. Apparently the low vibrations stir up the bones, joints, and muscles, particularly of the hand and wrist and sometimes of the elbow of the arm that holds the tool. At any rate the tissues become painful, stiff, and thickened. It may become so difficult to move the fingers, hand, and wrist on the involved side that work is impossible. In many instances, distress is present only when the machine is being used. A few are bothered even at rest. If the individual continues to work, the muscles of the arm gradually become weaker and sooner or later an annoying tremor appears. Meanwhile, aching increases as arthritis becomes more definitely established. The solution lies in detecting the cause early and changing occupations.

The blood vessels appear to be damaged when the number of vibrations jumps to 3,000 per minute. As a result, they are more sensitive to cold. As a rule, the only area involved is that which comes into contact with the vibrating tool, and the trigger finger suffers most. It blanches and becomes numb on exposure to cold or when the hand is held above the head. More severe injury leads to aching over the affected areas that often is described as worse than a toothache. Vibrations of 5,000 revolutions or more per minute influence the nerves and the extremity becomes painful, weak, and occasionally so overly sensitive that even the prick of a pin is agonizing. Numbness and tingling also occur.

To the best of our knowledge, the vibrations are implicated in this type of disturbance. Apparently the body is not accustomed to being shaken up by a pneumatic drill or hammer. Each vibration represents a blow to the hand or arm and, even tho it is slight, when the sessions are repeated hour after hour they are likely to leave their mark. A somewhat similar syndrome has been noted among typists, concert pianists, telegraphers, switchboard operators, and handball coaches. It may be that in the future a tolerance to these recent innovations will be developed but at the present time the medical profession has little to offer except to advise the victim to seek a different type of occupation.

TOMORROW: Menstrual irregularities.

PSEUDO ANGINA

REPLY

Chest pain is never imaginary and there are many causes. When it is not caused by coronary heart disease, it is often referred to as "false angina." This type of anginal pain may be caused by rheumatic heart or by the natural anxiety associated with the knowledge that the pumping apparatus has been damaged.

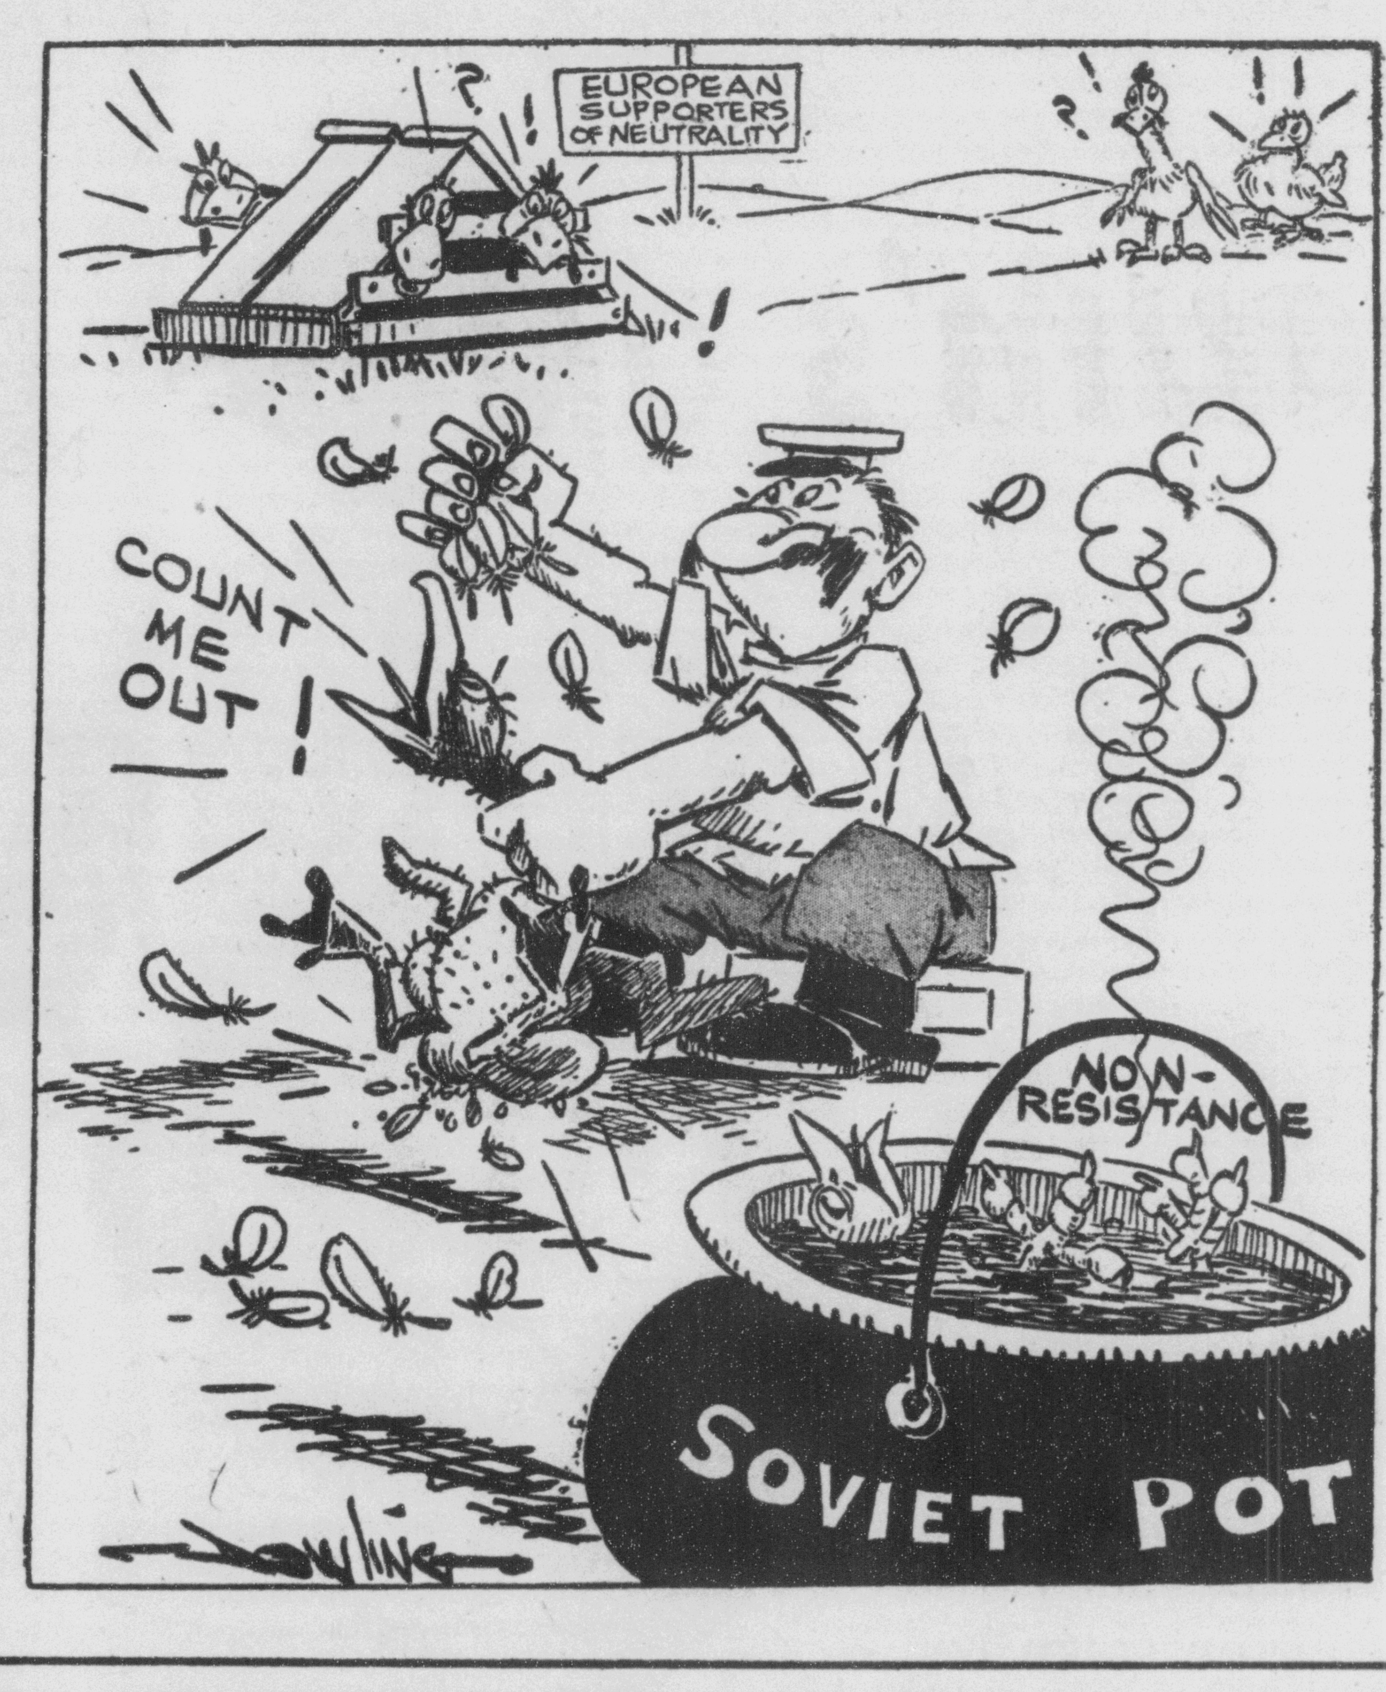
SECOND THOUGHTS ON THE ADVANTAGES OF REMAINING NEUTRAL



The Washington Merry-Go-Round

Says DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — It looks as if the cost of certain key food items isn't going to be controlled very soon, after all.

Price Administrator Mike Di Salle whom came to Washington prepared to do a job for the housewife got a rude shock when he read the price-control law thoroughly. For the farm lobby had neatly inserted certain exceptions to price control, and one of them is grain. In brief Di Salle has no power whatsoever to control the price of grain or any food made from grain.

So Di Salle will have to go back to Congress in January and get the law rewritten.

Aside from this the new price czar has decided that he will not try to control a whole variety of prices, but will stick briefly to a few cost-of-living items plus basic metals and war production raw materials.

NOTE—Di Salle arrived in Washington from Toledo, Ohio, to find he had no telephone, no staff, and no full legal power to stop price rises. All he had was a heap of angry letters from housewives. At first he was tempted to buy a return ticket to Toledo, but he has been getting to work at 6 a. m., going to bed after midnight, and is gradually working order out of chaos.

Russian War Plans

Outguessing the Kremlin is extremely difficult these days, but here is how American experts, trained to do this job, size up the immediate war future.

No. 1. Soviet strategy will probably be to grab off weak and isolated nations one-by-one.

No. 2. Will be to lure the United States into committing men and resources in a big war in Asia. In this case Russia would throw enough armament into the battle to aid local Communists to hold down American strength.

No. 3. While we were tied up in Asia, Russian aries would drive across Western Europe. The latter move is not expected this year, however. The Kremlin wants to entrap us in other areas first.

A summary of Soviet war strategy can be paraphrased as follows: "Russian policy is to expand its borders as far as the indifference or timidity of its neighbors allow, and to hold or draw back when met by determined resistance, and wait for a new chance to spring at its victims."

Next probable Soviet victim will be French Indo-China, already torn with Communist revolt. Siam, Burma and Malaya would probably follow.

Another weak spot which may fall to Russia without a battle is Iran. Already, Soviet pressure has caused Iran to ban rebroadcasts of the Voice of America and the British Broadcasting company on local radio stations. Meanwhile, a secret Russian station has been calling Kurd tribes to revolt.

Truman And MacArthur

President Truman came into a Cabinet meeting some time ago carrying a copy of the New Republic, the liberal weekly magazine.

During the Cabinet session, Secretary of Defense Marshall complained about the difficulty of getting cooperation from General MacArthur. He indicated that MacArthur was a law unto himself. Truman listened, finally help up a copy of the New Republic.

"This is the way to handle that bird," he said.

Cabinet members, after the meeting, immediately sent for copies of the magazine. It contained an article by former Secretary of the Interior Harold Ickes criticizing MacArthur for violating directives from Washington.

Happy Chandler's Tears

Senate colleagues always knew Baseball Commissioner A. B. (Happy) Chandler as one of the happiest men in Congress when he served as Senator from Kentucky. But his smile turned to tears at his annual banquet for major league club owners in Tampa.

Happy had just been informed by his guests that his $65,000-a-year contract would not be renewed.

No one was expected to show up for the banquet that followed, but Chandler went through with it nontheless. News reports that the party "proceeded without a hitch" were wrong. It started at 8 p. m.—two hours late. All but New York Giants' Horace Stoneham and St. Louis Cards' Fred Saigh came. Saigh is reported to be the big gun behind Chandler's outster.

The unhappy host refused to take his customary seat at the head table but sat by himself with his back to his guests. Several times he was forced to leave the room to wipe his eyes.

Chandler, sitting alone, said he was sitting where he felt he belonged. Once he sent out for a box of cigars and presented them to Joe Cronin of Boston as an ironic gift for Cronin's anti-Chandler vote.

The atmosphere was tense and electrifying. Hardly anyone dared speak to other guests. Branch Rickey of the Pittsburgh Pirates, Cincinnati Reds' Warren Giles and Bill Wrigley of the Chicago Cubs carried on whispered conversations.

Ford Frick, president of the National League, during the banquet whispered to William Harridge, president of the American League:

"What an unusual feeling. It's ghostlike."

"Not one man here is enjoying his food," Harridge whispered back. "Mine is stuck right here." He pointed to his throat.

As the club owners departed after the banquet, Chandler shook hands with them. His smile was forced. Each wished him well—perhaps in his next job.

Austin Bows

Philosophical ex-Senator Warren Austin of Vermont, now U. S. Ambassador to the United Nations, was sitting in the delegates' lounge at Lake Success the other days, when visitors asked him how he felt in view of the dangerous days ahead.

"We have a lot to go through," Austin replied. "And maybe we will have to bow our heads a bit. It reminds me of a line of Cotton Mather's. He and Ben Franklin were good friends—though in their ideas they were as far apart as the poles.

"Well," continued Ambassador Austin, "once the two were passing through a passage somewhere — a low-beamed place. Franklin bumped his head on a beam. Mather turned around and said to him, 'Franklin, if you will learn to lower your head when necessary, you will spare yourself many a bump.'"

Austin told the anecdote as a symbol of what he thinks may be the necessary policy of the United States today.

MATTER OF FACT

By JOSEPH And STEWART ALSOP

The Need For Allies

WASHINGTON

A NEW, extreme isolationism is being born of the defeatism that now horribly pervades this confused city. No leading figure has as yet dared to give public voice to this important trend. But all over Washington, in the lobbies of the Senate and House, among the more tremulous policy-makers, and even in the recesses of the military staff the same subterranean muttering is going on.

Our Allies cannot be depended on. We have not the power to carry the burden of world leadership alone. We must "contract our commitments" (the new catchword). We must abandon first Asia and then Europe to their fate. We must retire into our own hemisphere, which we can defend. So goes the story. It makes even Senator Robert A. Taft, who at least proposed a Monroe Doctrine for Europe, look like a rabid one-world man.

The simplest way to see the poisonous falsehood of this reasoning, is to have a look at the effect on the value of our only major military asset, the stockpile of atomic weapons. To put the cart of conclusion before the horse of proof, the atomic stockpile which is our only security will lose almost its whole value, if the above-outlined program is blundered into or adopted.

The causes are plain enough. In the first place, plutonium and even hydrogen bombs, no matter how numerous they may be, or how great their destructive power may be, have no value whatever locked up in a cave in Kentucky. They must be delivered to their destined targets, or at least they must be possible to deliver, in order to fulfill their purpose. As of today and for a long time to come, the value of our atomic stockpile must therefore be measured by the capabilities of our strategic air arm.

Soviet Defenses Improved

The strategic air arm is presently composed of 14 groups, of which four are B-36 groups designed to strike targets in the Soviet Union from bases in this hemisphere, and ten are "medium-range" groups equipped with B-29's B-50s and B-47s. Improvements in Soviet air defenses in recent months have considerably depreciated the worth of the B-36 groups, since so many other characteristics had to be sacrificed to build great range into this airplane. Hence the "medium-range" groups, which are all to be equipped eventually with the admirable B-47, must be regarded as vitally important.

The worth of these medium-range groups in turn obviously depends upon the availability of bases for them. By the tricky method of refueling in the air, they can in theory reach targets in the Soviet Union from airfields on this side of the Atlantic. But in practice, even the enthusiasts frankly admit that the efficiency of the strategic air arm will be hopelessly impaired, if there medium range groups, which now comprise over two-thirds of the total force, are denied bases overseas.

At the moment, the necessary overseas bases are available and ready. They comprise the large airfield complex that has been built up in Eastern England; another important complex in the British-controlled North African region of Cyrenaica; a vital, very advanced base on the British-controlled island of Syprus; bases now abuilding in French North Africa; and airfields used by us as "transport bases" in Tripoli and at Dahran in Arabia. A glance at this list reveals what is now rapidly becoming almost the central fact in the strategic situation of the United States.

Allies Control Bases

We may control the atomic stockpile, but our Allies, and particularly Great Britain, control most of the bases we need to give the atomic stockpile any value.

There are a thousand other reasons of course why the program of abandoning our Allies to their fate and withdrawing to our hemisphere is a quick way to national suicide. Some of them will be examined in a subsequent report. Meanwhile, the significance of the situation outlined above ought to be faced by every American. We have gone on smugly for five years, supposing the atomic bomb was ours to use or not to use, as we alone saw fit. We have gone on smugly for five years, neglecting our own defense and the defense of the free world, relying for security on this magical weapon.

But we have been wrong. When Prime Minister Attlee told Parliament the other day that he was sure we would not use our bombs without consulting the British government, his promise was doubly guaranteed by the facts of geography and the ranges of our airplanes. If now, in the hour of peril, we abandon our Allies, we cannot hope that they will not abandon us. And thus, those American leaders who are secretly advocating this course today, and will no doubt publicly advocate it tomorrow, are in truth proposing that the United States freeze its only military asset, the atomic stockpile, which is also, at the moment, the only defense of the free world.

Question Of Punishment In Rail Strike Discussed

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Dec. 18—Do the persons who defied the authority of the Government of the United States and stopped train service in many strategic places last week, causing an enormous property damage, now go scot free?

If a young man refuses to accept a darft call he is punished, if a soldier refuses to obey an order he is disciplined, and if anyone puts an impediment on the tracks of a railroad and causes the trains to halt he can be jailed under the laws governing interruptions to interstate commerce.

But what of the individuals who reported "sick" and tied up the railroads in several cities even though the same trains were being operated as a part of the United States Army? Will those who engaged in a conspiracy to interrupt train service escape any punishment? Who wil reimburse the citizens for millions lost by the rail tie-up and interrupted delivery of mail?

Not Ordinary Dispute

Usually where there are labor disputes and a refusal to operate facilities, infractions are waived when a settlement is made. Normally as a condition of settlement the employer is coerced into dropping lawsuits. But this time it was the Government of the United States which was acting as the employer. The circumstances under which a conspiracy was hatched to damage the transportation service of the government and to interfere with the orderly shipment of the mails are beyond the realm of an ordinary labor dispute.

Those Mongol Horsemen

Dispatches from Tokyo, disclosing the arrival of two Chinese cavalry divisions on the front in Korea, describe these troops at some length and with considerable respect.

These units are thought to be Mongolian. They are 4,000 to 7,000 men each. They are further described thusly:

"Lightly armed, they are extremely mobile and capable of traversing the roughest terrain. Their Mongol ponies are accustomed to the extreme low temperatures and biting winds of the Mongolian plateau. They have extraordinary endurance and can operate on the barest minimum of food and water."

There is more. It is hardly necessary to go into detail about the camel trains that provide additional supplies when needed. To sum it up, these are descendants of the hard-bitten hordes that made Genghis Khan the scourge of Asia centuries ago. Their ancestors made conquering forays with bows and arrows, whereas they use rifles. Otherwise there is little to choose between them.

No doubt they are formidable foes. Yet they do not sound much more fearsome than the plains Indians who fought Americans in the last century. Their weapons may be better. They are probably better disciplined. But it is to be doubted that they are braver or more enduring than the wild warriors of the American West.

Those warriors were eventually beaten by the U. S. Cavalry, which had superior equipment and superior skill—and was as tough as they were. The point seems worth remembering just now.

Hiss Nearer Jail

The New York Circuit Court of Appeals has upheld the fairness and legality of the trial of Alger Hiss. The eminence of the judges who wrote the unanimous opinion leaves little doubt that the United States Supreme Court would rule likewise.

Hiss will almost certainly serve the prescribed term of his five-year sentence, technically for perjury, actually for betraying his government's trust in the interest of a foreign power.

This is the indicated outcome of one of the most avidly followed trials in American history, in which the defendant had the support of Supreme Court justices, secretaries of state, the governor of Illinois and —at least by inference—of the President of the United States.

The Hiss case undoubtedly contributed heavily to the decline of public confidence in the administration's Far Eastern policy.

The worst blunder of this policy, from which many of the nation's present troubles—and casualties—stem, was to give Russia concessions at China's expense, without the consent or even the knowledge of the Chinese Nationalist government.

Alger Hiss was a member of the State Department delegation that accompanied President Roosevelt to Yalta. Since he once was (and may still be) a Communist, people are naturally asking what influence he exercised on those fatal concessions.

International Controls

One of the many agreements reached by Prime Minister Attlee and President Truman has evoked little comment, although it is far-reaching and to put it into effect will not be a simple matter.

The two heads of state recognized "the necessity of international action to assure that basic raw materials are distributed equitably in accordance with defense and essential civilian needs." A number of steps are necessary, however, before this can be done.

The nations of the North Atlantic Security Pact must agree on export controls so that raw materials needed in their mutual defense program will not be sold indiscriminately. Each participating nation must set up production controls so these materials will not be wasted on non-essentials.

Thus free international trade cannot go forward even on the limited scale of the postwar period. The free play of economic forces, which is normally desirable as the best means of regulating demand and supply, will be discarded. Competition for raw materials, between nations, will be controlled as will competition within a country where the need to rearm creates an inflationary situation.

Americans would prefer to avoid international economic controls, just as they would rather not have domestic controls. But the mistakes of those who aided in building up the Russian menace have created a dangerous situation, and their effects will be far-reaching.

Not Shorn Of All Power

Although obviously far-reaching in its effects, the Supreme Court's decision in the Blau case does not entirely destroy the government's power to wage war on Communists and Communist organizations in this country. Witnesses in criminal trials may refuse to answer questions about their Communist affiliations but only on the basis of possible self-incrimination.

There is nothing in the ruling of the court to comfort others who have been claiming that their civil rights were invaded when they were asked if they were or had been members of the Communist Party.

The Fifth Amendment to the Constitution, which the court now upholds again, refers only to criminal cases. It makes no reference to investigations by congressional committees. It may be assumed, therefore, that the courts still have the authority to punish those persons — like the Hollywood screen writers — who made free speech the issue in their refusal to testify on certain points before duly constituted committees of Congress.

That the decision of the court will make it more difficult for the government to obtain convictions in some Communist cases is apparent. That it will weaken, if not invalidate, sections of the new McCarran Communist Control Law is likewise a possibility. Congress may be compelled to forge different weapons to protect the nation against the enemies within its borders.

If "Better late than never" had not been coined before, it certainly would have been invented for the automobile age.

A dietitician says spinach is not an essential food. Many lay experts are convinced it is not a food, period.

The Effect Of Vibrating Tools

MODERN INDUSTRY has many hazards but accidents are kept to a minimum among skilled workers. When a national emergency exists, however thousands of untrained men and women are subjected to unfamiliar surroundings and complicated machinery. This condition produces a sharp rise in industrial disabilities.

Rosie, the riveter, has trouble as well as individuals who use other types of vibrating tools such as electric or air driven hammers, chisels, drills, polishers, and lathing machines. Vibrating tools have been utilized for more than a hundred years yet only in the last two decades have we learned that some individuals cannot use them. This is especially true since the speed of the tools has been stepped up to unbelievable levels. Women seem to suffer more than men and although the effects are not permanent they are liable to be so disabling that it often is necessary for the girls to seek employment in other lines.

Rapid vibrations disturb the blood vessels, joints, and nerves, depending upon the speed of the machines. The use of devices with a rate of 1,000 cycles per minute or less leads to arthritic manifestation. Apparently the low vibrations stir up the bones, joints, and muscles, particularly of the hand and wrist and sometimes of the elbow of the arm that holds the tool. At any rate the tissues become painful, stiff, and thickened. It may become so difficult to move the fingers, hand, and wrist on the involved side that work is impossible. In many instances, distress is present only when the machine is being used. A few are bothered even at rest. If the individual continues to work, the muscles of the arm gradually become weaker and sooner or later an annoying tremor appears. Meanwhile, aching increases as arthritis becomes more definitely established. The solution lies in detecting the cause early and changing occupations.

The blood vessels appear to be damaged when the number of vibrations jumps to 3,000 per minute. As a result, they are more sensitive to cold. As a rule, the only area involved is that which comes into contact with the vibrating tool, and the trigger finger suffers most. It blanches and becomes numb on exposure to cold or when the hand is held above the head. More severe injury leads to aching over the affected areas that often is described as worse than a toothache. Vibrations of 5,000 revolutions or more per minute influence the nerves and the extremity becomes painful, weak, and occasionally so overly sensitive that even the prick of a pin is agonizing. Numbness and tingling also occur.

To the best of our knowledge, the vibrations are implicated in this type of disturbance. Apparently the body is not accustomed to being shaken up by a pneumatic drill or hammer. Each vibration represents a blow to the hand or arm and, even tho it is slight, when the sessions are repeated hour after hour they are likely to leave their mark. A somewhat similar syndrome has been noted among typists, concert pianists, telegraphers, switchboard operators, and handball coaches. It may be that in the future a tolerance to these recent innovations will be developed but at the present time the medical profession has little to offer except to advise the victim to seek a different type of occupation.

PSEUDO ANGINA

K. C. writes: Is false angina an imaginary ailment in a person with a rheumatic heart?

REPLY

Chest pain is never imaginary and there are many causes. When it is not caused by coronary heart disease, it is often referred to as "false angina." This type of anginal pain may be caused by rheumatic heart or by the natural anxiety associated with the knowledge that the pumping apparatus has been damaged.

SECOND THOUGHTS ON THE ADVANTAGES OF REMAINING NEUTRAL

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

Says DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — It looks as if the cost of certain key food items isn't going to be controlled very soon, after all.

Price Administrator Mike Di Salle whom came to Washington prepared to do a job for the housewife got a rude shock when he read the price-control law thoroughly. For the farm lobby had neatly inserted certain exceptions to price control, and one of them is grain. In brief Di Salle has no power whatsoever to control the price of grain or any food made from grain.

So Di Salle will have to go back to Congress in January and get the law rewritten.

Aside from this the new price czar has decided that he will not try to control a whole variety of prices, but will stick briefly to a few cost-of-living items plus basic metals and war production raw materials.

NOTE—Di Salle arrived in Washington from Toledo, Ohio, to find he had no telephone, no staff, and no full legal power to stop price rises. All he had was a heap of angry letters from housewives. At first he was tempted to buy a return ticket to Toledo, but he has been getting to work at 6 a. m., going to bed after midnight, and is gradually working order out of chaos.

Russian War Plans

Outguessing the Kremlin is extremely difficult these days, but here is how American experts, trained to do this job, size up the immediate war future.

No. 1. Soviet strategy will probably be to grab off weak and isolated nations one-by-one.

No. 2. Will be to lure the United States into committing men and resources in a big war in Asia. In this case Russia would throw enough armament into the battle to aid local Communists to hold down American strength.

No. 3. While we were tied up in Asia, Russian aries would drive across Western Europe. The latter move is not expected this year, however. The Kremlin wants to entrap us in other areas first.

A summary of Soviet war strategy can be paraphrased as follows: "Russian policy is to expand its borders as far as the indifference or timidity of its neighbors allow, and to hold or draw back when met by determined resistance, and wait for a new chance to spring at its victims."

Next probable Soviet victim will be French Indo-China, already torn with Communist revolt. Siam, Burma and Malaya would probably follow.

Another weak spot which may fall to Russia without a battle is Iran. Already, Soviet pressure has caused Iran to ban rebroadcasts of the Voice of America and the British Broadcasting company on local radio stations. Meanwhile, a secret Russian station has been calling Kurd tribes to revolt.

Truman And MacArthur

President Truman came into a Cabinet meeting some time ago carrying a copy of the New Republic, the liberal weekly magazine.

During the Cabinet session, Secretary of Defense Marshall complained about the difficulty of getting cooperation from General MacArthur. He indicated that MacArthur was a law unto himself. Truman listened, finally help up a copy of the New Republic.

"This is the way to handle that bird," he said.

Cabinet members, after the meeting, immediately sent for copies of the magazine. It contained an article by former Secretary of the Interior Harold Ickes criticizing MacArthur for violating directives from Washington.

Happy Chandler's Tears

Senate colleagues always knew Baseball Commissioner A. B. (Happy) Chandler as one of the happiest men in Congress when he served as Senator from Kentucky. But his smile turned to tears at his annual banquet for major league club owners in Tampa.

Happy had just been informed by his guests that his $65,000-a-year contract would not be renewed.

No one was expected to show up for the banquet that followed, but Chandler went through with it nontheless. News reports that the party "proceeded without a hitch" were wrong. It started at 8 p. m.—two hours late. All but New York Giants' Horace Stoneham and St. Louis Cards' Fred Saigh came. Saigh is reported to be the big gun behind Chandler's outster.

The unhappy host refused to take his customary seat at the head table but sat by himself with his back to his guests. Several times he was forced to leave the room to wipe his eyes.

Chandler, sitting alone, said he was sitting where he felt he belonged. Once he sent out for a box of cigars and presented them to Joe Cronin of Boston as an ironic gift for Cronin's anti-Chandler vote.

The atmosphere was tense and electrifying. Hardly anyone dared speak to other guests. Branch Rickey of the Pittsburgh Pirates, Cincinnati Reds' Warren Giles and Bill Wrigley of the Chicago Cubs carried on whispered conversations.

Ford Frick, president of the National League, during the banquet whispered to William Harridge, president of the American League:

"What an unusual feeling. It's ghostlike."

"Not one man here is enjoying his food," Harridge whispered back. "Mine is stuck right here." He pointed to his throat.

As the club owners departed after the banquet, Chandler shook hands with them. His smile was forced. Each wished him well—perhaps in his next job.

Austin Bows

Philosophical ex-Senator Warren Austin of Vermont, now U. S. Ambassador to the United Nations, was sitting in the delegates' lounge at Lake Success the other days, when visitors asked him how he felt in view of the dangerous days ahead.

"We have a lot to go through," Austin replied. "And maybe we will have to bow our heads a bit. It reminds me of a line of Cotton Mather's. He and Ben Franklin were good friends—though in their ideas they were as far apart as the poles.

"Well," continued Ambassador Austin, "once the two were passing through a passage somewhere — a low-beamed place. Franklin bumped his head on a beam. Mather turned around and said to him, 'Franklin, if you will learn to lower your head when necessary, you will spare yourself many a bump.'"

Austin told the anecdote as a symbol of what he thinks may be the necessary policy of the United States today.

MATTER OF FACT

By JOSEPH And STEWART ALSOP

The Need For Allies

WASHINGTON

A NEW, extreme isolationism is being born of the defeatism that now horribly pervades this confused city. No leading figure has as yet dared to give public voice to this important trend. But all over Washington, in the lobbies of the Senate and House, among the more tremulous policy-makers, and even in the recesses of the military staff the same subterranean muttering is going on.

Our Allies cannot be depended on. We have not the power to carry the burden of world leadership alone. We must "contract our commitments" (the new catchword). We must abandon first Asia and then Europe to their fate. We must retire into our own hemisphere, which we can defend. So goes the story. It makes even Senator Robert A. Taft, who at least proposed a Monroe Doctrine for Europe, look like a rabid one-world man.

The simplest way to see the poisonous falsehood of this reasoning, is to have a look at the effect on the value of our only major military asset, the stockpile of atomic weapons. To put the cart of conclusion before the horse of proof, the atomic stockpile which is our only security will lose almost its whole value, if the above-outlined program is blundered into or adopted.

The causes are plain enough. In the first place, plutonium and even hydrogen bombs, no matter how numerous they may be, or how great their destructive power may be, have no value whatever locked up in a cave in Kentucky. They must be delivered to their destined targets, or at least they must be possible to deliver, in order to fulfill their purpose. As of today and for a long time to come, the value of our atomic stockpile must therefore be measured by the capabilities of our strategic air arm.

Soviet Defenses Improved

The strategic air arm is presently composed of 14 groups, of which four are B-36 groups designed to strike targets in the Soviet Union from bases in this hemisphere, and ten are "medium-range" groups equipped with B-29's B-50s and B-47s. Improvements in Soviet air defenses in recent months have considerably depreciated the worth of the B-36 groups, since so many other characteristics had to be sacrificed to build great range into this airplane. Hence the "medium-range" groups, which are all to be equipped eventually with the admirable B-47, must be regarded as vitally important.

The worth of these medium-range groups in turn obviously depends upon the availability of bases for them. By the tricky method of refueling in the air, they can in theory reach targets in the Soviet Union from airfields on this side of the Atlantic. But in practice, even the enthusiasts frankly admit that the efficiency of the strategic air arm will be hopelessly impaired, if there medium range groups, which now comprise over two-thirds of the total force, are denied bases overseas.

At the moment, the necessary overseas bases are available and ready. They comprise the large airfield complex that has been built up in Eastern England; another important complex in the British-controlled North African region of Cyrenaica; a vital, very advanced base on the British-controlled island of Syprus; bases now abuilding in French North Africa; and airfields used by us as "transport bases" in Tripoli and at Dahran in Arabia. A glance at this list reveals what is now rapidly becoming almost the central fact in the strategic situation of the United States.

Allies Control Bases

We may control the atomic stockpile, but our Allies, and particularly Great Britain, control most of the bases we need to give the atomic stockpile any value.

There are a thousand other reasons of course why the program of abandoning our Allies to their fate and withdrawing to our hemisphere is a quick way to national suicide. Some of them will be examined in a subsequent report. Meanwhile, the significance of the situation outlined above ought to be faced by every American. We have gone on smugly for five years, supposing the atomic bomb was ours to use or not to use, as we alone saw fit. We have gone on smugly for five years, neglecting our own defense and the defense of the free world, relying for security on this magical weapon.

But we have been wrong. When Prime Minister Attlee told Parliament the other day that he was sure we would not use our bombs without consulting the British government, his promise was doubly guaranteed by the facts of geography and the ranges of our airplanes. If now, in the hour of peril, we abandon our Allies, we cannot hope that they will not abandon us. And thus, those American leaders who are secretly advocating this course today, and will no doubt publicly advocate it tomorrow, are in truth proposing that the United States freeze its only military asset, the atomic stockpile, which is also, at the moment, the only defense of the free world.

Question Of Punishment In Rail Strike Discussed

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Dec. 18—Do the persons who defied the authority of the Government of the United States and stopped train service in many strategic places last week, causing an enormous property damage, now go scot free?

If a young man refuses to accept a darft call he is punished, if a soldier refuses to obey an order he is disciplined, and if anyone puts an impediment on the tracks of a railroad and causes the trains to halt he can be jailed under the laws governing interruptions to interstate commerce.

But what of the individuals who reported "sick" and tied up the railroads in several cities even though the same trains were being operated as a part of the United States Army? Will those who engaged in a conspiracy to interrupt train service escape any punishment? Who wil reimburse the citizens for millions lost by the rail tie-up and interrupted delivery of mail?

Not Ordinary Dispute

Usually where there are labor disputes and a refusal to operate facilities, infractions are waived when a settlement is made. Normally as a condition of settlement the employer is coerced into dropping lawsuits. But this time it was the Government of the United States which was acting as the employer. The circumstances under which a conspiracy was hatched to damage the transportation service of the government and to interfere with the orderly shipment of the mails are beyond the realm of an ordinary labor dispute.

Nor does the episode come under the right to strike or the right to refuse to work. Individuals have a right to stay off the job. That's an individual act which is covered by the involuntary servitude provision of the Constitution. But the moment there is action in concert, a conspiracy emerges which isn't protected by the Constitution. Two or more persons who persuade others to refrain from work can, under certain circumstances, be adjudged guilty of a conspiracy. Where, moreover, the conspiracy tends to violate the laws of the United States or to obstruct the operations or functioning of the government itself, there is ground for prosecution.

The test is here. Will the Department of Justice as the law enforcement agency of the government carry on a thorough investigation and ask for the indictment of the guilty parties?

There is much talk about ridding the country of those engaged in subversive activities. There is talk about refusing to appease when there is a problem of justice and wrongdoing involved. The administration has at times appeased union labor and so has Congress on the theory that the votes of the unions must not be alienated. But appeasement doesn't pay in any instance where a fundamental principle is concerned.

Justice Department Criticized

The issue as to whether a union is responsible for wildcat or "unauthorized" strikes is before the courts now as a sonsequence of the failure of the coal miners' union last year to obey a court order. The Department of Justice at that time was severely criticized for its laxity in gathering evidence but it remains to be seen whether the courts will agree or disagree in the final analysis with the Department's case as it was presented.

The present situation, however, is far different from that created by recalcitrant coal miners. Here the conspiracy to obstruct came from individuals who were working for the United States Army. They all reported "sick." Evidence can certainly be gathered as to whether any physicians were actually consulted in any cases and what testimony such physicians will give where several hundred switchmen were involved. Will the switchmen under oath swear that they were "sick"? Plainly any refusal to continue at work raises the issue of whether seniority rights have been forfeited. Are the switchmen who returned to work now employes? It may turn out that the switchmen were innocent victims of a conspiracy engineered by persons higher up. Will the Department of Justice follow through and get at the guilty persons or will principle be abused once more and the country be given additional proof of the deterioration of government in Washington?

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

Total Mobilization

VERY late the government has been forced to recognize that it is engaged in a war and that the nation needs to be mobilized for its defense. This should have been done on August 15, 1945, when our present troubles were already apparent. Instead, on that date, this country threw its strength to the winds and engaged in a round of palavers and of buying friendships which has wasted our heritage.

Invaluable equipment was dumped, sold and permitted to be stolen, as in the Philippines, and now we have to start all over again. The appointment of Charles E. Wilson of General Electric to the responsibility of the management of supply is an acknowledgment that more than paper planning is needed. Wilson is tough and will hold the economic line with hardihood, depending, of course, on how much effective authority is delegated to him. If he is in reality subordinated to the White House economists, his office will be decorative. No man can do a good job if his boss is everlastingly changing his mind about policy.

The mobilization of manpower and of production is, however, insufficient. That alone will not win.

It is necessary also to reexamine the policies of this nation which brought us our present discredit and to remove from public office the bunglers. The dismissal of Dean Acheson is essential. As long as he remains, most Americans will have no confidence in the conduct of our foreign relations. In no other country could a public servant survive Mr. Acheson's just unpopularity.

In a manner, Dean Acheson has become a symbol of the men of Yalta—those officials who participated in the arrangements for our defeat by Soviet Russia. It is unsound to question their loyalty; it is not unsound to impugn their judgment. Men who over so long a period have always been grievously wrong have no place in the national leadership. They should go and forthwith. Their presence in the government imperils the morale of the people.

Not only should Dean Acheson go, but Philip Jessup and Dean Rusk and any other architects of our misfortunes as are involved in this need for the deposit of policy in hands that are trusted. As long as they remain in the State Department, no pleas for unity, no matter by whom uttered, will have public support.

And we need to mobilize our friends and allies. We now know that money does not buy friends or allies. When they no longer need your money, they dislike you as a creditor. Machiavelli said what I have in mind so much better than I can:

"... in general of men ... they are ungrateful, fickle, false, cowards, covetous, and as long as you succeed they are yours entirely; they will offer you their blood, property, life, and children ... when the need is far distant; but when it approaches they turn against you. And that prince who, relying entirely on their promises, has neglected other precautions, is ruined; because friendships that are obtained by payments, and not by greatness or nobility of mind, may indeed be earned, but they are not secured, and in time of need cannot be relied upon. . ."

Precisely that has happened to us. Joseph P. Kennedy, in his recent speech, emphasized the fact that we hardly have a real ally in the world and he suggested that we get out of Europe and Asia and devote ourselves to our Latin American neighbors. It was too angry and limited a plan, but was nevertheless an inevitable response to the challenge of our isolation. Certainly, those who once called such as Joe Kennedy, isolationists, now witness the spectacle of the United States as a country perforce isolated by her erstwhile allies to whose support she had twice come in war. They pled for aid and we gave it and now they flirt with our enemies.

But it is not good enough to admit such a failure of our policy. This country needs at this moment a Disraeli, a Talleyrand, to reverse its policy and to move back to the authority in the world to which our strength entitles us. Such a person is not in sight; yet he must exist among us who have been so rich in talent everywhere but in government.

Christmas Is Held At St. Patrick's

Christmas celebration is being held at St. Patrick School this week.

A Christmas dinner is being served in the cafeteria today. This afternoon at 2 o'clock the pupils of the Fifth Grade will enact, "Toy Shop Mix-Up;" the sixth grade, "The Happiest Christmas;" the seventh grade is portraying, "The Spirit of Christmas;" and the eighth grade, "A Christmas Story."

Tomorrow the Mothers Club is entertaining the grade and high school pupils as well as pre-school children of members at the annual Christmas party at 1 o'clock in the Social Center.

Thursday the ninth grade will present "Bethlehem" by Lawrence Housman. Solo selections are being sung by Joan Carpenti, Constance Fearnow, Jane Hannon and Catherine Reissig.

Christmas gifts are to be distributed by Rev. J. Lawrence Kilkenny.

The elementary school furnished the entertainment for the opening celebration yesterday. Rev. Kilkenny, was guest of honor. Music was played by the high school orchestra, including violins, Margaret Blake, Patricia Andrews, Joan Carpenti, Angela Dougherty, Denise Sheehe, Carol Shuck; clarinet, Janet Stegmaier; trumpets, Joanne Farrell, Jane Hannon; xylophone, Frances Martin, Mary Joe Rowan, drums, Carmella Idoni and cello, Kathleen Noone.

School To Give Program

A Christmas program of tableaux and choral singing will be presented by pupils of West Side School at 8 o'clock tomorow evening at the school.

Narrators will be Carole Isiminger and Marilyn Hevel, sixth grade pupils. Mrs. Margaret Carroll is director assisted by the faculty.

Ursuline Glee Club To Present Yule Program

The Ursuline Academy Glee Club, under the direction of Sister Mary Cecelia, will present a Christmas program over WTBO at 10:30 tomorrow. There are 52 members of the club.

Selections to be sung are "Somewhere a Child Is Singing," "Sleep Holy Babe," Ravanello's "Ave Maria," Brahms, "Cradle Song," "Calm on the Listening Ear of the Night," and conclude with "Silent Night."

Mrs. Clarence Owens, of 112 Pennsylvania Avenue, this city, is recuperating from an operation at Memorial Hospital at her home.

Greta Mae Hicks Becomes Bride Of Paul H. Couter

Rev. Donald Brake Performs Ceremony

Miss Greta Mae Hicks, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Grant Hicks, 312 South Street, became the bride of Paul Howard Couter, son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Edwin Couter, 1004 Kentucky Avenue, December 16.

The wedding ceremony was solemnized at 7:30 in the parsonage of St. John's Lutheran Church with Rev. Donald F. Brake officiating.

Mr. and Mrs. Norwood Zegles were the couple's attendants.

The bride was attired in an aqua blue Weathervane suit, with which she wore black accessories and a corsage of red rosebuds. Her matron of honor wore a brown crepe dress with brown accessories. She had a corsage of yellow roses to complete her costume.

The bride is a graduate of Fort Hill High School, class of 1950, and is employed by the Cumberland Cloak and Suit Company.

The bridegroom attended Fort Hill High School and is employed by Weber's Grocery Store.

A wedding reception was held at Shaw's Cafe, Oldtown Road. A tiered wedding cake adorned with a miniature bride and bridegroom centered the refreshment table.

After a short wedding trip Mr. Couter and his bride will reside at the home of his parents.

Rendezvous Club Plans Dance Dec. 29

Two officers were elected and plans formulated for a post-Christmas dance at the regular meeting of the Rendezvous Teenage Club, Cresaptown in the community fire hall.

Curtis Haines was elected and installed president; and Jacqueline Breedlove, vice president.

The dance is to be held December 29 with music by Buddy Patterson's Orchestra. William Anderson was named chairman of decorations and Wanda Mick, publicity.

Invitations were sent to parents of the members, inviting them to serve as chaperones. Charlotte Robertson is chairman of this.

Announcement was made that Cecil Welch, past president, is employed in Baltimore; and John Holler, past vice president, is serving with the Navy at Great Lakes, Ill.

4-H Leaders Have Yule Decoration Meeting

The 4-H Leaders had a training meeting on Christmas decorations, Saturday morning in the court house. Miss Thelma J. Allin, assistant home demonstration agent conducted the course assisted by Mary Stamp of the Pleasant Valley 4-H Club.

Wreaths were made of laurel, hemlock and pine; there also was a demonstration in making door decorations and centerpieces and a garland for draping the mantel.

Leaflets on how to make decorations were distributed to the girls to take back to their individual clubs.

An executive board meeting of the 4-H Trail has tentatively been set for January 6.

Pupils Give Program For Association

SS. Peter and Paul Parent-Teacher Association had a Christmas program by the pupils of the school instead of the regular business session, Sunday.

The association is to have a business meeting January 21 at 3 p. m., and a covered dish supper January 28. Mrs. Helen Keifer is chairman. Class mothers will be her committee.

Playlets, recitations and songs featured the program, opened with a playlet, "Callahan's Christmas," by third and fourth graders.

Other plays were "Frolic in a Toy Shop," by the first grade; "Jacob's Reward, third grade; Dicken's Christmas Carol, sixth grade; and "Coming of the Redeemer," seventh grade.

A choral reading, "Signs of Christmas" was given by the second grade; the fourth grade sang, "Merry Christmas-Acrostic;" the fifth recited, "In Bethlehem Town;" in conclusion the eighth grade boys sang and whistled, "Come All Ye Faithful," and "Jingle Bells;" and the eighth grade girls presented a Christmas pageant.

After the program pupils went to their respective class rooms, where Santa, impersonated by Mrs. Frank Simpson, visited them and distributed a treat, sponsored by Father Louis, O.F.M.Cap., pastor.

Christmas Is Held At St. Patrick's

Christmas celebration is being held at St. Patrick School this week.

A Christmas dinner is being served in the cafeteria today. This afternoon at 2 o'clock the pupils of the Fifth Grade will enact, "Toy Shop Mix-Up;" the sixth grade, "The Happiest Christmas;" the seventh grade is portraying, "The Spirit of Christmas;" and the eighth grade, "A Christmas Story."

Tomorrow the Mothers Club is entertaining the grade and high school pupils as well as pre-school children of members at the annual Christmas party at 1 o'clock in the Social Center.

Thursday the ninth grade will present "Bethlehem" by Lawrence Housman. Solo selections are being sung by Joan Carpenti, Constance Fearnow, Jane Hannon and Catherine Reissig.

Christmas gifts are to be distributed by Rev. J. Lawrence Kilkenny.

The elementary school furnished the entertainment for the opening celebration yesterday. Rev. Kilkenny, was guest of honor. Music was played by the high school orchestra, including violins, Margaret Blake, Patricia Andrews, Joan Carpenti, Angela Dougherty, Denise Sheehe, Carol Shuck; clarinet, Janet Stegmaier; trumpets, Joanne Farrell, Jane Hannon; xylophone, Frances Martin, Mary Joe Rowan, drums, Carmella Idoni and cello, Kathleen Noone.

School To Give Program

A Christmas program of tableaux and choral singing will be presented by pupils of West Side School at 8 o'clock tomorow evening at the school.

Narrators will be Carole Isiminger and Marilyn Hevel, sixth grade pupils. Mrs. Margaret Carroll is director assisted by the faculty.

Ursuline Glee Club To Present Yule Program

The Ursuline Academy Glee Club, under the direction of Sister Mary Cecelia, will present a Christmas program over WTBO at 10:30 tomorrow. There are 52 members of the club.

Selections to be sung are "Somewhere a Child Is Singing," "Sleep Holy Babe," Ravanello's "Ave Maria," Brahms, "Cradle Song," "Calm on the Listening Ear of the Night," and conclude with "Silent Night."

Mrs. Clarence Owens, of 112 Pennsylvania Avenue, this city, is recuperating from an operation at Memorial Hospital at her home.

Greta Mae Hicks Becomes Bride Of Paul H. Couter

Rev. Donald Brake Performs Ceremony

Miss Greta Mae Hicks, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Grant Hicks, 312 South Street, became the bride of Paul Howard Couter, son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Edwin Couter, 1004 Kentucky Avenue, December 16.

The wedding ceremony was solemnized at 7:30 in the parsonage of St. John's Lutheran Church with Rev. Donald F. Brake officiating.

Mr. and Mrs. Norwood Zegles were the couple's attendants.

The bride was attired in an aqua blue Weathervane suit, with which she wore black accessories and a corsage of red rosebuds. Her matron of honor wore a brown crepe dress with brown accessories. She had a corsage of yellow roses to complete her costume.

The bride is a graduate of Fort Hill High School, class of 1950, and is employed by the Cumberland Cloak and Suit Company.

The bridegroom attended Fort Hill High School and is employed by Weber's Grocery Store.

A wedding reception was held at Shaw's Cafe, Oldtown Road. A tiered wedding cake adorned with a miniature bride and bridegroom centered the refreshment table.

After a short wedding trip Mr. Couter and his bride will reside at the home of his parents.

Rendezvous Club Plans Dance Dec. 29

Two officers were elected and plans formulated for a post-Christmas dance at the regular meeting of the Rendezvous Teenage Club, Cresaptown in the community fire hall.

Curtis Haines was elected and installed president; and Jacqueline Breedlove, vice president.

The dance is to be held December 29 with music by Buddy Patterson's Orchestra. William Anderson was named chairman of decorations and Wanda Mick, publicity.

Invitations were sent to parents of the members, inviting them to serve as chaperones. Charlotte Robertson is chairman of this.

Announcement was made that Cecil Welch, past president, is employed in Baltimore; and John Holler, past vice president, is serving with the Navy at Great Lakes, Ill.

4-H Leaders Have Yule Decoration Meeting

The 4-H Leaders had a training meeting on Christmas decorations, Saturday morning in the court house. Miss Thelma J. Allin, assistant home demonstration agent conducted the course assisted by Mary Stamp of the Pleasant Valley 4-H Club.

Wreaths were made of laurel, hemlock and pine; there also was a demonstration in making door decorations and centerpieces and a garland for draping the mantel.

Leaflets on how to make decorations were distributed to the girls to take back to their individual clubs.

An executive board meeting of the 4-H Trail has tentatively been set for January 6.

Pupils Give Program For Association

SS. Peter and Paul Parent-Teacher Association had a Christmas program by the pupils of the school instead of the regular business session, Sunday.

The association is to have a business meeting January 21 at 3 p. m., and a covered dish supper January 28. Mrs. Helen Keifer is chairman. Class mothers will be her committee.

Playlets, recitations and songs featured the program, opened with a playlet, "Callahan's Christmas," by third and fourth graders.

Other plays were "Frolic in a Toy Shop," by the first grade; "Jacob's Reward, third grade; Dicken's Christmas Carol, sixth grade; and "Coming of the Redeemer," seventh grade.

A choral reading, "Signs of Christmas" was given by the second grade; the fourth grade sang, "Merry Christmas-Acrostic;" the fifth recited, "In Bethlehem Town;" in conclusion the eighth grade boys sang and whistled, "Come All Ye Faithful," and "Jingle Bells;" and the eighth grade girls presented a Christmas pageant.

After the program pupils went to their respective class rooms, where Santa, impersonated by Mrs. Frank Simpson, visited them and distributed a treat, sponsored by Father Louis, O.F.M.Cap., pastor.

Personals

Mrs. Thomas Brown, Jr., Richmond, Va., arrived yesterday to spend the holidays with her niece, Mrs. Gordon Lee Bowie, Washington Street.

Miss Carolyn W. Bowie, student of Stephens College, Columbia, Mo., is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. R. Bowie, 723 Washington Street.

Miss Carlyn Ringler, 651 Baker Street, had as her guest for the past weekend, Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Jandorf and daughter, Marilyn, Forest Hills, N. Y., and Charles Slick, Smithburg.

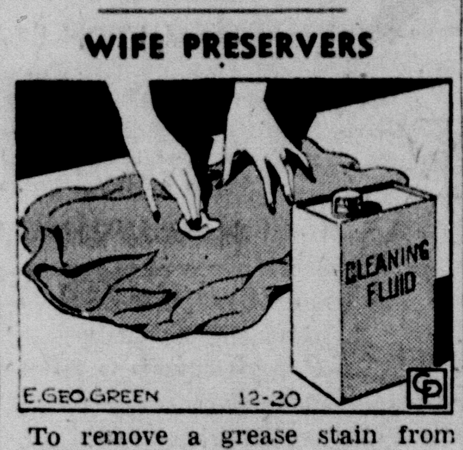
Social Chart

Junior and Intermediate RA Boys of First Baptist Church will meet at 7:30 tonight at the church.

Wahaba Temple DOKK will meet meet at 8 tonight at the temple.

Mahogany trees often grow to 150 feet in height and range from three to seven feet in diameter.

WIFE PRESERVERS



To remove a grease stain from a rayon dress or blouse, first wipe off as much of the grease as possible; then, if the fabric is washable, wipe the spots with cleaning fluid and wash in warm, soapy water.

Mizpah Class Makes Yule Donation

The Mizpah Class of First Baptist Church held a business session and Christmas party Friday evening at the home of Mrs. Carl Godwin, Columbia Street.

Mrs. Henry Humphrey presided and the group decided to donate money for baskets for needy families. Cards and gifts were sent to the sick and shutins.

Mrs. Ruth Shaner and Mrs. Marie Wentling were named in charge of the nursery January 14.

Devotionals were directed by Mrs. Dora Mortzfelt. Opening prayer was offered by Mrs. Beatrice Sheely and Scripture was read and a Bible quiz conducted by Mrs. Mortzfelt. Closing prayer was offered by Mrs. Afton Linger.

Gifts were presented to Mrs. Victor Athey, class teacher; and Mrs. Linger, wife of the pastor. Secret sisters were revealed and new ones selected. Gifts were exchanged also, after which refreshments were served by Mrs. Godwin and Mrs. Elizabeth McCullough, co-hostess. The Christmas theme was carried out in the decorations.

Others present were Mrs. Ruth Blacklin, Mrs. Mabel Matlick, Mrs. Sarah Wilson, Mrs. Josephine Shanski, Mrs. Edith Bobo, Miss Marie Williams, Mrs. Lucy Clark.

The next meeting will be at the home of Miss Williams, 518 Columbia Avenue.

Outdoor Club To Entertain

Cumberland Outdoor Club will entertain with a Christmas kiddie party December 24. It is to be held in the club rooms on the second floor of 170 Baltimore Street, beginning at 1 o'clock.

Members' children ten years old and under will be entertained. Moving pictures are to be shown, gifts distributed and refreshments served.

The committee in charge of arrangements consists of George Hixenbaugh, Van Johnson, Howard Kuhns, Wilbur Combs, Ray Long, Thomas Reinhart, Roy Durrett, Lee Fuller and George Keifer.

Hadassah Will Hold Business Men's Luncheon

Cumberland Chapter of Hadassah will sponsor a Business Men's Luncheon December 21. It is being held in B'er Chayim vestry room with lunch being served from 11 until 2 o'clock.

Mrs. Frank Kaplon is chairman of the luncheon.

The January meeting is to be held the 10th instead of the 8th at which time a brief business session will be held followed by the Jewish National Appeal card party.

Barbizon "QUEENSLY"

Any Queen of romantic days would adore the flattery of this perfectly fitting gown. Skillfully fashioned in rayon crepe with nicely fitted midriff, softly gathered bodice patterned with tiny blue embroidery. The same blue edges the neckline. In Petal Pink or White. Sizes 12 to 20; also those hard-to-find sizes 38 to 42.

5.98

Barbizon "EXTOLL" NYLON

Barbizon's straight cut slip ... never squirms up. Your dresses truly look lovelier over this Barbizon ... because there's no wrinkling at the waist or tell-tale slipping at the hem in your exactly-fitting "Body-Contour" slip size. 100% nylon ... even to the lace ... so, of course, it will last for ages! Petal. White.

5.98

Barbizon "LAZY MARY"

What? Pajamas with tops tailored like blouses and bottoms like slacks! Must cost plenty, you say? No, not when they're tailored by Barbizon! Yes, the very same Barbizon that makes those wonderful slips you love makes these man-tailored dandies. Slimming lines, of course, are strictly feminine. Waistband adjusts. Barbizon-woven rayon crepe in Petal, Bachelor Blue, White. Sizes 10 to 20.

King Will Play Santa To Bonnie Prince Charlie

SANDRINGHAM, Eng.—(INS)—King George VI of England will play "Santa Claus" to his grandson, Bonnie Prince Charlie, before making his traditional Christmas Day broadcast to the empire from his Sandringham, Norfolk County estate.

His majesty plans to give Charles "a big surprise" when he goes for his gifts under the Christmas tree in Sandringham House by appearing briefly in red robes, black boots and long white beard.

This year's royal house party will be a big one—bedrooms are being prepared for more than 20 guests.

Queen Mary, the Duchess of Kent and her children and Princess Alice and the Earl of Athlone are all expected to join the King and Queen for the holidays. The court as a whole will move to Sandringham on the Thursday before Christmas.

Sandringham House is being decorated with holly and mistletoe and with the bright red flowers of the oriental Christmas tree which is cultivated in the estate hothouses. Princess Margaret is again personally supervising the decoration of the mammoth Christmas tree in the ballroom.

The informal family Christmas party has been a custom since the reign of Edward VII and the only time the royal family was not gathered at Sandringham was in 1948 when the King was stricken with circulatory trouble in his right leg.

Gifts are exchanged right after breakfast on Christmas morning instead of on Christmas Eve. They are never lavish but mostly small trinkets, books and prints. The King and Queen have already mailed over a thousand small, inexpensive gifts to personal friends and about 2,000 Christmas cards. Royal servants will this year receive the usual national savings certificates.

After morning service at the tiny Church of St. Mary Magdalene on the estate a Christmas dinner of roast beef, Norfolk turkey and all the trimmings and topped off by plum pudding in flaming brandy will be served in the mahogany-panelled dining hall.

There will be an opportunity for the King to slip off his shoes and have a short snooze before he broadcasts to Britain and the world from his study at 3 p. m. GMT.

Then comes a gala tea party complete with large iced fruit cake smothered in rich icing, favors and paper hats.

The evening will be spent cozily around the Yule log and in viewing a "double feature" film show in the ballroom. For those of the party who are still hungry there will be a cold buffet of "leftovers" available.

King George VI revels in his old-fashioned Christmas holiday which he stretches well into January. He likes nothing better than to change into tweeds and be just the popular country "squire" of Sandringham.

Accidents claimed three times as many lives of American children last year as did pneumonia.

COKE CROWD CORNER — SECOND FLOOR

Johnson Heights Plans Yule Play

The "Christmas Story" will be presented tonight by the children of Johnson Heights School with the school orchestra making its first appearance.

The first part is entitled "Preparation for Christmas." Fifth Grade students will present "Deck the Halls." "The Living Christmas Tree" will be presented by the Third and Fourth Grades. The cast will include candle lighters, caroleers and bell ringers.

Part two of the program will be entitled, "The First Christmas," with scenes depicting the hills near Bethlehem and the manger. Children of the Fourth, Fifth and Sixth Grades will take the part of shepherds, angels, Holy Family, wise men and narrators. Sixth Grade pupils will be members of the stage crew.

The Parent-Teacher Association has purchased a new curtain for the stage.

Swift Company 1950 Sales Increase

Sales of Swift & Company during the 1950 fiscal year ending October 28 increased slightly over those reported for the same period last year, the company's annual report to shareholders reveals. Net earnings declined.

Swift's sales totaled $2,214,819,268 compared to $2,213,160,242 for 1949. Net earnings from all company operations were $16,142,586 compared to $25,826,129 for last year. Tonnage of product handled increased during the past year, being about one per cent greater than 1949.

John Holmes, Swift president, pointed out in the report that net earnings averaged seven-tenths of a cent per dollar of sales. For meat operations alone, he explained, net profit averaged less than ¼ of a cent per pound of product handled, demonstrating that meat packing company profits have practically no effect on meat or livestock prices.

Eckhart Man Held For Grand Jury

Accused of stealing $30 from a woman, David Winebrenner, Eckhart, was ordered held under $1,000 bond Saturday in Trial Magistrates Court for action of the January grand jury.

State Trooper William F. Baker arrested him last Tuesday after Mrs. Lillian Myers, also of Eckhart, reported she was walking down Barn Hill there when she heard a voice say:

"Drop your pocketbook or I'll shoot you."

Mrs. Myers told authorities she turned and asked the intruder if she could just drop a small black change purse which contained about $30 in cash. Given permission, the culprit fled after picking it up.

Eckhart Soldier Is Wounded In Korea

Cpl. Joseph Lewis, 20, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Lewis, Eckhart, has been wounded in Korea.

His name was among nine Maryland casualties reported yesterday by the Department of Defense. Details of Cpl. Lewis' wounds suffered in action were not given.

A former student at Beall High School, Frostburg, he enlisted in the Army in August, 1948.

For your hours at home, don't wear "second bests," but the most becoming leisure clothes that you can find!

SECRETS OF CHARM

by. JOHN ROBERT POWERS

ONE OF THE easiest ways any woman can put a new flame of interest in the family fireside and add new sparkle to her personality is with inspired, interesting, at-home clothes.

Why so many women wear old clothes around the house, is beyond any man's comprehension. They bedeck themselves in their best to impress outsiders, yet they think anything left over from past years is good enough to wear at home. The question is, "Who's more important than the one man in your life and your own family?"

You can't blame those for whom you care most for thinking you're "old hat" if all they see you in usually is an old dinner dress, old-fashioned housedress or picnic slacks.

Light Up Your Personality

Now's the time to startle them into a new conception of you by using your imagination in your at-home fashions. You'll find enchanting new styles that reflect the trend in today's entertaining—gay, casual and practical.

Any man is sure to be impressed with one of the new versions of the brunch coat that are now designed for any number of occasions beside breakfast nook or boudoir moments. They are available in cotton flannelette, brushed rayon suede and quilted taffeta, as well as the staple woolens. You'll find them also in new fabric designs — loud, gay plaids, checks that are big or small and, for the very daring, leopard-stenciled chenille. How is that for at-home glamour?

Among the new hostess coats, there's a style that is becoming to any figure. It's the duster, so popular last summer as a coat favorite. Take special note of those with a small Peter Pan collar or a huge round Eton collar and big, self-covered buttons from neck to hem. Another favorite is the loose fitting, button-down-the front coat with wide cuffs and a voluminous pocket. If you're proud of your waist, wear it cinched in with a monstrous black patent belt.

At Ease — Charmingly

Those who can wear slacks with aplomb can gain new drama with fabrics such as washable satin, taffeta, jersey or lush-colored velveteen. Instead of conventional shirts, wear them with a smooth, scoop-neck and winged-sleeve blouse or an elegant, hip-length mandarin coat. Keep your slacks in a solid color and choose a bold print, plaid or check for your coat.

If you haven't time to shop for yourself before Christmas, make a necklace of very small Christmas tree ornaments to garnish the sweater you wear with your favorite trousers or skirt. Watch how it lights up your personality!

For your hours at home, don't wear "second bests," but the most becoming leisure clothes that you can find!

SECRETS OF CHARM

by. JOHN ROBERT POWERS

ONE OF THE easiest ways any woman can put a new flame of interest in the family fireside and add new sparkle to her personality is with inspired, interesting, at-home clothes.

Why so many women wear old clothes around the house, is beyond any man's comprehension. They bedeck themselves in their best to impress outsiders, yet they think anything left over from past years is good enough to wear at home. The question is, "Who's more important than the one man in your life and your own family?"

You can't blame those for whom you care most for thinking you're "old hat" if all they see you in usually is an old dinner dress, old-fashioned housedress or picnic slacks.

Light Up Your Personality

Now's the time to startle them into a new conception of you by using your imagination in your at-home fashions. You'll find enchanting new styles that reflect the trend in today's entertaining—gay, casual and practical.

Any man is sure to be impressed with one of the new versions of the brunch coat that are now designed for any number of occasions beside breakfast nook or boudoir moments. They are available in cotton flannelette, brushed rayon suede and quilted taffeta, as well as the staple woolens. You'll find them also in new fabric designs — loud, gay plaids, checks that are big or small and, for the very daring, leopard-stenciled chenille. How is that for at-home glamour?

Among the new hostess coats, there's a style that is becoming to any figure. It's the duster, so popular last summer as a coat favorite. Take special note of those with a small Peter Pan collar or a huge round Eton collar and big, self-covered buttons from neck to hem. Another favorite is the loose fitting, button-down-the front coat with wide cuffs and a voluminous pocket. If you're proud of your waist, wear it cinched in with a monstrous black patent belt.

At Ease — Charmingly

Those who can wear slacks with aplomb can gain new drama with fabrics such as washable satin, taffeta, jersey or lush-colored velveteen. Instead of conventional shirts, wear them with a smooth, scoop-neck and winged-sleeve blouse or an elegant, hip-length mandarin coat. Keep your slacks in a solid color and choose a bold print, plaid or check for your coat.

If you haven't time to shop for yourself before Christmas, make a necklace of very small Christmas tree ornaments to garnish the sweater you wear with your favorite trousers or skirt. Watch how it lights up your personality!

Meeting Is Planned Tomorrow To Discuss U. S. Contract Bids

Machine and metal work plant owners will meet here Friday night to determine a course of action to obtain government contracts, it was announced yesterday.

Harold W. Smith, manager of the Chamber of Commerce, said firm representatives have been invited to the session at 8 p. m. Joint bidding on the government contracts will be discussed, Smith said.

Under this plan, one firm would bid on a contract and if successful would sublet or distribute the work to other shops.

A number of small firms have been bidding on the government projects but each has found the work expense prohibitive. Under the program to be discussed tomorrow this expense could be cut considerably and allow smaller firms to share responsibility.

Such a program will play a decided part in the national defense program, it is believed. These smaller firms, which ordinarily would not be able to undertake contracts because of size and expense, would be enabled to do their part for the war effort. At the same time economic conditions would be alleviated.

For some months, the Chamber of Commerce has been receiving lists of federal projects on which bids were asked. These lists have been channeled to the proper industries, Smith said.

Letters inviting the firms to send representatives to the meeting tomorrow have been mailed.

Election Protest Hearing Is Held

OAKLAND—Testimony was taken yesterday before Magistrate H. A. Loraditch concerning alleged irregularities claimed to have taken place during the recent election in the contest between Bernard I. Gonder and Neil C. Fraley for the state senate.

Fraley was declared the winner by a one-vote margin in the official canvass of the balloting, and Gonder then entered his protest.

The testimony at the hearing will be transcribed and submitted to the State Senate when it convenes early next month.

The Committee on Elections will study the testimony and decide if a recount should be made.

Five witnesses were heard and Fraley was given the opportunity to cross-examine them.

Hub City Police Nab Youth After Escape

A 13-year-old boy who escaped last week from detention quarters at the Allegany County Home has been picked up at Hagerstown in connection with two breaking and entering cases.

Deputy Sheriff Edgar Lewis said the youth had been committed to the Maryland Training School for Boys, and that he was taken by Hub City police.

Hagerstown authorities said the boy allegedly broke into the home of Mrs. Harvey Winters and picked up a billfold containing cards and a silver dollar. He also took a Bulova wrist watch, flashlight and cigaret lighter. He is also believed responsible for the theft of $7 from another home.

Diesel Engine Strikes Auto

A 51-year-old motorist escaped possible serious injury when a slow moving B. and O. diesel freight train struck and badly damaged his 1950 Chrysler coupe at the Baltimore Street crossing yesterday.

Police said Peter O. Sutphen, Everett, Pa., was riding alone and headed east when the accident occurred at 1:10 a. m. Damage to his car was estimated at $500, but apparently he escaped injury.

Officer Paul Penrod, who investigated, said Engine No. 803 had just started to move when it crashed against the right side of Sutphen's vehicle and pushed it off the No. 1 track. An air hose on the diesel broke and vehicular traffic was tied up about 15 minutes.

Sutphen told authorities he "never saw or heard anything," but witnesses said H F Kelly, crossing watchman, had held up a red warning lantern and blew his whistle. Sutphen was charged with careless driving.

Plague is a rat-borne disease and can be traced through history as far back as 1320 B. C., being first known in Pelusium, in lower Egypt.

Dr. Hodges Is New Member Of Crippled League Board

Dr. W. Royce Hodges, local physician and surgeon, was elected a member of the executive board of the Allegany County League for Crippled Children at a meeting Sunday at the home of Miss Henrietta Schwarzenbach, 412 Washington Street. Dr. Hodges will fill the vacancy caused by the death of Dr. Frank M. Wilson.

All other members of the board, including Rep. J. Glenn Beall, William A. Gunter, Dr. Winter R. Frantz, John Schwarzenbach, Miss Schwarzenbach, Tasker G. Lowndes, John H. Mosner and J. William Hunt were re-elected.

Reports on the work of the League during the past year were given, and the necessity of raising even larger sums of money was stressed. It was pointed out that there are more than 1,000 persons, mostly children, on the active list of the League receiving various kinds of care and treatment.

The more or less epidemic proportions of infantile paralysis during the late summer and early fall months depleted funds of the League, and some help was received from the National Fund for Infantile Paralysis.

Discussion of the coming March of Dimes fund raising program and the Easter Seal sale was held.

Mrs. Hume Opie Annan was renamed executive secretary of the League and the following officers were re-elected: Miss Schwarzenbach, president; Tasker G. Lowndes, vice president; John H. Mosner, treasurer and J. William Hunt, secretary.

Meeting Is Planned Tomorrow To Discuss U. S. Contract Bids

Machine and metal work plant owners will meet here Friday night to determine a course of action to obtain government contracts, it was announced yesterday.

Harold W. Smith, manager of the Chamber of Commerce, said firm representatives have been invited to the session at 8 p. m. Joint bidding on the government contracts will be discussed, Smith said.

Under this plan, one firm would bid on a contract and if successful would sublet or distribute the work to other shops.

A number of small firms have been bidding on the government projects but each has found the work expense prohibitive. Under the program to be discussed tomorrow this expense could be cut considerably and allow smaller firms to share responsibility.

Such a program will play a decided part in the national defense program, it is believed. These smaller firms, which ordinarily would not be able to undertake contracts because of size and expense, would be enabled to do their part for the war effort. At the same time economic conditions would be alleviated.

For some months, the Chamber of Commerce has been receiving lists of federal projects on which bids were asked. These lists have been channeled to the proper industries, Smith said.

Letters inviting the firms to send representatives to the meeting tomorrow have been mailed.

Election Protest Hearing Is Held

OAKLAND—Testimony was taken yesterday before Magistrate H. A. Loraditch concerning alleged irregularities claimed to have taken place during the recent election in the contest between Bernard I. Gonder and Neil C. Fraley for the state senate.

Fraley was declared the winner by a one-vote margin in the official canvass of the balloting, and Gonder then entered his protest.

The testimony at the hearing will be transcribed and submitted to the State Senate when it convenes early next month.

The Committee on Elections will study the testimony and decide if a recount should be made.

Five witnesses were heard and Fraley was given the opportunity to cross-examine them.

Hub City Police Nab Youth After Escape

A 13-year-old boy who escaped last week from detention quarters at the Allegany County Home has been picked up at Hagerstown in connection with two breaking and entering cases.

Deputy Sheriff Edgar Lewis said the youth had been committed to the Maryland Training School for Boys, and that he was taken by Hub City police.

Hagerstown authorities said the boy allegedly broke into the home of Mrs. Harvey Winters and picked up a billfold containing cards and a silver dollar. He also took a Bulova wrist watch, flashlight and cigaret lighter. He is also believed responsible for the theft of $7 from another home.

Diesel Engine Strikes Auto

A 51-year-old motorist escaped possible serious injury when a slow moving B. and O. diesel freight train struck and badly damaged his 1950 Chrysler coupe at the Baltimore Street crossing yesterday.

Police said Peter O. Sutphen, Everett, Pa., was riding alone and headed east when the accident occurred at 1:10 a. m. Damage to his car was estimated at $500. but apparently he escaped injury.

Officer Paul Penrod, who investigated, said Engine No. 803 had just started to move when it crashed against the right side of Sutphen's vehicle and pushed it off the No. 1 track. An air hose on the diesel broke and vehicular traffic was tied up about 15 minutes.

Sutphen told authorities he "never saw or heard anything," but witnesses said H F Kelly, crossing watchman, had held up a red warning lantern and blew his whistle. Sutphen was charged with careless driving.

Dr. Hodges Is New Member Of Crippled League Board

Dr. W. Royce Hodges, local physician and surgeon, was elected a member of the executive board of the Allegany County League for Crippled Children at a meeting Sunday at the home of Miss Henrietta Schwarzenbach, 412 Washington Street. Dr. Hodges will fill the vacancy caused by the death of Dr. Frank M. Wilson.

All other members of the board, including Rep. J. Glenn Beall, William A. Gunter, Dr. Winter R. Frantz, John Schwarzenbach, Miss Schwarzenbach, Tasker G. Lowndes, John H. Mosner and J. William Hunt were re-elected.

Reports on the work of the League during the past year were given, and the necessity of raising even larger sums of money was stressed. It was pointed out that there are more than 1,000 persons, mostly children, on the active list of the League receiving various kinds of care and treatment.

The more or less epidemic proportions of infantile paralysis during the late summer and early fall months depleted funds of the League, and some help was received from the National Fund for Infantile Paralysis.

Discussion of the coming March of Dimes fund raising program and the Easter Seal sale was held.

Mrs. Hume Opie Annan was renamed executive secretary of the League and the following officers were re-elected: Miss Schwarzenbach, president; Tasker G. Lowndes, vice president; John H. Mosner, treasurer and J. William Hunt, secretary.

Draft Dodger Awaits Sentence

NEW YORK, Dec. 18 (AP)—Alfred Bergdoll, 23, son of the notorious draft dodger of World War I, pleaded guilty today to dodging the 1950 draft.

He faces a maximum penalty of five years in prison and a $10,000 fine for failure to report for physical examination last Aug. 21 and to report for induction into the armed forces Nov. 9.

Federal Judge Sylvester J. Ryan set Thursday as the date for sentencing.

Grover Cleveland Bergdoll, the young man's father, was called America's "No. 1 slacker" of the First World War. He hid out from federal agents in his family's Philadelphia mansion for three years after refusing to report for induction in 1917.

His son was more direct. He was arrested Dec. 1 after writing his draft board:

"Herewith is the order, and also other paraphernalia I received today. I will not report for physical examination on Monday; not on any other day either. I will refuse to be inducted into the armed forces, if an attempt is made to induct me."

Malone Gives Up His Filibuster

WASHINGTON, Dec. 18. (AP)—Sen. Malone (R-Nev) today gave up a new attempt to "talk to death" a bill to ban the interstate shipment of slot machines.

He gave up the try after an hour's husky-voiced speech. He said he has laryngitis.

On Sept. 21, Malone waged a one-man filibuster, talking for 11 hours and eight minutes against the bill until its sponsors finally agreed to let it be sidetracked.

In his speech today—as he did in September—Malone denounced the measure as an invasion of states' rights. Then he moved to have it sent back to a conference committee, in the hope it might be killed there. But he told reporters he expected his demand would be rejected and the bill would be brought to a vote.

The bill was still before the Senate when it quit for the day. It will come up tomorrow.

Lane Defers Decision On Pardon For Murray

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Dec. 18 (AP)—James T. Murray may know by Christmas whether his life sentence for murder is to be lifted a second time.

The 55-year-old ex-Marine appeared before Gov. Lane today at the climax of an eight-year fight for freedom which began when his first conditional pardon was revoked.

The governor reserved judgment after an hour-long hearing, but indicated he would reach a decision shortly.

Passengers Thrown Out Of Subway Train

NEW YORK, Dec. 18 (AP)—A rush hour subway train started up with its doors open today, throwing screaming passengers out onto a crowded platform. More than a score were injured, none seriously.

Panic flashed through the packed 10-car train before the conductor pulled the emergency cord. The quick stop threw many standing passengers sprawling to the floor.

The Board of Transportation said the accident, at the 125th Street and Lexington Avenue of the IRT (Interborough Rapid Transit) resulted from a mix-up of signals between the conductor and motorman.

Boy Shares Christmas With Wounded GIs

HOLDEN, Mass., Dec. 18 (AP)—Fred Borger, 8, is sharing his Christmas this year with GIs wounded in Korea and he has a letter from Gen. MacArthur's adjutant to prove it.

Fred saved 40 cents from his allowance and sent it off—a quarter, a dime and a nickel—glued to a piece of cardboard, to Gen. MacArthur, stipulating that it be used only for the wounded.

He has received MacArthur's thanks through Brig. Gen. K. B. Bush, and with it a receipt from the American Red Cross in Tokyo.

House OKs Free GI Insurance

WASHINGTON, Dec. 18 (INS)—The House passed and sent to the Senate today a bill granting a free $10,000 insurance policy to all servicemen.

The measure is retroactive to June 27, the date that American troops entered the Korean war.

The bill covers beneficiaries of all men killed in Korea and relatives of 33 Pennsylvania National Guardsmen who died in a troop train crash last August at West Lafayette, Ohio.

Monthly payments to beneficiaries would total $92.90 for ten years. Servicemen would be insured for 90 days after discharge.

Individuals disabled on active duty would b permitted to buy government insurance after that if they are unable to purchase a commercial policy.

The legislation eliminates the World War II national service life insurance system on which veterans paid premiums.

U. S. Case Against BRT Runs Into Snag

CHICAGO, Dec. 18 (AP) — The government suffered an apparent setback today in its effort to press contempt of court charges in connection with last week's crippling strike of railroad yard workers.

Walter N. Murray, attorney for the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, told Federal Judge Michael L. Igoe today that a restraining order issued Wednesday by Federal Judge William J. Campbell was not served on 54 of the union's 56 officers until Saturday. The walkout ended that day.

Judge Igoe suggested that Murray confer with government prosecutors on whether the 54 officers should be dismissed from the case.

The hearing was continued to Thursday, when Murray will present a written motion for dismissal of the officers.

Slayer Is Sentenced

NEW YORK, Dec. 18 (AP)—Steven Albert, 23, was sentenced to 7½ to 15 years in prison today for killing Mrs. Theresa Maguire because she bit his tongue during a necking party.

Stampless Capitol Hill

WASHINGTON, Dec. 18 (AP)—If that Christmas card from your favorite congressman is late it's not due to political forgetfulness after election victory. He just couldn't buy stamps on Capitol Hill today.

At Capitol postal stations long lines of congressional secretaries tried vainly to buy stamps. They were told the unexpected rush after the railroad strike and mail embargoes had wiped out the supply.

Tax Return Moratorium

WASHINGTON, Dec. 18 (AP)—The Senate Finance Committee tonight approved a House-passed bill granting servicemen 180 days after return from combat duty in which to file their income tax returns. It is similar to the practice in World War II.

Funk To Resign As Md. Engineer

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Dec. 18 (AP)—John B. Funk is resigning as state engineer, Gov. Lane announced today.

Funk will be hired as private consultant on state construction to the Board of Public Works and department of Public Improvements after his resignation becomes effective, Dec. 31.

The Governor also announced Funk's appointment as chairman of the State Planning Commission for a term ending in 1954. He has been temporary chairman for 17 months.

Funk, a former Maryland secretary of state and senator from Frederick County, will resume his practice as a consulting engineer.

He has been one of the top figures in Lane's administration.

The Governor appointed him secretary of state soon after he took office in 1947. Then he named Funk to head the Department of Public Improvements after it was created by the 1947 Legislature. In that position, he became state engineer.

Philadelphia Manhunt Joined By Vigilantes

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 18 (AP) — Vigilantes patrolled the streets in the city's northern section tonight, searching for a sniper who has killed one woman and wounded at least six other persons.

Operating without police sanction, the vigilantes aided a manhunt by every available police officer and an auxiliary police force.

Operational headquarters has been established in a precinct police station near where Mrs. Claire Cohen, mother of two children, was shot to death Saturday night. At least 20 men were questioned there today and later released.

Marine's Wish To Rejoin "Stinking Platoon" Granted

WASHINGTON, Dec. 18 (AP) — Gen. Clifton B. Cates, commandant of the Marine Corps, has granted the wish of Marine Sergeant Robert J. Ward to rejoin his "dirty, stinking and loyal platoon" in Korea.

Technical Sergeant Ward, 25, a full-blooded Cherokee Indian of Los Angeles, was ordered out of the Korean fighting recently to a desk job in Tokyo. His mother, Mrs. Glenn Peterson, Inglewood, Calif., wife of an aircraft machinist, had claimed the right to have her last surviving son placed in a non-combat zone. Two other sons had been killed in World War II.

But Sergeant Ward, who is married and has a baby daughter, persuaded his mother to cancel her request. In a letter to her he said his "dirty, stinking and loyal platoon" needed him, and that he needed them.

Gen. Cates commented today:

"The Marines need men like Technical Sergeant Robert J. Ward."

Cates said Mrs. Peterson's concern for her son's safety was perfectly justifiable, and that the Marine Corps was concerned about it, too.

"But the Marines had a job to do," he added in a statement. "Their success throughout America's history has depended to a large part on their loyalty to the corps and to each other."

Convict Sends Card To Man He Robbed

BALTIMORE, Dec. 18 (AP)—Alvin E. Liptz, a Baltimore druggist, got a Christmas card today. It was signed "Joe.

"Joe" is Joseph F. Kohnen, Jr., scheduled to spend this Christmas and 19 more in the penitentiary under conviction of holding up the stores of Liptz and several others.

At the time he was arraigned in criminal court, Kohnen offered Judge Michael J. Manley a cigar.

Child Executions Denied

SEOUL, Korea, Dec. 18 (AP) — President Syngman Rhee today quoted a United Nations observer in denying reports that children have been executed by the South Koreans as war criminals.

The National Loan Company will be closed until Friday morning because of the death of the owner, Mr. Lester Millenson.

CAPITALISM

Nothing is superior except by comparison

WHEN we compare the conditions of nations and people in anti-capitalistic countries with the security, prosperity, happiness and well-being of our people under United States capitalism, we appreciate our privilege of living in a capitalistic, democratic country.

The basic principle of the free, capitalistic system which we have developed in our country affords opportunity to the individual who is willing to use his talents to the extent of his ability and desire to produce—to accumulate something for investment in a home, a farm, in savings accounts, bonds and other securities, life insurance, the education of his children, and comforts of life—and become a capitalist.

The following facts give us a deep appreciation of what capitalism has done and is doing for our country and its people.

Private capital in the form of taxes and purchases of United States Government Bonds made it possible for us to spend three hundred thirty billion dollars in carrying out our part of the program in winning World War II. This, of course, is unimportant when we consider the loss of life and permanent and partial disability which our youth sustained and which cannot be measured in dollars.

Our participation in World War II has left us today with a national debt of two hundred fifty-seven billion dollars, but on the credit side we find that our annual national income, at the current rate, is equal to 90% of our total national debt. Of this total national debt, thirty-nine billion dollars are in treasury obligations owned by Government agencies, so our net debt is slightly over two hundred eighteen billion dollars.

The United States free enterprise business system is operating at its highest level, furnishing employment to sixty-two million people at the highest hourly and weekly earnings ever recorded. Stockholders and corporations, after paying the highest peacetime taxes in the post-war years, have had the highest net average earnings in history from their investment.

Our farmers had cash income from marketing last year amounting to twenty-seven billion five hundred million dollars, the highest on record.

Total farm assets of our country amount to slightly more than one hundred twenty-seven billion dollars, against which there is an indebtedness of only twelve billion four hundred million dollars. Thus our farmers have ownership equity of over 90 per cent in their farms.

In non-farm homes, counting apartment buildings with four or less families, and all valued at a total of two hundred billion dollars, our home owners have an equity of one hundred fifty-eight billion dollars—a substantial ownership of 79 per cent.

Therefore, as a result of the opportunity provided by our free-enterprise capitalistic system, the people of our nation have a free and clear ownership in their homes and farms of 83.4 per cent.

Our people have savings of more than one hundred thirty-six billion dollars in government bonds and savings accounts.

An additional ninety-seven billion dollars are on deposit in commercial bank accounts.

Our men and women have a cash investment of sixty billion dollars in life insurance policies.

A high percentage of our working people are provided with unemployment insurance, sickness, accident and retirement benefits, financed by employers, employees and government. Others who are not covered by these plans and who find themselves in need are provided for by governmental and social institutions.

We are increasing our efforts to improve the standard of living of the people in the lower income brackets.

The United States, with only six per cent of the world population and seven per cent of its land area, under its democratic, capitalistic system, before World War II, produced forty-seven per cent of the world's manufactured goods, but what is more important, ninety per cent of that production was consumed within our own borders. Today we are producing over fifty per cent of the world's manufactured goods, of which a substantial percentage is for other countries.

Capitalism is backing freedom of worship and providing increasing educational opportunities by constantly giving more and more support to the two things upon which our democratic, cultural civilization depends—spiritual and educational values.

We have a permanent investment in churches and schools of eighteen billion five hundred million dollars and are spending annually eight billion dollars for religious and educational purposes.

Membership in the churches is increasing at a much faster rate than the increase in the population, and in our Sunday Schools at an even greater rate.

In the past thirty years, elementary school enrollment has increased 13.5 per cent, high school enrollment 146.1 per cent and college and university enrollment 351.6 per cent.

Our public school expenditures per pupil enrolled have gone up from $48.02 in 1920 to $132.06 in 1947, or 175.0 per cent.

Since 1920 the population of our country has increased 43 per cent and the investment in school and college equipment has increased 571 per cent.

Since the beginning of our industrial and scientific development in the early 1800's, the capitalistic system, due to individual freedom, initiative and ingenuity, has given the world more of the comforts and conveniences of life than mankind had received in the previous 5000 years of civilization.

Under this system our people as a whole are happy and united, are increasing their capital and enjoying a fuller spiritual, cultural and material life.

Today our scientific and industrial knowledge and experience in the various fields of peaceful activity are open to the rest of the world, and in this respect we have joined with other like-minded nations in contributing to the technical assistance program of the United Nations.

No nation, no individual, no venture, no private or public institution, no program for the welfare of people can progress without capital.

It is each individual's duty to contribute to the preservation, protection and improvement of our democratic civilization on a basis which is sound and fair to all our people.

The 55-year-old ex-Marine appeared before Gov. Lane today at the climax of an eight-year fight for freedom which began when his first conditional pardon was revoked.

The governor reserved judgment after an hour-long hearing, but indicated he would reach a decision shortly.

Passengers Thrown Out Of Subway Train

NEW YORK, Dec. 18 (AP)—A rush hour subway train started up with its doors open today, throwing screaming passengers out onto a crowded platform. More than a score were injured, none seriously.

Panic flashed through the packed 10-car train before the conductor pulled the emergency cord. The quick stop threw many standing passengers sprawling to the floor.

The Board of Transportation said the accident, at the 125th Street and Lexington Avenue of the IRT (Interborough Rapid Transit) resulted from a mix-up of signals between the conductor and motorman.

Boy Shares Christmas With Wounded GIs

HOLDEN, Mass., Dec. 18 (AP)—Fred Borger, 8, is sharing his Christmas this year with GIs wounded in Korea and he has a letter from Gen. MacArthur's adjutant to prove it.

Fred saved 40 cents from his allowance and sent it off—a quarter, a dime and a nickel—glued to a piece of cardboard, to Gen. MacArthur, stipulating that it be used only for the wounded.

He has received MacArthur's thanks through Brig. Gen. K. B. Bush, and with it a receipt from the American Red Cross in Tokyo.

House OKs Free GI Insurance

WASHINGTON, Dec. 18 (INS)—The House passed and sent to the Senate today a bill granting a free $10,000 insurance policy to all servicemen.

The measure is retroactive to June 27, the date that American troops entered the Korean war.

The bill covers beneficiaries of all men killed in Korea and relatives of 33 Pennsylvania National Guardsmen who died in a troop train crash last August at West Lafayette, Ohio.

Monthly payments to beneficiaries would total $92.90 for ten years. Servicemen would be insured for 90 days after discharge.

Individuals disabled on active duty would b permitted to buy government insurance after that if they are unable to purchase a commercial policy.

The legislation eliminates the World War II national service life insurance system on which veterans paid premiums.

U. S. Case Against BRT Runs Into Snag

CHICAGO, Dec. 18 (AP) — The government suffered an apparent setback today in its effort to press contempt of court charges in connection with last week's crippling strike of railroad yard workers.

Walter N. Murray, attorney for the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, told Federal Judge Michael L. Igoe today that a restraining order issued Wednesday by Federal Judge William J. Campbell was not served on 54 of the union's 56 officers until Saturday. The walkout ended that day.

Judge Igoe suggested that Murray confer with government prosecutors on whether the 54 officers should be dismissed from the case.

The hearing was continued to Thursday, when Murray will present a written motion for dismissal of the officers.

Funk To Resign As Md. Engineer

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Dec. 18 (AP)—John B. Funk is resigning as state engineer, Gov. Lane announced today.

Funk will be hired as private consultant on state construction to the Board of Public Works and department of Public Improvements after his resignation becomes effective, Dec. 31.

The Governor also announced Funk's appointment as chairman of the State Planning Commission for a term ending in 1954. He has been temporary chairman for 17 months.

Funk, a former Maryland secretary of state and senator from Frederick County, will resume his practice as a consulting engineer.

He has been one of the top figures in Lane's administration.

The Governor appointed him secretary of state soon after he took office in 1947. Then he named Funk to head the Department of Public Improvements after it was created by the 1947 Legislature. In that position, he became state engineer.

Philadelphia Manhunt Joined By Vigilantes

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 18 (AP) — Vigilantes patrolled the streets in the city's northern section tonight, searching for a sniper who has killed one woman and wounded at least six other persons.

Operating without police sanction, the vigilantes aided a manhunt by every available police officer and an auxiliary police force.

Operational headquarters has been established in a precinct police station near where Mrs. Claire Cohen, mother of two children, was shot to death Saturday night. At least 20 men were questioned there today and later released.

Marine's Wish To Rejoin "Stinking Platoon" Granted

WASHINGTON, Dec. 18 (AP) — Gen. Clifton B. Cates, commandant of the Marine Corps, has granted the wish of Marine Sergeant Robert J. Ward to rejoin his "dirty, stinking and loyal platoon" in Korea.

Technical Sergeant Ward, 25, a full-blooded Cherokee Indian of Los Angeles, was ordered out of the Korean fighting recently to a desk job in Tokyo. His mother, Mrs. Glenn Peterson, Inglewood, Calif., wife of an aircraft machinist, had claimed the right to have her last surviving son placed in a non-combat zone. Two other sons had been killed in World War II.

But Sergeant Ward, who is married and has a baby daughter, persuaded his mother to cancel her request. In a letter to her he said his "dirty, stinking and loyal platoon" needed him, and that he needed them.

Gen. Cates commented today:

"The Marines need men like Technical Sergeant Robert J. Ward."

Cates said Mrs. Peterson's concern for her son's safety was perfectly justifiable, and that the Marine Corps was concerned about it, too.

"But the Marines had a job to do," he added in a statement. "Their success throughout America's history has depended to a large part on their loyalty to the corps and to each other."

CAPITALISM

Nothing is superior except by comparison

WHEN we compare the conditions of nations and people in anti-capitalistic countries with the security, prosperity, happiness and well-being of our people under United States capitalism, we appreciate our privilege of living in a capitalistic, democratic country.

The basic principle of the free, capitalistic system which we have developed in our country affords opportunity to the individual who is willing to use his talents to the extent of his ability and desire to produce—to accumulate something for investment in a home, a farm, in savings accounts, bonds and other securities, life insurance, the education of his children, and comforts of life—and become a capitalist.

The following facts give us a deep appreciation of what capitalism has done and is doing for our country and its people.

Private capital in the form of taxes and purchases of United States Government Bonds made it possible for us to spend three hundred thirty billion dollars in carrying out our part of the program in winning World War II. This, of course, is unimportant when we consider the loss of life and permanent and partial disability which our youth sustained and which cannot be measured in dollars.

Our participation in World War II has left us today with a national debt of two hundred fifty-seven billion dollars, but on the credit side we find that our annual national income, at the current rate, is equal to 90% of our total national debt. Of this total national debt, thirty-nine billion dollars are in treasury obligations owned by Government agencies, so our net debt is slightly over two hundred eighteen billion dollars.

The United States free enterprise business system is operating at its highest level, furnishing employment to sixty-two million people at the highest hourly and weekly earnings ever recorded. Stockholders and corporations, after paying the highest peacetime taxes in the post-war years, have had the highest net average earnings in history from their investment.

Our farmers had cash income from marketing last year amounting to twenty-seven billion five hundred million dollars, the highest on record.

Total farm assets of our country amount to slightly more than one hundred twenty-seven billion dollars, against which there is an indebtedness of only twelve billion four hundred million dollars. Thus our farmers have ownership equity of over 90 per cent in their farms.

In non-farm homes, counting apartment buildings with four or less families, and all valued at a total of two hundred billion dollars, our home owners have an equity of one hundred fifty-eight billion dollars—a substantial ownership of 79 per cent.

Therefore, as a result of the opportunity provided by our free-enterprise capitalistic system, the people of our nation have a free and clear ownership in their homes and farms of 83.4 per cent.

Our people have savings of more than one hundred thirty-six billion dollars in government bonds and savings accounts.

An additional ninety-seven billion dollars are on deposit in commercial bank accounts.

Our men and women have a cash investment of sixty billion dollars in life insurance policies.

A high percentage of our working people are provided with unemployment insurance, sickness, accident and retirement benefits, financed by employers, employees and government. Others who are not covered by these plans and who find themselves in need are provided for by governmental and social institutions.

We are increasing our efforts to improve the standard of living of the people in the lower income brackets.

The United States, with only six per cent of the world population and seven per cent of its land area, under its democratic, capitalistic system, before World War II, produced forty-seven per cent of the world's manufactured goods, but what is more important, ninety per cent of that production was consumed within our own borders. Today we are producing over fifty per cent of the world's manufactured goods, of which a substantial percentage is for other countries.

Capitalism is backing freedom of worship and providing increasing educational opportunities by constantly giving more and more support to the two things upon which our democratic, cultural civilization depends—spiritual and educational values.

We have a permanent investment in churches and schools of eighteen billion five hundred million dollars and are spending annually eight billion dollars for religious and educational purposes.

Membership in the churches is increasing at a much faster rate than the increase in the population, and in our Sunday Schools at an even greater rate.

In the past thirty years, elementary school enrollment has increased 13.5 per cent, high school enrollment 146.1 per cent and college and university enrollment 351.6 per cent.

Our public school expenditures per pupil enrolled have gone up from $48.02 in 1920 to $132.06 in 1947, or 175.0 per cent.

Since 1920 the population of our country has increased 43 per cent and the investment in school and college equipment has increased 571 per cent.

Since the beginning of our industrial and scientific development in the early 1800's, the capitalistic system, due to individual freedom, initiative and ingenuity, has given the world more of the comforts and conveniences of life than mankind had received in the previous 5000 years of civilization.

Under this system our people as a whole are happy and united, are increasing their capital and enjoying a fuller spiritual, cultural and material life.

Today our scientific and industrial knowledge and experience in the various fields of peaceful activity are open to the rest of the world, and in this respect we have joined with other like-minded nations in contributing to the technical assistance program of the United Nations.

No nation, no individual, no venture, no private or public institution, no program for the welfare of people can progress without capital.

It is each individual's duty to contribute to the preservation, protection and improvement of our democratic civilization on a basis which is sound and fair to all our people.

Draft Dodger Awaits Sentence

NEW YORK, Dec. 18 (AP)—Alfred Bergdoll, 23, son of the notorious draft dodger of World War I, pleaded guilty today to dodging the 1950 draft.

He faces a maximum penalty of five years in prison and a $10,000 fine for failure to report for physical examination last Aug. 21 and to report for induction into the armed forces Nov. 9.

Federal Judge Sylvester J. Ryan set Thursday as the date for sentencing.

Grover Cleveland Bergdoll, the young man's father, was called America's "No. 1 slacker" of the First World War. He hid out from federal agents in his family's Philadelphia mansion for three years after refusing to report for induction in 1917.

His son was more direct. He was arrested Dec. 1 after writing his draft board:

"Herewith is the order, and also other paraphernalia I received today. I will not report for physical examination on Monday; not on any other day either. I will refuse to be inducted into the armed forces, if an attempt is made to induct me."

Malone Gives Up His Filibuster

WASHINGTON, Dec. 18. (AP)—Sen. Malone (R-Nev) today gave up a new attempt to "talk to death" a bill to ban the interstate shipment of slot machines.

He gave up the try after an hour's husky-voiced speech. He said he has laryngitis.

On Sept. 21, Malone waged a one-man filibuster, talking for 11 hours and eight minutes against the bill until its sponsors finally agreed to let it be sidetracked.

In his speech today—as he did in September—Malone denounced the measure as an invasion of states' rights. Then he moved to have it sent back to a conference committee, in the hope it might be killed there. But he told reporters he expected his demand would be rejected and the bill would be brought to a vote.

The bill was still before the Senate when it quit for the day. It will come up tomorrow.

Lane Defers Decision On Pardon For Murray

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Dec. 18 (AP)—James T. Murray may know by Christmas whether his life sentence for murder is to be lifted a second time.

The 55-year-old ex-Marine appeared before Gov. Lane today at the climax of an eight-year fight for freedom which began when his first conditional pardon was revoked.

The governor reserved judgment after an hour-long hearing, but indicated he would reach a decision shortly.

Residents Sign Petition Against Housing Project

Oppose Location On McNamee Hill

A petition signed by some 85 East Side residents protesting the discussed establishment of a negro housing project on the McNamee Hill site was presented to City Council last night and subsequently referred by the city fathers to the Cumberland Public Housing Authority.

Two East Side women spoke in behalf of the petition and asked for information concerning the responsibility for location of the housing project. The women were Mrs. William Flora, 916 Yale Street, and Mrs. J. S. Weaver, 816 Yale Street.

City Attorney W. Earle Cobey explained briefly that the determination of a location of the project rests with the Public Housing Authority and not with City Council.

As established under state law, the Housing Authority is set up as an independent organization with the power to determine sites for housing projects. The city is required to furnish access roads, sewer and water lines for the projects. However, the city may bill the Housing Authority as it would any other taxpayer for the services.

Four reasons against the establishment of the project on McNamee Hill are cited in the petition. They are (1) the cost of the road to the site would be prohibitive, (2) it would bring into the community a group which the petitioners consider a "social liability," (3) resale value of the petitioners' property would decline, and (4) spirit of resentment may create a racial problem which would force a hardship on groups which live in accord with segregation.

Woman Is Injured As Car Hits Truck

A local woman was injured early last night when the car in which she was riding struck the rear of a parked tractor-trailer truck in the 900 block of Maryland Avenue.

Police said the victim, Betty Stewart, 22, 107 Ashley Street, was treated in Memorial Hospital for cuts on the forehead and nose.

Officer C. W. Thompson, who investigated, said she was injured when she was thrown against the windshield of the car driven by Garnett M. Yost, Jr., 312 Paca Street.

Police preferred a charge of reckless driving against Yost.

Four Area Men Enlist In Army

Four area men enlisted in the U. S. Air Corps yesterday, according to M. Sgt. Clarence Biehn, of the local Army Recruiting Office.

They are John R. Hetz, 20, RFD 2, Frostburg; John A. Rizer, 20, Frostburg; Edwin F. Garlitz, 20, Frostburg; and Leo Garlitz, 20, Frostburg.

All four men were sent to the Army's Recruiting Main Station, Martinsburg, W. Va., and will be sent to Lackland Air Base, San Antonio, Texas, for basic training, Sgt. Biehn said.

Council Orders Holiday For All City Employes

Crippled Children Are Voted $1,000

All departments of government of the city will observe a long Christmas holiday, beginning Friday at 5 p. m. and continuing until Tuesday at the usual starting time, according to an order passed last night by the Mayor and City Council.

Mayor Thomas S. Post, who introduced the order, said the Saturday, Sunday and Monday holiday will give city employes time to spend with their families at Christmas.

Council also passed an order contributing $1,000 from the Sunday Movie Charity Tax Fund, to the Allegany County League for Crippled Children.

A contribution of $250 from the Contingent Fund was made to the Cumberland Choral Society.

A request from Mrs. Eloise Noyes Powers, president, for a contribution to the Arthritis Fund drive was referred to Commissioner of Finance William H. Buchholtz.

An order was passed to pay Richardson Wood and Company $750 for the December payment as the city's share for employing this industrial consultant.

In connection with the five-year tax exemption granted to the Cumberland Undergarment Company here May 5, 1947, an order was passed cancelling payment of taxes in the current year. This was a routine order to clear the tax records, Commissioner Buchholtz explained.

Water consumption in the city was reported as 12,618,000 gallons last week, compared to 11,164,000 gallons for the same period in 1949.

Warnick Will Head Welfare Association

A. L. Warnick yesterday afternoon was nominated without opposition for a new one-year term as president of the Cumberland Police and Firemen's Welfare Association.

Nominations were made at a meeting at police headquarters. Vincent Wegman, now a trustee, was nominated without opposition for vice-president while two incumbents, Curtis McA.Kime and Joseph H. Stitcher, faced no opposition for new terms as secretary and treasurer, respectively.

Five candidates were nominated for the three trustee positions. They are Fred Daum, Wiliam Valentine, John Snyder and Charles Himmler. The election will occur Monday, January 8. Warnick, Wegman and Himmler are firemen and the other candidates are policemen.

Bittner Is Hurt In Turnpike Crash

Edward L. Bittner, 30, Route 1, Mt. Savage, was reported "slightly improved but still critical" last night in Timmins Hospital, Bedford, Pa., where he was admitted following a two-car crash near Bedford.

He was injured early yesterday morning on the Pennsylvania Turnpike when the car he was driving crashed against the rear of a tractor-trailer.

Suffering from chest and internal injuries, he was still in an oxygen tent last night.

Va.; and three sisters, Miss Elizabeth Anderson Barnard, Detroit, Mich., Mrs. Clara Lakin, Columbus, Ohio, and Mrs. Minnie Duckworth, Westernport - McCoole Road.

A funeral service will be held tomorrow at Grafton. Mrs. L. J. Kelly, a niece, Westernport, plans to attend.

Oil Stove Blaze

East Side Fire Company was called to 512 Hill Street yesterday afternoon when an oil stove at the home of Virginia Beard was damaged. Firemen said a defective burner caused the minor damage.

Council Orders Holiday For All City Employes

Crippled Children Are Voted $1,000

All departments of government of the city will observe a long Christmas holiday, beginning Friday at 5 p. m. and continuing until Tuesday at the usual starting time, according to an order passed last night by the Mayor and City Council.

Mayor Thomas S. Post, who introduced the order, said the Saturday, Sunday and Monday holiday will give city employes time to spend with their families at Christmas.

Council also passed an order contributing $1,000 from the Sunday Movie Charity Tax Fund, to the Allegany County League for Crippled Children.

A contribution of $250 from the Contingent Fund was made to the Cumberland Choral Society.

A request from Mrs. Eloise Noyes Powers, president, for a contribution to the Arthritis Fund drive was referred to Commissioner of Finance William H. Buchholtz.

An order was passed to pay Richardson Wood and Company $750 for the December payment as the city's share for employing this industrial consultant.

In connection with the five-year tax exemption granted to the Cumberland Undergarment Company here May 5, 1947, an order was passed cancelling payment of taxes in the current year. This was a routine order to clear the tax records, Commissioner Buchholtz explained.

Water consumption in the city was reported as 12,618,000 gallons last week, compared to 11,164,000 gallons for the same period in 1949.

Warnick Will Head Welfare Association

A. L. Warnick yesterday afternoon was nominated without opposition for a new one-year term as president of the Cumberland Police and Firemen's Welfare Association.

Nominations were made at a meeting at police headquarters. Vincent Wegman, now a trustee, was nominated without opposition for vice-president while two incumbents, Curtis McA.Kime and Joseph H. Stitcher, faced no opposition for new terms as secretary and treasurer, respectively.

Five candidates were nominated for the three trustee positions. They are Fred Daum, Wiliam Valentine, John Snyder and Charles Himmler. The election will occur Monday, January 8. Warnick, Wegman and Himmler are firemen and the other candidates are policemen.

Bittner Is Hurt In Turnpike Crash

Edward L. Bittner, 30, Route 1, Mt. Savage, was reported "slightly improved but still critical" last night in Timmins Hospital, Bedford, Pa., where he was admitted following a two-car crash near Bedford.

He was injured early yesterday morning on the Pennsylvania Turnpike when the car he was driving crashed against the rear of a tractor-trailer.

Suffering from chest and internal injuries, he was still in an oxygen tent last night.

There's a simple way to do an emergency repair job when your nail polish chips. Moisten a brush lightly in polish remover and carefully spread the polish already on the nail until it covers the bare spots. It's more satisfactory than if you try to patch chipped polish with more polish.

John Mayo Joins UMW Starr Here

John Mayo, of Peoria, Ill., has been assigned to assist in the work of District 16, United Mine Workers of America, with headquarters in Cumberland.

Mayo is the father of Jackie Mayo, Notre Dame baseball player who was signed as a bonus player by the Philadelphia Phillies, National League pennant winner, this year.

Red Cross People Here

Miss Jeanette Long, representative of Red Cross Area office at Alexandria, Va., and Miss Odessa Gibson, home service consultant from eastern area office, will spend today and Wednesday with Mrs. Harry Beneman, local chapter chairman, and Mrs. Lee Witherup, executive-secretary, to discuss the Red Cross program and formulate plans for participation of Red Cross in civil defense.

Property Transferred

Attorney James Alfred Avirett, serving as court-appointed trustee, sold property on the north side of Rose Hill Avenue for $8,000 to Edward H. Hadra and Violet M. Hadra at public auction, according to a deed filed yesterday in the clerk of court's office.

Equity Case Filed

An equity case titled Paul Davidson vs. Evelyn Davidson was filed in Circuit Court yesterday.

Gefsky Is Banker Now • • • Bow & Arrow Hunting

By C. V. BURNS

During his visit to Pittsburgh last week to referee the George Pepperdine (Los Angeles) College-Duquesne University basketball game, which the latter won 84-50, Clifton Van Roby had quite a lengthy conversation witn Coach R. L. Dowell of the Pacific Coast quint and Meyer "Buck" Gefsky, one-time star of the Coffey Club, crack Pittsburgh pro quint that functioned in the 1920s and met the Keyser (W. Va.) Collegians a number of times.

Gefsky, who is now assistant vice president of the Washington Trust Company, Pittsburgh, and a Duquesne rooter, rehashed many happening of the days when the Coffey Club and Second Story Morrys used to tackle Keyser.

We recall those days, especially the season the Collegians stopped over in Pittsburgh and hung it on the Morrys and Coffeys on successive nights. That was considered quite a feat.

"Buck" remembered Robert "Red" Gibson and Art Slocum, now LaSalle High coach, who played for Blake G. "Spooks" Lytle's team at Keyser. Other Collegians were Dyke Shaffer, Monty Montgomery, Walter Hoyt, George Parrish, Bob Bosley, "Mac" MacFayden, "Peck" Lee and "Lefty" Baggaley.

In 1951 for the first time in Maryland a special open season for deer hunting will be set for the bow and arrow hunters. It will be for three days and will start the Monday following the close of the regular deer season.

The bow and arrow season will be confined to Baltimore County, which has no regular open deer season for gunners.

It was selected because there is a deer population that needs some trimming.

There will be no special license required for bow and arrow shooters but regulations as to hours, etc., may be drawn up.

Duke Cumberland and "Sweetwater" Clifton performed for the Dayton (Ohio) Mets when that club took over the Columbus franchise in the All-American Basketball League during the 1947-48 season.

These players were not with Zanesville which started and finished the season in the A-A. Columbus won the playoff that season.

Will answer your other query later after a little research work.

Mike Ryba, who was Scottsdale's one-man team, when he played in the Middle Atlantic League, has rejoined the St. Louis Cardinals as a coach under his old friend, Marty Marion. Mike could pitch, catch or play any other position on a baseball team. He was with the Boston Red Sox for several seasons.

Ryba came out of St. Francis College (Loretto, Pa.) for his first job in professional ball with Scottdale, when the mill town team was a Cardinal farm."

Wheeling's passwork in Sunday night's game was one of the best exhibitions we've ever seen in a league contest here.

The Blues really moved that ball fast and they pulled a lot of hocus pocus stuff inside the foul circle, completely bewildering the locals. It was really a dazzling display of ball-handling.

"Chick" Davies, A-A League commissioner, announces the Johnstown Clippers have lodged a protest over a dispute which revolved around the 3-minute rule interpretation in a game with Beaver Falls last Thursday on the Tommies' court. Beaver Falls won the heated battle, 50-48.

"A New Year's Eve View of the 1951 Sports Scene by Tim Cohane in this week's issue of Look magazine contains a number of screamingly funny paragraphs. Among them are:

Southern Methodist will ask the football Rules Committee to abolish the forward pass.

Ned Irish will institute a strenuous campaign to have college basketball banned from Madison Square Garden.

Ben Jones, Calumet trainer, will announce he has the horses to win, place and show in the Kentucky Derby, the Preakness and the Belmont.

Rocky Graziano, middleweight stylist, will box rings around Ray Robinson to take an unanimous ten-round decision.

And many other rib ticklers.

Williams Would Play Pro Football Unless He Gets Radio Offer

BALTIMORE, Dec. 18 (AP)—Bob Williams, Notre Dame's All-America back, said today he would like to play professional football unless he gets a good offer to do radio broadcasting.

Williams, a native Baltimorean, told the News-Post "sure I would like to play with the pros if the offer is good. If I got a radio broadcasting offer right away that indicated a good future, I might not play."

He added he's had only "feelers" from radio.

Williams said it "makes little difference" which club he would play with. The Baltimore Colts are due to have first draft choice in the National Football League next year for having lost the most games this season.

Williams, who fractured two vertebraes in the season's finale against Southern California, said he expects to be fully recovered in two weeks.

VMI Gives Nugent 3-Year Contract

LEXINGTON, Va., Dec. 18 (AP)—A proposed new three-year contract for Tom Nugent, head football coach at Virginia Military Institute, was approved today by Major General Richard J. Marshall, superintendent of the institute.

The new contract, not yet drafted formally, also includes a raise in pay for Nugent, whose team this year won six games and lost four.

The athletic council of V.M.I. last week proposed that the contract be offered Nugent to supersede his current contract, which expires after the 1951 football season.

Nugent said today it was "very reassuring to know that the folks at V.M.I. have that kind of confidence in me."

Chuck Comiskey's Vote Will Stand

CHICAGO, Dec. 18 (AP) — The Comiskey Clan won't switch the vote youthful Chuck Comiskey of the Chicago White Sox presumably cast against re-hiring A. B. Chandler as commissioner of baseball.

Comiskey, 24, who returned from St. Petersburg, Fla., today, said he conferred immediately with his mother, Mrs. Grace R. Comiskey.

"I told her how I voted and I gave my reasons. Mother agreed I had done the right thing and my vote stands as is. I have told nobody else, not even Frank Lane (Sox general manager), how I voted."

Hearn, Maglie Topped National League Hurlers

Jim's Average 2.49; Sal Won 18, Lost 4

BY HOWARD SIGMAND

NEW YORK, Dec. 18 (INS)—Jim Hearn, a $10,000 bargain basement special, and Sal Maglie, a reinstated Mexican jumping bean, provided the New York Giants with the top one-two pitching punch in the National League in 1950.

The official hurling data released today places Hearn as the top man in the league's earned-run-average department and second to Maglie in the won-and-lost percentage department. To round it out, Maglie came in second in the era column.

Jim Hearn

Sal Maglie

Hearn, the big righthander Eddie Dyer and the St. Louis Cardinals gave up to Leo Durocher for the waiver pittance last July, had an earned-run percentage of 2.49. This was a shade better than the 2.50 winning effort of New York's Dave Koslo in 1949.

Big Jim started 16 times, worked 134 innings, completed 11 games and ended up with a record of 11 wins and 4 losses, a .733 percentage.

Maglie was another pleasant surprise to the Giants. The 33-year-old righty was relegated to the bullpen when he rejoined the club following his reinstatement by the commissioner. When he was made a starter the curve ball artist really showed his stuff.

Maglie Won 18, Lost 4

Sal finished up with a won and lost mark of 18-4 for a percentage of .818. He had an era mark of 2.71 and had the longest streak enjoyed by any of the National League flingers, 11 straight wins.

Maglie and Hearn also tied with Larry Jansen and Robin Roberts for the shutout leadership. Each threw five blank games.

Cincinnati's Ewell Blackwell was third in earned-runs with a mark of 2.07 and Jansen of the Giants was fourth with 3.01.

Three pitchers got into the 20-game winner circle. Tobacco-chewing Johnny Sain reversed his 10-17 showing of '49 by winning 20 while losing 13. It was the fourth time in his career that John has been in the "20" club. Warren Spahn, the southpaw side of Boston's mound twins, won 21 and lost 17, for his third 20-game season.

Spahn had the most wins in the league and led in strikeouts for the second successive year with 191.

Young Robin Roberts of the champion Phillies got into the 20-game class on the last day of the season when he beat the Dodgers and won the pennant for the Whiz Kids. He was the first Phillie pitcher to win 20 games since the late Grover Cleveland Alexander turned the trick in 1915. Private Curt Simmons (17-8) was third in percentage with .680.

Pitched In 74 Games

A modern major league record for pitchers was established by Casimir "Jim" Konstanty, the rubber-armed blood and guts of the Phils. Jim appeared in 74 games, breaking the old mark of 70 held by Ace Adams of the Giants. Konstanty also had a 16-7 won-lost record.

Boston's Vern Bickford, who recorded the only no-hitter of the season, also pitched the most complete games, 27, hurled the most innings, 312, and faced the most batsmen, 1325. He won 19 games.

Bickford tied Roberts and Spahn for the most games started, 39.

The wild men in the league were Cincinnati's Blackwell and Herm Wehmeier. They tied for committing the most wild pitches, 11.

Wehmeier walked the most men, 135 and Blackwell hit the most men, 13. Herman had the dubious distinction of allowing the most runs, 157 and the most earned runs, 145.

Sain gave up the most base hits, 294.

Rush Lost 20 Games

Chicago's Bob Rush gained the unwanted honor of losing the most games. He dropped 20. And the big fellow "boasted" the longest losing streak of the season, 8 straight.

The Phillies were tops in team pitching with an earned-run mark of 3.50. The Giants were second with 3.71.

Martinis Take Lead In SERC Mixed Loop

The Martinis took over first place in the South End Republican Club Mixed Bowling League by winning three games from the Pink Ladies.

The Manhattans scored a 2-1 win over the Old-Fashions and the High Balls swept three from the Whiskey Sours.

	W.	L.	Pct.
Martinis	15	6	.714
Whiskey Sours	13	8	.619
Manhattans	11	10	.524
High Balls	10	11	.476
Old Fashions	9	12	.429
Pink Ladies	5	16	.238

Concord Whips Potomac State

ATHENS, W. Va., Dec. 18 (AP) — Concord College won its first basketball game in four starts this season by downing Potomac State 79-69 tonight in a state conference tilt.

Concord, paced by Center Bob Marrs with 21 points, led all the way. Kaldy, also a center, was high for Potomac with 17.

The victory gave Concord a conference record of 1-3 and dropped Potomac to a 2-2 mark. Quarters:

Central Wins 5th Straight

Accident High Loses Close Contest, 55-51

ACCIDENT, Md., Dec. 18—Accident High School gave undefeated Central High School of Lonaconing a hard battle here tonight before losing out by the score of 55 to 51.

The local Class "C" school held the Tigers to a 27-26 score at halftime but a 20-point rally decided the issue in the third stanza. Accident outscored the visitors in the second and final quarters.

The victory was Central's 5th in a row.

Kenneth Burt led the winners in scoring with nine fielders and 20 points. Paul Hone was the "big gun" for Accident with seven field goals and 16 tallies.

Central was outscored from the field, 24-23, but held a 9-3 advantage at the foul line.

Central High's junior varsity cagers defeated Accident's Jayvees in the opener, 34-19. Robertson led CHS with nine points and Darius Georg headed the locals with five markers.

Accident will play host to Friendsville on Thursday night. Lineups:

Henrich Quits As Player, Signs As Yankees' Coach

Chronic Knee Ailment Ends Playing Career

NEW YORK, Dec. 18 (INS)—Tommy Henrich, one of the top clutch players in modern-day baseball, ended his active playing career today by signing as a coach with the New York Yankees.

The famous "old reliable" outfielder-first baseman of the world champions decided to forego any further attempts at playing under the strain of a chronic ailment in his left knee.

Henrich, who received approximately $40,000 for his part-time services last season, will get considerably less as a coach. The baseball law which prohibits more than a 25 per cent cut in salary does not apply to players who go from the active to the inactive list.

Tommy, who will be 35-years-old in a couple of months, has been considered managerial timber by the Yankee high brass. He was offered a post as manager of one of the Yankee farm teams but declined, stating that he felt he wanted another whirl as a player before turning in his glove.

He consulted Dr. George Bennett at Johns Hopkins Hospital in Baltimore recently and was advised that further operations on his knee would have little or no effect on his ability to move around in every day activity as a player.

TOMMY HENRICH

Henrich came to the Yankees in 1937 from Newark and starred in the outfield with Charley Keller and Joe DiMaggio. With the exception of three-year stint with the U. S. Coast Guard, Henrich spent 11 seasons with the Bombers.

Tommy was a steady, .280 hitter throughout his career and his sparkling play under pressure earned him the nickname "old reliable."

Last season Henrich was only able to participate in 73 games. He batted .272, getting 41 hits in 151 times at bat.

He missed what would have been his fifth world series when the Yankees got permission to use Johnny Hopp in his stead.

Kentucky Given No. 1 Rating In College Basketball Poll

Bradley Placed 2nd Followed By Indiana And Oklahoma Aggies

By JACK HAND

NEW YORK, Dec. 18 (AP)—Unbeaten Kentucky, a stunning 68-39 winner over Kansas, is No. 1 college basketball team in the nation, according to the first Associated Press poll of the season.

Five straight wins convinced 93 of 165 sports writers and sportscasters that Coach Adolph Rupp's unbeaten Wildcats are tops at this stage of the campaign. Their point total of 1,451 was some 150 better than runnerup Bradley, last year's regular season poll winner.

Bradley and North Carolina State, winners of six straight through Saturday's games, each received 20 first place votes. Bradley took second position on points, 1,302 to 1,105.

CCNY Is Rated Sixth

Indiana and Oklahoma Aggies, another pair of unbeaten clubs, followed next in order. City College of New York, which won both the NCAA and Invitational Tournaments last spring, was sixth. CCNY was upset by Missouri.

Then came Long Island University, unbeaten in three starts, Missouri, UCLA and Toledo. Toledo has shown surprising strength in knocking off Illinois, Denver, Niagara and Texas Tech.

Next test for Kentucky's powerhouse comes against St. John's of Brooklyn at the Garden Saturday night.

Bradley, piling up big scores in a fast start, bumps against UCLA tomorrow night, while North Carolina State, a 22-point road winner over Temple Saturday, played Michigan tonight and faces Villanova Wednesday before its Dixie Classic tournament.

Indiana Meets Irish

Indiana, with four in a row, meets Notre Dame and Butler this week while the Oklahoma Aggies tour the Far West for tough road tests with California, Southern California and Loyola.

City College, soundly thumped by Missouri, plays an Oklahoma team that has won decisively from SMU, Texas and Minnesota. Long Island, figured to be one of the nation's powerhouse clubs, met Cortland Teachers tonight. The Blackbirds date with UCLA Thursday should be one of the week's high spots.

Since Missouri lost to Washington of St. Louis in its opener, the club has swept three in a row. After Arkansas tonight they are idle until the Big Seven tournament next week.

UCLA Faces Road Tests

UCLA, beaten only by Oregon so far, plays Bradley, Long Island and Iowa all on the road this week. Toledo takes on Miami and Eastern Kentucky, which lost to North Carolina State by only one point in overtime.

The leaders with first place votes and records through Saturday in parentheses (points figured on 10-9-8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1 basis:

	TOP TEN
1.	Kentucky (93) (5-0)	1,451

18.	Villanova (4-0)	118
19.	Cornell (2) (5-0)	106
20.	Kansas State (1) (4-2)	91

Others receiving votes were: LaSalle, Illinois, Duke, Western Kentucky, Washington State, Beloit, Southern California, Duquense, Wyoming, Murray St. (Ky.), North Carolina, Bowling Green, Alabama, Ohio State, Hamline, Washington and Jefferson, Western Michigan, Minnesota, Mississippi, Northwestern, California, Holy Cross, Seattle, Utah, Evansville and Iowa.

"Ike" Williams Decisions Cruz

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 18—(INS)—Lightweight Champion Ike Williams won a unanimous ten-round decision tonight in an over-the-weight bout against Rudy Cruz, Purple Heart veteran from Los Angeles.

A small crowd of 3,618 fans at the Philadelphia Arena viewed the dull, rather listless fight, which was Williams' all the way.

The referee scored it nine rounds for Williams and one even. One judge scored it 8-2 Williams and the other had it 7-2-1 in favor of the champion.

Williams weighed 144, Cruz scaled 138.

West Virginia Wins Over Deacons, 69-63

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., Dec. 18 (AP) — Sophomore guard Ken Alessi led unbeaten West Virginia University to a 69-63 victory over Wake Forest tonight in a close, often-tied Southern Conference basketball game.

The score was tied four times early in the first half, but West Virginia pulled ahead to lead the Deacons 32-29 at half time. The Mountaineers grabbed their biggest lead of the game early in the second half when successive field goals by Jim Coalter, Jim Scottile, and Mark Workman put them ahead 40-29.

But the Deacons closed the gap at 43-43 with six minutes gone in the half. It was tied at 45, 47, 49, 51, 52, and 54 before Alessi's field goal with 6:56 left in the game made it 56-54 and put West Virginia ahead to stay.

Wake Forest's six-foot, five-inch center, Alton McCotter, took scoring honors with 24 points, followed by Alessi's 23. Workman made 14 for West Virginia. Alessi was the standout of the game with an exhibition of smooth ball handling and playmaking.

Terps Win, 52-43

COLLEGE PARK, Md., Dec. 18 (AP)—Maryland's possession—minded basketball team, leading 18-15 after a slow first half, broke loose in the second half and coasted to a 52-43 victory over Washington and Lee tonight.

Captain Lee Brawley tallied 19 points to lead the Terps to their third straight triumph and fourth win in five college games.

Shockey Hounds Win Both Events At Beagle Trial

Cop 4th Of Series Of Trophy Contests

Hounds owned by Robert F. Shockey, Meyersdale, Pa., won in both the 13 and 15 inch classes in the fourth of a series of sanctioned trophy trials held Sunday by the Allegany Beagle Club at the club grounds on the Barton Dairy Farm, Pinto.

Field Champion Geisel's Sally was adjudged the winner in the 15 inch class and Merry Run Robin was selected as tops in the 13 inch class.

Bad weather caused the entries to be small and also made trailing conditions difficult for the hounds.

James Roush of Williamsburg, Pa., judged both classes.

The results:

15 INCH CLASS:
1. Field Champion Geisel's Sally; R. F. Shockey, owner.
2. Mad Cap Princess; Dr. H. C. Diehl, owner.
3. Wolver Trinket; R. L. Spiker, owner.
4. Forger's Indicator; John R. Armstrong, owner.
Reserve: Wing Ridge Benjamin; R. L. Spiker, owner.

13 INCH CLASS:
1. Merry Run Robin; R. F. Shockey, owner.
2. J W F Soney Boy; Jacob Parker, owner.
3. Kenwood Lad; Dr. H. C. Diehl, owner.
4. Geisel's Brownie; R. F. Shockey, owner.
Reserve: Julia Harrah; Jacob Parker, owner.

Marion Undergoes Operation On Knee

ST. LOUIS, Dec. 18 (INS)—Marty Marion, newly-appointed manager of the St. Louis Cardinals, was reported in "very good" condition today by doctors who removed an injured cartilage from the veteran shortstop's right knee this morning.

Dr. I. C. Middleman, who performed the 45-minute operation along with Dr. J. A. Key at St. Louis' Jewish Hospital said:

"I think he'll be able to play and use that knee."

The doctor added that the major league's youngest manager would be "home in five or six days in time for Christmas."

Slaughter Of Cards Is Sued For Divorce

ST. LOUIS, Dec. 18 (AP)—Enos Slaughter of the St. Louis Cardinals was sued for divorce today. His wife, Mrs. Mary Kathryn Slaughter, charged "indignities amounting to cruelty."

She alleged he has been quarrelsome, nagging and abusive, threatened her with physical violence and has kept her in a state of fear and anxiety.

Paw Paw High And Explorers To Clash Here

Fort Hill To Invade Moorefield; Beall Host To Piedmont

LaSalle High School is favored to register its third straight victory of the season tonight when it meets Paw Paw High School's Mountaineers on SS. Peter and Paul court at 8 o'clock.

Bob Pence and Ray Hull will officiate.

Paw Paw launched its 1950-51 campaign under a new coach, Bob Hartman, graduate of Moorefield High School and George Washington University, and has lost its first two starts to Fort Ashby's Eagles and Hedgesville.

Coach Art Slocum's Explorers have defeated Bruce, 39-22 and Beall 29-24.

Fort Hill's Sentinels are scheduled to invade Hardy County, W. Va., for an engagement with Johnny Paugh's Moorefield High School Yellow Jackets. It will be the only meeting of these schools this season.

Coach "Bobby" Cavanaugh's outfit defeated Davis 69-21 and Hagerstown 53-41 while Moorefield has spilled Mathias, 61-27 and Franklin 59-39.

A pair of Potomac Valley Conference games also are on tap tonight with Mathias playing host to Walt Owens' Petersburg Vikings and John Shelton's Keyser High team making its 1950-51 debut by playing Paul Kalbaugh's Elk Garden Elks in Keyser.

Defeated by LaSalle and Ridgeley, the Beall High Mountaineers will make a third try to crash the win column when they tackle "Huck" Miers' Piedmont High Lions (3-1) at Frostburg.

Woody Woodson's Bruce High floormen need a win to crash the .500 class and they hope to get it tonight when they play Kitzmiller High of Garrett county in Westernport. Bruce holds a decision over Elk Garden but lost to LaSalle and Fort Ashby.

Romney High School invades Morgantown tonight to tangle with Homer Fizer's University High School quint.

Other games on tonight's slate include:

Kasson at Parsons.
Oakland at Bayard.
Davis at Terra Alta.
Franklin at Monterey (Va.).
Berkeley Springs at Wardensville.
Musselman at Capon Bridge.

State Invades Beckley

Potomac State will play its second game of a three-day road trip at Beckley, meeting Beckley College. The Catamounts played Concord at Athens, W. Va., last night and will battle Bluefield College on Wednesday.

North Carolina State Tops Michigan, 65-62

RALEIGH, N. C., Dec. 18 (AP) — North Carolina State College's basketball team remained undefeated tonight by whipping Michigan, 65-62, in a rough, nip and tuck game that required an overtime period.

The regular game ended at 58-all after the score had been tied nine times.

During his visit to Pittsburgh last week to referee the George Pepperdine (Los Angeles) College-Duquesne University basketball game, which the latter won 84-50, Clifton Van Roby had quite a lengthy conversation with Coach R. L. Dowell of the Pacific Coast quint and Meyer "Buck" Gefsky, one-time star of the Coffey Club, crack Pittsburgh pro quint that functioned in the 1920s and met the Keyser (W. Va.) Collegians a number of times.

Gefsky, who is now assistant vice president of the Washington Trust Company, Pittsburgh, and a Duquesne rooter, rehashed many happening of the days when the Coffey Club and Second Story Morrys used to tackle Keyser.

We recall those days, especially the season the Collegians stopped over in Pittsburgh and hung it on the Morrys and Coffeys on successive nights. That was considered quite a feat.

"Buck" remembered Robert "Red" Gibson and Art Slocum, now LaSalle High coach, who played for Blake G. "Spooks" Lytle's team at Keyser. Other Collegians were Dyke Shaffer, Monty Montgomery, Walter Hoyt, George Parrish, Bob Bosley, "Mac" MacFayden, "Peck" Lee and "Lefty" Baggaley.

In 1951 for the first time in Maryland a special open season for deer hunting will be set for the bow and arrow hunters. It will be for three days and will start the Monday following the close of the regular deer season.

The bow and arrow season will be confined to Baltimore County, which has no regular open deer season for gunners.

It was selected because there is a deer population that needs some trimming.

There will be no special license required for bow and arrow shooters but regulations as to hours, etc., may be drawn up.

Wheeling's passwork in Sunday night's game was one of the best exhibitions we've ever seen in a league contest here.

The Blues really moved that ball fast and they pulled a lot of hocus pocus stuff inside the foul circle, completely bewildering the locals. It was really a dazzling display of ball-handling.

Williams Would Play Pro Football Unless He Gets Radio Offer

BALTIMORE, Dec. 18 (AP)—Bob Williams, Notre Dame's All-America back, said today he would like to play professional football unless he gets a good offer to do radio broadcasting.

Williams, a native Baltimorean, told the News-Post "sure I would like to play with the pros if the offer is good. If I got a radio broadcasting offer right away that indicated a good future, I might not play."

He added he's had only "feelers" from radio.

Williams said it "makes little difference" which club he would play with. The Baltimore Colts are due to have first draft choice in the National Football League next year for having lost the most games this season.

Williams, who fractured two vertebraes in the season's finale against Southern California, said he expects to be fully recovered in two weeks.

The athletic council of V.M.I. last week proposed that the contract be offered Nugent to supersede his current contract, which expires after the 1951 football season.

Nugent said today it was "very reassuring to know that the folks at V.M.I. have that kind of confidence in me."

Jim Hearn

Sal Maglie

Hearn, the big righthander Eddie Dyer and the St. Louis Cardinals gave up to Leo Durocher for the waiver pittance last July, had an earned-run percentage of 2.49. This was a shade better than the 2.50 winning effort of New York's Dave Koslo in 1949.

Big Jim started 16 times, worked 134 innings, completed 11 games and ended up with a record of 11 wins and 4 losses, a .733 percentage.

Maglie was another pleasant surprise to the Giants. The 33-year-old righty was relegated to the bullpen when he rejoined the club following his reinstatement by the commissioner. When he was made a starter the curve ball artist really showed his stuff.

Maglie Won 18, Lost 4

Sal finished up with a won and lost mark of 18-4 for a percentage of .818. He had an era mark of 2.71 and had the longest streak enjoyed by any of the National League flingers, 11 straight wins.

Maglie and Hearn also tied with Larry Jansen and Robin Roberts for the shutout leadership. Each threw five blank games.

Cincinnati's Ewell Blackwell was third in earned-runs with a mark of 2.07 and Jansen of the Giants was fourth with 3.01.

Three pitchers got into the 20-game winner circle. Tobacco-chewing Johnny Sain reversed his 10-17 showing of '49 by winning 20 while losing 13. It was the fourth time in his career that John has been in the "20" club. Warren Spahn, the southpaw side of Boston's mound twins, won 21 and lost 17, for his third 20-game season.

Spahn had the most wins in the league and led in strikeouts for the second successive year with 191.

Young Robin Roberts of the champion Phillies got into the 20-game class on the last day of the season when he beat the Dodgers and won the pennant for the Whiz Kids. He was the first Phillie pitcher to win 20 games since the late Grover Cleveland Alexander turned the trick in 1915. Private Curt Simmons (17-8) was third in percentage with .680.

Pitched In 74 Games

A modern major league record for pitchers was established by Casimir "Jim" Konstanty, the rubber-armed blood and guts of the Phils. Jim appeared in 74 games, breaking the old mark of 70 held by Ace Adams of the Giants. Konstanty also had a 16-7 won-lost record.

Boston's Vern Bickford, who recorded the only no-hitter of the season, also pitched the most complete games, 27, hurled the most innings, 312, and faced the most batsmen, 1325. He won 19 games.

Bickford tied Roberts and Spahn for the most games started, 39.

The wild men in the league were Cincinnati's Blackwell and Herm Wehmeier. They tied for committing the most wild pitches, 11.

Wehmeier walked the most men, 135 and Blackwell hit the most men, 13. Herman had the dubious distinction of allowing the most runs, 157 and the most earned runs, 145.

Sain gave up the most base hits, 294.

Rush Lost 20 Games

Chicago's Bob Rush gained the unwanted honor of losing the most games. He dropped 20. And the big fellow "boasted" the longest losing streak of the season, 8 straight.

The Phillies were tops in team pitching with an earned-run mark of 3.50. The Giants were second with 3.71.

Martinis Take Lead In SERC Mixed Loop

The Martinis took over first place in the South End Republican Club Mixed Bowling League by winning three games from the Pink Ladies.

The Manhattans scored a 2-1 win over the Old-Fashions and the High Balls swept three from the Whiskey Sours.

Concord Whips Potomac State

ATHENS, W. Va., Dec. 18 (AP) — Concord College won its first basketball game in four starts this season by downing Potomac State 79-69 tonight in a state conference tilt.

Concord, paced by Center Bob Marrs with 21 points, led all the way. Kaldy, also a center, was high for Potomac with 17.

The victory gave Concord a conference record of 1-3 and dropped Potomac to a 2-2 mark. Quarters:

Accident High Loses Close Contest, 55-51

ACCIDENT, Md., Dec. 18—Accident High School gave undefeated Central High School of Lonaconing a hard battle here tonight before losing out by the score of 55 to 51.

The local Class "C" school held the Tigers to a 27-26 score at halftime but a 20-point rally decided the issue in the third stanza. Accident outscored the visitors in the second and final quarters.

The victory was Central's 5th in a row.

Kenneth Burt led the winners in scoring with nine fielders and 20 points. Paul Hone was the "big gun" for Accident with seven field goals and 16 tallies.

Central was outscored from the field, 24-23, but held a 9-3 advantage at the foul line.

Central High's junior varsity cagers defeated Accident's Jayvees in the opener, 34-19. Robertson led CHS with nine points and Darius Georg headed the locals with five markers.

Accident will play host to Friendsville on Thursday night. Lineups:

Henrich Quits As Player, Signs As Yankees' Coach

Chronic Knee Ailment Ends Playing Career

NEW YORK, Dec. 18 (INS)—Tommy Henrich, one of the top clutch players in modern-day baseball, ended his active playing career today by signing as a coach with the New York Yankees.

The famous "old reliable" outfielder-first baseman of the world champions decided to forego any further attempts at playing under the strain of a chronic ailment in his left knee.

Henrich, who received approximately $40,000 for his part-time services last season, will get considerably less as a coach. The baseball law which prohibits more than a 25 per cent cut in salary does not apply to players who go from the active to the inactive list.

Tommy, who will be 35-years-old in a couple of months, has been considered managerial timber by the Yankee high brass. He was offered a post as manager of one of the Yankee farm teams but declined, stating that he felt he wanted another whirl as a player before turning in his glove.

He consulted Dr. George Bennett at Johns Hopkins Hospital in Baltimore recently and was advised that further operations on his knee would have little or no effect on his ability to move around in every day activity as a player.

Henrich came to the Yankees in 1937 from Newark and starred in the outfield with Charley Keller and Joe DiMaggio. With the exception of three-year stint with the U. S. Coast Guard, Henrich spent 11 seasons with the Bombers.

TOMMY HENRICH

Tommy was a steady, .280 hitter throughout his career and his sparkling play under pressure earned him the nickname "old reliable."

Last season Henrich was only able to participate in 73 games. He batted .272, getting 41 hits in 151 times at bat.

He missed what would have been his fifth world series when the Yankees got permission to use Johnny Hopp in his stead.

Kentucky Given No. 1 Rating In College Basketball Poll

Bradley Placed 2nd Followed By Indiana And Oklahoma Aggies

By JACK HAND

NEW YORK, Dec. 18 (AP)—Unbeaten Kentucky, a stunning 68-39 winner over Kansas, is No. 1 college basketball team in the nation, according to the first Associated Press poll of the season.

Five straight wins convinced 93 of 165 sports writers and sportscasters that Coach Adolph Rupp's unbeaten Wildcats are tops at this stage of the campaign. Their point total of 1,451 was some 150 better than runnerup Bradley, last year's regular season poll winner.

Bradley and North Carolina State, winners of six straight through Saturday's games, each received 20 first place votes. Bradley took second position on points, 1,302 to 1,105.

CCNY Is Rated Sixth

Indiana and Oklahoma Aggies, another pair of unbeaten clubs, followed next in order. City College of New York, which won both the NCAA and Invitational Tournaments last spring, was sixth. CCNY was upset by Missouri.

Then came Long Island University, unbeaten in three starts, Missouri, UCLA and Toledo. Toledo has shown surprising strength in knocking off Illinois, Denver, Niagara and Texas Tech.

Next test for Kentucky's powerhouse comes against St. John's of Brooklyn at the Garden Saturday night.

Bradley, piling up big scores in a fast start, bumps against UCLA tomorrow night, while North Carolina State, a 22-point road winner over Temple Saturday, played Michigan tonight and faces Villanova Wednesday before its Dixie Classic tournament.

Indiana Meets Irish

Indiana, with four in a row, meets Notre Dame and Butler this week while the Oklahoma Aggies tour the Far West for tough road tests with California, Southern California and Loyola.

City College, soundly thumped by Missouri, plays an Oklahoma team that has won decisively from SMU, Texas and Minnesota. Long Island, figured to be one of the nation's powerhouse clubs, met Cortland Teachers tonight. The Blackbirds date with UCLA Thursday should be one of the week's high spots.

Since Missouri lost to Washington of St. Louis in its opener, the club has swept three in a row. After Arkansas tonight they are idle until the Big Seven tournament next week.

UCLA Faces Road Tests

UCLA, beaten only by Oregon so far, plays Bradley, Long Island and Iowa all on the road this week. Toledo takes on Miami and Eastern Kentucky, which lost to North Carolina State by only one point in overtime.

The leaders with first place votes and records through Saturday in parentheses (points figured on 10-9-8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1 basis:

	TOP TEN
1.	Kentucky (93) (5-0)	1,451

Others receiving votes were: LaSalle, Illinois, Duke, Western Kentucky, Washington State, Beloit, Southern California, Duquense, Wyoming, Murray St. (Ky.), North Carolina, Bowling Green, Alabama, Ohio State, Hamline, Washington and Jefferson, Western Michigan, Minnesota, Mississippi, Northwestern, California, Holy Cross, Seattle, Utah, Evansville and Iowa.

"Ike" Williams Decisions Cruz

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 18—(INS)—Lightweight Champion Ike Williams won a unanimous ten-round decision tonight in an over-the-weight bout against Rudy Cruz, Purple Heart veteran from Los Angeles.

A small crowd of 3,618 fans at the Philadelphia Arena viewed the dull, rather listless fight, which was Williams' all the way.

The referee scored it nine rounds for Williams and one even. One judge scored it 8-2 Williams and the other had it 7-2-1 in favor of the champion.

Williams weighed 144, Cruz scaled 138.

West Virginia Wins Over Deacons, 69-63

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., Dec. 18 (AP) — Sophomore guard Ken Alessi led unbeaten West Virginia University to a 69-63 victory over Wake Forest tonight in a close, often-tied Southern Conference basketball game.

The score was tied four times early in the first half, but West Virginia pulled ahead to lead the Deacons 32-29 at half time. The Mountaineers grabbed their biggest lead of the game early in the second half when successive field goals by Jim Coalter, Jim Scottile, and Mark Workman put them ahead 40-29.

But the Deacons closed the gap at 43-43 with six minutes gone in the half. It was tied at 45, 47, 49, 51, 52, and 54 before Alessi's field goal with 6:56 left in the game made it 56-54 and put West Virginia ahead to stay.

Wake Forest's six-foot, five-inch center, Alton McCotter, took scoring honors with 24 points, followed by Alessi's 23. Workman made 14 for West Virginia. Alessi was the standout of the game with an exhibition of smooth ball handling and playmaking.

Terps Win, 52-43

COLLEGE PARK, Md., Dec. 18 (AP)—Maryland's possession—minded basketball team, leading 18-15 after a slow first half, broke loose in the second half and coasted to a 52-43 victory over Washington and Lee tonight.

Captain Lee Brawley tallied 19 points to lead the Terps to their third straight triumph and fourth win in five college games.

Shockey Hounds Win Both Events At Beagle Trial

Cop 4th Of Series Of Trophy Contests

Hounds owned by Robert F. Shockey, Meyersdale, Pa., won in both the 13 and 15 inch classes in the fourth of a series of sanctioned trophy trials held Sunday by the Allegany Beagle Club at the club grounds on the Barton Dairy Farm, Pinto.

Field Champion Geisel's Sally was adjudged the winner in the 15 inch class and Merry Run Robin was selected as tops in the 13 inch class.

Bad weather caused the entries to be small and also made trailing conditions difficult for the hounds.

James Roush of Williamsburg, Pa., judged both classes.

The results:

15 INCH CLASS:

1. Field Champion Geisel's Sally; R. F. Shockey, owner.
2. Mad Cap Princess; Dr. H. C. Diehl, owner.
3. Wolver Trinket; R. L. Spiker, owner.
4. Forger's Indicator; John R. Armstrong, owner.

Reserve: Wing Ridge Benjamin; R. L. Spiker, owner.

13 INCH CLASS:

1. Merry Run Robin; R. F. Shockey, owner.
2. J W F Soney Boy; Jacob Parker, owner.
3. Kenwood Lad; Dr. H. C. Diehl, owner.
4. Geisel's Brownie; R. F. Shockey, owner.

Reserve: Julia Harrah; Jacob Parker, owner.

Marion Undergoes Operation On Knee

ST. LOUIS, Dec. 18 (INS)—Marty Marion, newly-appointed manager of the St. Louis Cardinals, was reported in "very good" condition today by doctors who removed an injured cartilage from the veteran shortstop's right knee this morning.

Dr. I. C. Middleman, who performed the 45-minute operation along with Dr. J. A. Key at St. Louis' Jewish Hospital said:

"I think he'll be able to play and use that knee."

The doctor added that the major league's youngest manager would be "home in five or six days in time for Christmas."

Slaughter Of Cards Is Sued For Divorce

ST. LOUIS, Dec. 18 (AP)—Enos Slaughter of the St. Louis Cardinals was sued for divorce today. His wife, Mrs. Mary Kathryn Slaughter, charged "indignities amounting to cruelty."

She alleged he has been quarrelsome, nagging and abusive, threatened her with physical violence and has kept her in a state of fear and anxiety.

Paw Paw High And Explorers To Clash Here

Fort Hill To Invade Moorefield; Beall Host To Piedmont

LaSalle High School is favored to register its third straight victory of the season tonight when it meets Paw Paw High School's Mountaineers on SS. Peter and Paul court at 8 o'clock.

Bob Pence and Ray Hull will officiate.

Paw Paw launched its 1950-51 campaign under a new coach, Bob Hartman, graduate of Moorefield High School and George Washington University, and has lost its first two starts to Fort Ashby's Eagles and Hedgesville.

Coach Art Slocum's Explorers have defeated Bruce, 39-22 and Beall 29-24.

Fort Hill's Sentinels are scheduled to invade Hardy County, W. Va., for an engagement with Johnny Paugh's Moorefield High School Yellow Jackets. It will be the only meeting of these schools this season.

Coach "Bobby" Cavanaugh's outfit defeated Davis 69-21 and Hagerstown 53-41 while Moorefield has spilled Mathias, 61-27 and Franklin 59-39.

A pair of Potomac Valley Conference games also are on tap tonight with Mathias playing host to Walt Owens' Petersburg Vikings and John Shelton's Keyser High team making its 1950-51 debut by playing Paul Kalbaugh's Elk Garden Elks in Keyser.

Defeated by LaSalle and Ridgeley, the Beall High Mountaineers will make a third try to crash the win column when they tackle "Huck" Miers' Piedmont High Lions (3-1) at Frostburg.

Woody Woodson's Bruce High floormen need a win to crash the .500 class and they hope to get it tonight when they play Kitzmiller High of Garrett county in Westernport. Bruce holds a decision over Elk Garden but lost to LaSalle and Fort Ashby.

Romney High School invades Morgantown tonight to tangle with Homer Fizer's University High School quint.

Other games on tonight's slate include:

Kasson at Parsons.
Oakland at Bayard.
Davis at Terra Alta.
Franklin at Monterey (Va.).
Berkeley Springs at Wardensville.
Musselman at Capon Bridge.

State Invades Beckley

Potomac State will play its second game of a three-day road trip at Beckley, meeting Beckley College. The Catamounts played Concord at Athens, W. Va., last night and will battle Bluefield College on Wednesday.

North Carolina State Tops Michigan, 65-62

RALEIGH, N. C., Dec. 18 (AP) — North Carolina State College's basketball team remained undefeated tonight by whipping Michigan, 65-62, in a rough, nip and tuck game that required an overtime period.

The regular game ended at 58-all after the score had been tied nine times.

By C. V. BURNS

During his visit to Pittsburgh last week to referee the George Pepperdine (Los Angeles) College-Duquesne University basketball game, which the latter won 84-50, Clifton Van Roby had quite a lengthy conversation with Coach R. L. Dowell of the Pacific Coast quint and Meyer "Buck" Gefsky, one-time star of the Coffey Club, crack Pittsburgh pro quint that functioned in the 1920s and met the Keyser (W. Va.) Collegians a number of times.

Gefsky, who is now assistant vice president of the Washington Trust Company, Pittsburgh, and a Duquesne rooter, rehashed many happening of the days when the Coffey Club and Second Story Morrys used to tackle Keyser.

We recall those days, especially the season the Collegians stopped over in Pittsburgh and hung it on the Morrys and Coffeys on successive nights. That was considered quite a feat.

"Buck" remembered Robert "Red" Gibson and Art Slocum, now LaSalle High coach, who played for Blake G. "Spooks" Lytle's team at Keyser. Other Collegians were Dyke Shaffer, Monty Montgomery, Walter Hoyt, George Parrish, Bob Bosley, "Mac" MacFayden, "Peck" Lee and "Lefty" Baggaley.

In 1951 for the first time in Maryland a special open season for deer hunting will be set for the bow and arrow hunters. It will be for three days and will start the Monday following the close of the regular deer season.

The bow and arrow season will be confined to Baltimore County, which has no regular open deer season for gunners.

It was selected because there is a deer population that needs some trimming.

There will be no special license required for bow and arrow shooters but regulations as to hours, etc., may be drawn up.

Wheeling's passwork in Sunday night's game was one of the best exhibitions we've ever seen in a league contest here.

The Blues really moved that ball fast and they pulled a lot of hocus pocus stuff inside the foul circle, completely bewildering the locals. It was really a dazzling display of ball-handling.

"Chick" Davies, A-A League commissioner, announces the Johnstown Clippers have lodged a protest over a dispute which revolved around the 3-minute rule interpretation in a game with Beaver Falls last Thursday on the Tommies' court. Beaver Falls won the heated battle, 50-48.

Ben Jones, Calumet trainer, will announce he has the horses to win, place and show in the Kentucky Derby, the Preakness and the Belmont.

Rocky Graziano, middleweight stylist, will box rings around Ray Robinson to take an unanimous ten-round decision.

And many other rib ticklers.

Williams Would Play Pro Football Unless He Gets Radio Offer

BALTIMORE, Dec. 18 (AP)—Bob Williams, Notre Dame's All-America back, said today he would like to play professional football unless he gets a good offer to do radio broadcasting.

Williams, a native Baltimorean, told the News-Post "sure I would like to play with the pros if the offer is good. If I got a radio broadcasting offer right away that indicated a good future, I might not play."

He added he's had only "feelers" from radio.

Williams said it "makes little difference" which club he would play with. The Baltimore Colts are due to have first draft choice in the National Football League next year for having lost the most games this season.

Williams, who fractured two vertebraes in the season's finale against Southern California, said he expects to be fully recovered in two weeks.

VMI Gives Nugent 3-Year Contract

LEXINGTON, Va., Dec. 18 (AP)—A proposed new three-year contract for Tom Nugent, head football coach at Virginia Military Institute, was approved today by Major General Richard J. Marshall, superintendent of the institute.

The new contract, not yet drafted formally, also includes a raise in pay for Nugent, whose team this year won six games and lost four.

The athletic council of V.M.I. last week proposed that the contract be offered Nugent to supersede his current contract, which expires after the 1951 football season.

Nugent said today it was "very reassuring to know that the folks at V.M.I. have that kind of confidence in me."

"I told her how I voted and I gave my reasons. Mother agreed I had done the right thing and my vote stands as is. I have told nobody else, not even Frank Lane (Sox general manager), how I voted."

Hearn, Maglie Topped National League Hurlers

Jim's Average 2.49; Sal Won 18, Lost 4

BY HOWARD SIGMAND

NEW YORK, Dec. 18 (INS)—Jim Hearn, a $10,000 bargain basement special, and Sal Maglie, a reinstated Mexican jumping bean, provided the New York Giants with the top one-two pitching punch in the National League in 1950.

The official hurling data released today places Hearn as the top man in the league's earned-run-average department and second to Maglie in the won-and-lost percentage department. To round it out, Maglie came in second in the era column.

Jim Hearn

Sal Maglie

Hearn, the big righthander Eddie Dyer and the St. Louis Cardinals gave up to Leo Durocher for the waiver pittance last July, had an earned-run percentage of 2.49. This was a shade better than the 2.50 winning effort of New York's Dave Koslo in 1949.

Big Jim started 16 times, worked 134 innings, completed 11 games and ended up with a record of 11 wins and 4 losses, a .733 percentage.

Maglie was another pleasant surprise to the Giants. The 33-year-old righty was relegated to the bullpen when he rejoined the club following his reinstatement by the commissioner. When he was made a starter the curve ball artist really showed his stuff.

Maglie Won 18, Lost 4

Sal finished up with a won and lost mark of 18-4 for a percentage of .818. He had an era mark of 2.71 and had the longest streak enjoyed by any of the National League flingers, 11 straight wins.

Maglie and Hearn also tied with Larry Jansen and Robin Roberts for the shutout leadership. Each threw five blank games.

Cincinnati's Ewell Blackwell was third in earned-runs with a mark of 2.07 and Jansen of the Giants was fourth with 3.01.

Three pitchers got into the 20-game winner circle. Tobacco-chewing Johnny Sain reversed his 10-17 showing of '49 by winning 20 while losing 13. It was the fourth time in his career that John has been in the "20" club. Warren Spahn, the southpaw side of Boston's mound twins, won 21 and lost 17, for his third 20-game season.

Spahn had the most wins in the league and led in strikeouts for the second successive year with 191.

Young Robin Roberts of the champion Phillies got into the 20-game class on the last day of the season when he beat the Dodgers and won the pennant for the Whiz Kids. He was the first Phillie pitcher to win 20 games since the late Grover Cleveland Alexander turned the trick in 1915. Private Curt Simmons (17-8) was third in percentage with .680.

Pitched In 74 Games

A modern major league record for pitchers was established by Casimir "Jim" Konstanty, the rubber-armed blood and guts of the Phils. Jim appeared in 74 games, breaking the old mark of 70 held by Ace Adams of the Giants. Konstanty also had a 16-7 won-lost record.

Boston's Vern Bickford, who recorded the only no-hitter of the season, also pitched the most complete games, 27, hurled the most innings, 312, and faced the most batsmen, 1325. He won 19 games.

Bickford tied Roberts and Spahn for the most games started, 39.

The wild men in the league were Cincinnati's Blackwell and Herm Wehmeier. They tied for committing the most wild pitches, 11.

Wehmeier walked the most men, 135 and Blackwell hit the most men, 13. Herman had the dubious distinction of allowing the most runs, 157 and the most earned runs, 145.

Sain gave up the most base hits, 294.

Rush Lost 20 Games

Chicago's Bob Rush gained the unwanted honor of losing the most games. He dropped 20. And the big fellow "boasted" the longest losing streak of the season, 8 straight.

The Phillies were tops in team pitching with an earned-run mark of 3.50. The Giants were second with 3.71.

Martinis Take Lead In SERC Mixed Loop

The Martinis took over first place in the South End Republican Club Mixed Bowling League by winning three games from the Pink Ladies.

The Manhattans scored a 2-1 win over the Old-Fashions and the High Balls swept three from the Whiskey Sours.

Concord Whips Potomac State

ATHENS, W. Va., Dec. 18 (AP) — Concord College won its first basketball game in four starts this season by downing Potomac State 79-69 tonight in a state conference tilt.

Concord, paced by Center Bob Marrs with 21 points, led all the way. Kaldy, also a center, was high for Potomac with 17.

The victory gave Concord a conference record of 1-3 and dropped Potomac to a 2-2 mark. Quarters:

Accident High Loses Close Contest, 55-51

ACCIDENT, Md., Dec. 18—Accident High School gave undefeated Central High School of Lonaconing a hard battle here tonight before losing out by the score of 55 to 51.

The local Class "C" school held the Tigers to a 27-26 score at halftime but a 20-point rally decided the issue in the third stanza. Accident outscored the visitors in the second and final quarters.

The victory was Central's 5th in a row.

Kenneth Burt led the winners in scoring with nine fielders and 20 points. Paul Hone was the "big gun" for Accident with seven field goals and 16 tallies.

Central was outscored from the field, 24-23, but held a 9-3 advantage at the foul line.

Central High's junior varsity cagers defeated Accident's Jayvees in the opener, 34-19. Robertson led CHS with nine points and Darius Georg headed the locals with five markers.

Henrich Quits As Player, Signs As Yankees' Coach

Chronic Knee Ailment Ends Playing Career

NEW YORK, Dec. 18 (INS)—Tommy Henrich, one of the top clutch players in modern-day baseball, ended his active playing career today by signing as a coach with the New York Yankees.

The famous "old reliable" outfielder-first baseman of the world champions decided to forego any further attempts at playing under the strain of a chronic ailment in his left knee.

Henrich, who received approximately $40,000 for his part-time services last season, will get considerably less as a coach. The baseball law which prohibits more than a 25 per cent cut in salary does not apply to players who go from the active to the inactive list.

Tommy, who will be 35-years-old in a couple of months, has been considered managerial timber by the Yankee high brass. He was offered a post as manager of one of the Yankee farm teams but declined, stating that he felt he wanted another whirl as a player before turning in his glove.

He consulted Dr. George Bennett at Johns Hopkins Hospital in Baltimore recently and was advised that further operations on his knee would have little or no effect on his ability to move around in every day activity as a player.

Henrich came to the Yankees in 1937 from Newark and starred in the outfield with Charley Keller and Joe DiMaggio. With the exception of three-year stint with the U. S. Coast Guard, Henrich spent 11 seasons with the Bombers.

TOMMY HENRICH

Tommy was a steady, .280 hitter throughout his career and his sparkling play under pressure earned him the nickname "old reliable."

Last season Henrich was only able to participate in 73 games. He batted .272, getting 41 hits in 151 times at bat.

He missed what would have been his fifth world series when the Yankees got permission to use Johnny Hopp in his stead.

Kentucky Given No. 1 Rating In College Basketball Poll

Bradley Placed 2nd Followed By Indiana And Oklahoma Aggies

By JACK HAND

NEW YORK, Dec. 18 (AP)—Unbeaten Kentucky, a stunning 68-39 winner over Kansas, is No. 1 college basketball team in the nation, according to the first Associated Press poll of the season.

Five straight wins convinced 93 of 165 sports writers and sportscasters that Coach Adolph Rupp's unbeaten Wildcats are tops at this stage of the campaign. Their point total of 1,451 was some 150 better than runnerup Bradley, last year's regular season poll winner.

Bradley and North Carolina State, winners of six straight through Saturday's games, each received 20 first place votes. Bradley took second position on points, 1,302 to 1,105.

CCNY Is Rated Sixth

Indiana and Oklahoma Aggies, another pair of unbeaten clubs, followed next in order. City College of New York, which won both the NCAA and Invitational Tournaments last spring, was sixth. CCNY was upset by Missouri.

Then came Long Island University, unbeaten in three starts, Missouri, UCLA and Toledo. Toledo. Toledo has shown surprising strength in knocking off Illinois, Denver, Niagara and Texas Tech.

Next test for Kentucky's powerhouse comes against St. John's of Brooklyn at the Garden Saturday night.

Bradley, piling up big scores in a fast start, bumps against UCLA tomorrow night, while North Carolina State, a 22-point road winner over Temple Saturday, played Michigan tonight and faces Villanova Wednesday before its Dixie Classic tournament.

Indiana Meets Irish

Indiana, with four in a row, meets Notre Dame and Butler this week while the Oklahoma Aggies tour the Far West for tough road tests with California, Southern California and Loyola.

City College, soundly thumped by Missouri, plays an Oklahoma team that has won decisively from SMU, Texas and Minnesota. Long Island, figured to be one of the nation's powerhouse clubs, met Cortland Teachers tonight. The Blackbirds date with UCLA Thursday should be one of the week's high spots.

Since Missouri lost to Washington of St. Louis in its opener, the club has swept three in a row. After Arkansas tonight they are idle until the Big Seven tournament next week.

UCLA Faces Road Tests

UCLA, beaten only by Oregon so far, plays Bradley, Long Island and Iowa all on the road this week. Toledo takes on Miami and Eastern Kentucky, which lost to North Carolina State by only one point in overtime.

The leaders with first place votes and records through Saturday in parentheses (points figured on 10-9-8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1 basis:

"Ike" Williams Decisions Cruz

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 18—(INS)—Lightweight Champion Ike Williams won a unanimous ten-round decision tonight in an over-the-weight bout against Rudy Cruz, Purple Heart veteran from Los Angeles.

A small crowd of 3,618 fans at the Philadelphia Arena viewed the dull, rather listless fight, which was Williams' all the way.

The referee scored it nine rounds for Williams and one even. One judge scored it 8-2 Williams and the other had it 7-2-1 in favor of the champion.

Williams weighed 144, Cruz scaled 138.

West Virginia Wins Over Deacons, 69-63

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., Dec. 18 (AP) — Sophomore guard Ken Alessi led unbeaten West Virginia University to a 69-63 victory over Wake Forest tonight in a close, often-tied Southern Conference basketball game.

The score was tied four times early in the first half, but West Virginia pulled ahead to lead the Deacons 32-29 at half time. The Mountaineers grabbed their biggest lead of the game early in the second half when successive field goals by Jim Coalter, Jim Scottile, and Mark Workman put them ahead 40-29.

But the Deacons closed the gap at 43-43 with six minutes gone in the half. It was tied at 45, 47, 49, 51, 52, and 54 before Alessi's field goal with 6:56 left in the game made it 56-54 and put West Virginia ahead to stay.

Wake Forest's six-foot, five-inch center, Alton McCotter, took scoring honors with 24 points, followed by Alessi's 23. Workman made 14 for West Virginia. Alessi was the standout of the game with an exhibition of smooth ball handling and playmaking.

Terps Win, 52-43

COLLEGE PARK, Md., Dec. 18 (AP)—Maryland's possession—minded basketball team, leading 18-15 after a slow first half, broke loose in the second half and coasted to a 52-43 victory over Washington and Lee tonight.

Captain Lee Brawley tallied 19 points to lead the Terps to their third straight triumph and fourth win in five college games.

Shockey Hounds Win Both Events At Beagle Trial

Cop 4th Of Series Of Trophy Contests

Hounds owned by Robert F. Shockey, Meyersdale, Pa., won in both the 13 and 15 inch classes in the fourth of a series of sanctioned trophy trials held Sunday by the Allegany Beagle Club at the club grounds on the Barton Dairy Farm, Pinto.

Field Champion Geisel's Sally was adjudged the winner in the 15 inch class and Merry Run Robin was selected as tops in the 13 inch class.

Bad weather caused the entries to be small and also made trailing conditions difficult for the hounds.

James Roush of Williamsburg, Pa., judged both classes.

The results:

15 INCH CLASS:
1. Field Champion Geisel's Sally; R. F. Shockey, owner.
2. Mad Cap Princess; Dr. H. C. Diehl, owner.
3. Wolver Trinket; R. L. Spiker, owner.
4. Forger's Indicator; John R. Armstrong, owner.
Reserve: Wing Ridge Benjamin; R. L. Spiker, owner.

13 INCH CLASS:
1. Merry Run Robin; R. F. Shockey, owner.
2. J W F Soney Boy; Jacob Parker, owner.
3. Kenwood Lad; Dr. H. C. Diehl, owner.
4. Geisel's Brownie; R. F. Shockey, owner.

Marion Undergoes Operation On Knee

ST. LOUIS, Dec. 18 (INS)—Marty Marion, newly-appointed manager of the St. Louis Cardinals, was reported in "very good" condition today by doctors who removed an injured cartilage from the veteran shortstop's right knee this morning.

Dr. I. C. Middleman, who performed the 45-minute operation along with Dr. J. A. Key at St. Louis' Jewish Hospital said:

"I think he'll be able to play and use that knee."

The doctor added that the major league's youngest manager would be "home in five or six days in time for Christmas."

ST. LOUIS, Dec. 18 (AP)—Enos Slaughter of the St. Louis Cardinals was sued for divorce today. His wife, Mrs. Mary Kathryn Slaughter, charged "indignities amounting to cruelty."

She alleged he has been quarrelsome, nagging and abusive, threatened her with physical violence and has kept her in a state of fear and anxiety.

Paw Paw High And Explorers To Clash Here

Fort Hill To Invade Moorefield; Beall Host To Piedmont

LaSalle High School is favored to register its third straight victory of the season tonight when it meets Paw Paw High School's Mountaineers on SS. Peter and Paul court at 8 o'clock.

Bob Pence and Ray Hull will officiate.

Paw Paw launched its 1950-51 campaign under a new coach, Bob Hartman, graduate of Moorefield High School and George Washington University, and has lost its first two starts to Fort Ashby's Eagles and Hedgesville.

Coach Art Slocum's Explorers have defeated Bruce, 39-22 and Beall 29-24.

Fort Hill's Sentinels are scheduled to invade Hardy County, W. Va., for an engagement with Johnny Paugh's Moorefield High School Yellow Jackets. It will be the only meeting of these schools this season.

Coach "Bobby" Cavanaugh's outfit defeated Davis 69-21 and Hagerstown 53-41 while Moorefield has spilled Mathias, 61-27 and Franklin 59-39.

A pair of Potomac Valley Conference games also are on tap tonight with Mathias playing host to Walt Owens' Petersburg Vikings and John Shelton's Keyser High team making its 1950-51 debut by playing Paul Kalbaugh's Elk Garden Elks in Keyser.

Defeated by LaSalle and Ridgeley, the Beall High Mountaineers will make a third try to crash the win column when they tackle "Huck" Miers' Piedmont High Lions (3-1) at Frostburg.

Woody Woodson's Bruce High floormen need a win to crash the .500 class and they hope to get it tonight when they play Kitzmiller High of Garrett county in Westernport. Bruce holds a decision over Elk Garden but lost to LaSalle and Fort Ashby.

Romney High School invades Morgantown tonight to tangle with Homer Fizer's University High School quint.

Other games on tonight's slate include:

Kasson at Parsons.
Oakland at Bayard.
Davis at Terra Alta.
Franklin at Monterey (Va.).
Berkeley Springs at Wardensville.
Musselman at Capon Bridge.

State Invades Beckley

Potomac State will play its second game of a three-day road trip at Beckley, meeting Beckley College. The Catamounts played Concord at Athens, W. Va., last night and will battle Bluefield College on Wednesday.

North Carolina State Tops Michigan, 65-62

RALEIGH, N. C., Dec. 18 (AP) — North Carolina State College's basketball team remained undefeated tonight by whipping Michigan, 65-62, in a rough, nip and tuck game that required an overtime period.

The regular game ended at 58-all after the score had been tied nine times.

Scores In Sixth At Tropical Park

MIAMI, Fla., Dec. 18 (AP)—Badger, making his first start of the winter, reeled to an impressive victory in the featured sixth race at Tropical Park today, rewarding his backers at $22, $9.40 and $4.10.

Ridden by Ken Church, the son of Blue Larkspur got away flying, and was in front all the way, finishing four lengths in advance of Brown Hotel Stable's Grass Fire, which ran coupled with Snuzzle. He put in a swift 5½ furlongs, clocked in 1.05 3-5.

The big disappointment in the race was the recent winner, Spunky, from Mrs. E. F. Simms' Stable. He had won his previous outing here with ease, but this time he could not get the lead, and finished a dull third, a nose back of Grass Fire.

Eleven two-year-olds went to the post. The start was termed poor. Reigh's Double was practically left and finished a good fifth. Badger, owned by Valley View Farm, had met slightly keener opposition in New York where he made his last start in October.

A crowd of 6,861 most of whom were bundled in overcoats, braved the cold weather to witness the nine-race program.

Apprentice John Nazareth, a New York-born newcomer, became the first rider of the meeting to sweep both ends of the daily double, worth $35.30. He took the opener on Prim Pupil, $10.80, and the second with Little Tony, $4.40. This was Little Tony's seventh straight victory.

Cancels Assignments

MIAMI, Fla., Dec. 18 (AP)—Jockey Joe Culmone cancelled his riding assignment today to rest up from the hard fall of Saturday which interrupted his assault on Walter Miller's all-time riding record set in 1906.

Culmone's bruised head and body were sore and his muscles strained after the two-horse spill at Tropical Park which sent him to Jackson Memorial Hospital for a day.

Gardner May Fight La Starza Or Brion

LONDON, Dec. 18 (AP) — Jack Gardner, the newly crowned British Empire heavyweight champion, may make his next fight here against either Roland La Starza of New York or Cesar Brion of Argentina.

Sam Burns, business manager for Promoter Jack Solomons, said today he will send terms of both of the young contenders for a 10-round bout at Earls Court Arena, March 27.

Gardner won his title at Earls Court by stopping Bruce Woodcock in 11 rounds last month.

Badger Wins, Returns $22

Scores In Sixth At Tropical Park

MIAMI, Fla., Dec. 18 (AP)—Badger, making his first start of the winter, reeled to an impressive victory in the featured sixth race at Tropical Park today, rewarding his backers at $22, $9.40 and $4.10.

Ridden by Ken Church, the son of Blue Larkspur got away flying, and was in front all the way, finishing four lengths in advance of Brown Hotel Stable's Grass Fire, which ran coupled with Snuzzle. He put in a swift 5½ furlongs, clocked in 1.05 3-5.

The big disappointment in the race was the recent winner, Spunky, from Mrs. E. F. Simms' Stable. He had won his previous outing here with ease, but this time he could not get the lead, and finished a dull third, a nose back of Grass Fire.

Eleven two-year-olds went to the post. The start was termed poor. Reigh's Double was practically left and finished a good fifth. Badger, owned by Valley View Farm, had met slightly keener opposition in New York where he made his last start in October.

A crowd of 6,861 most of whom were bundled in overcoats, braved the cold weather to witness the nine-race program.

Apprentice John Nazareth, a New York-born newcomer, became the first rider of the meeting to sweep both ends of the daily double, worth $35.30. He took the opener on Prim Pupil, $10.80, and the second with Little Tony, $4.40. This was Little Tony's seventh straight victory.

Cancels Assignments

MIAMI, Fla., Dec. 18 (AP)—Jockey Joe Culmone cancelled his riding assignment today to rest up from the hard fall of Saturday which interrupted his assault on Walter Miller's all-time riding record set in 1906.

Culmone's bruised head and body were sore and his muscles strained after the two-horse spill at Tropical Park which sent him to Jackson Memorial Hospital for a day.

Gardner May Fight La Starza Or Brion

LONDON, Dec. 18 (AP) — Jack Gardner, the newly crowned British Empire heavyweight champion, may make his next fight here against either Roland La Starza of New York or Cesar Brion of Argentina.

Sam Burns, business manager for Promoter Jack Solomons, said today he will send terms of both of the young contenders for a 10-round bout at Earls Court Arena, March 27.

Gardner won his title at Earls Court by stopping Bruce Woodcock in 11 rounds last month.

Badger Wins, Returns $22

Scores In Sixth At Tropical Park

MIAMI, Fla., Dec. 18 (AP)—Badger, making his first start of the winter, reeled to an impressive victory in the featured sixth race at Tropical Park today, rewarding his backers at $22, $9.40 and $4.10.

Ridden by Ken Church, the son of Blue Larkspur got away flying, and was in front all the way, finishing four lengths in advance of Brown Hotel Stable's Grass Fire, which ran coupled with Snuzzle. He put in a swift 5½ furlongs, clocked in 1.05 3-5.

The big disappointment in the race was the recent winner, Spunky, from Mrs. E. F. Simms' Stable. He had won his previous outing here with ease, but this time he could not get the lead, and finished a dull third, a nose back of Grass Fire.

Eleven two-year-olds went to the post. The start was termed poor. Reigh's Double was practically left and finished a good fifth. Badger, owned by Valley View Farm, had met slightly keener opposition in New York where he made his last start in October.

A crowd of 6,861 most of whom were bundled in overcoats, braved the cold weather to witness the nine-race program.

Apprentice John Nazareth, a New York-born newcomer, became the first rider of the meeting to sweep both ends of the daily double, worth $35.30. He took the opener on Prim Pupil, $10.80, and the second with Little Tony, $4.40. This was Little Tony's seventh straight victory.

Cancels Assignments

MIAMI, Fla., Dec. 18 (AP)—Jockey Joe Culmone cancelled his riding assignment today to rest up from the hard fall of Saturday which interrupted his assault on Walter Miller's all-time riding record set in 1906.

Culmone's bruised head and body were sore and his muscles strained after the two-horse spill at Tropical Park which sent him to Jackson Memorial Hospital for a day.

Gardner May Fight La Starza Or Brion

LONDON, Dec. 18 (AP) — Jack Gardner, the newly crowned British Empire heavyweight champion, may make his next fight here against either Roland La Starza of New York or Cesar Brion of Argentina.

Sam Burns, business manager for Promoter Jack Solomons, said today he will send terms of both of the young contenders for a 10-round bout at Earls Court Arena March 27.

Gardner won his title at Earls Court by stopping Bruce Woodcock in 11 rounds last month.

KEEPING UP WITH HOLLYWOOD

By LOUELLA PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 18—(INS)—Since the new outbreak of gangland slayings in Los Angeles, I've been sittin' and waitin' for the first call about a new movie on the subject. The "winnah"—Papa Herb Yates, of Republic, announces "Hoodlum Empire" based on our own Bob Considine's gangster exposes, plus the added material newly-compiled by Sen. Estes Kefauver.

• — • — •

I was interested to learn that Bob Considine leaves soon for Washington to huddle with Kefauver about the new angles uncovered by his Senate Crime Investigating Committee. Last year, Bob's punchy articles for International News Service attracted great attention.

Another INS big league writer, Inez Robb, just sold her article on girl gangs to RKO.

• — • — •

Good thing Evie and Van Johnson are having themselves a whirl in New York, because MGM's hardest working actor (Van, I mean) has to start "The Family Man" in January. He, Evie and the kids will have time for the holidays at Sun Valley, but no more than that before he begins this original by Ben Barzman.

Dore Schary liked the story so much he paid Barzman $40,000 although $10,000 is the price usually paid for originals. That's because several studios were bidding for it.

• — • — •

No economy that I could see on the MGM lot. I visited "An American In Paris" and was fascinated at the way its star Gene Kelly directed the colorful dances.

The backgrounds are reproductions on a huge scale of famous paintings in Paris by Utrillo, Lautrec and other French artists who painted the real Paris. I've never seen a more magnificent set than the reproduction of Dufy's Place De La Concorde.

Vincente Minnelli told me the dance sequence took seventeen and a half minutes, the longest any such scene has ever run.

I went from there to the "Show Boat" set, some distance from the studio. There a complete replica of a Mississippi show boat has been built.

• — • — •

Maureen O'Hara had a nasty scare at a zoo in Sydney, Australia, when she was clawed on the back by a nine-year-old koala bear.

She visited the zoo to take a look at the kangaroos. The keeper put the bear (supposedly tame) in her arms for a photograph and he became frightened and clawed her. The scratches and bite aren't serious enough for hospitalization, but the 20th Century-Fox crew for whom she and Peter Lawford are making the picture, "Kangaroo," are keeping watch in case of infection.

• — • — •

Here's good news for the "Blondie" fans. Your Dagwood—Arthur Lake, of course—is going to make a series of half hour "Blondie" films for television.

Sam Burkett, producer of the successful "Charlie Chan" series, has made the deal with Wynn Rocamora, Arthur's agent. The first film will be made in January at the Roach Studio.

Meanwhile, Arthur and Pat are in New York taking in the shows and talking business in their leisure time.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

Gloria de Haven has asked for police protection at her isolated Coldwater Canyon home. She thought she heard prowlers and wants to be protected in case they come around again.

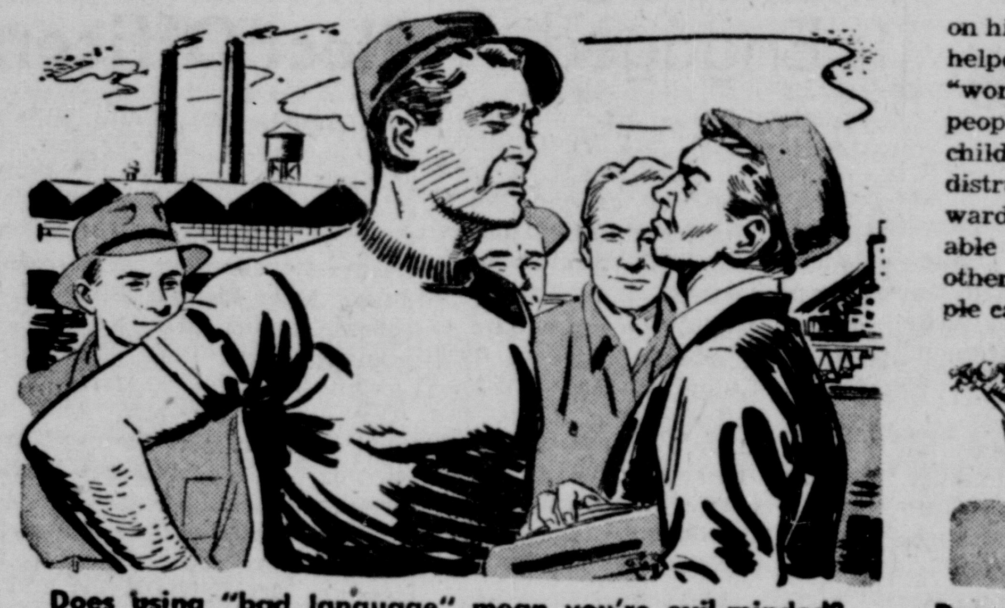
Maj. Robert De Haven, Howard Hughes' test pilot, planed out for New Orleans to see Connie Haines. When Connie goes to Chicago to keep a date during the holidays, the major will have his mother there to meet his fiancee for the first time.

Valentina Cortesa has been selected as mistress of ceremonies on the Voice of America show, piped to her native Italy on Christmas Day.

That's all today. See you tomorrow.

MIRROR OF YOUR MIND

By LAWRENCE GOULD
Consulting Psychologist



Does using "bad language" mean you're evil-minded?

Answer: Not necessarily. The man who includes a "four-letter word" in almost every sentence is not thinking about what the words mean; he is using them because they were forbidden to him as a child, and thus represent aggressive self-assertion and defiance of authority. This explains their frequent use by men who chafe under unaccustomed discipline or who would like to rebel against conditions which they know they can't change. They would get little or no "kick" out of using scientific terms that meant the same things.

Can we train citizens for a free world?

Answer: Yes, says Dr. Robert J. Havighurst, professor of education at Chicago University. But this involves making the student a certain sort of person rather than impressing certain facts or theories on his mind. Above all he must be helped to feel that he himself is a "worthy person" and that other people are as worthy as he is. A child brought up to belittle and distrust himself will not feel inwardly secure, and so will be unable to trust or cooperate with others. Only self-respecting people can be good neighbors.

Does modern psychiatry rest on a great discovery?

Answer: Yes, on a discovery that might be compared with Sir Isaac Newton's legendary observation of the falling apple. This is that—as Dr. Paul Bergman puts it in Psychiatry—"a person, without knowing it, can be influenced in the present by a part of his own past." If you are unreasonably jealous of your wife, for instance, it may be wholly or partially because your mother was "unfaithful" and gave her love to a younger baby. Or if you hate "Army brass," the feeling may grow out of memories of a stern father.

Baering Down On The News

I keep an open mind on everything but I've cancelled my all-night license. I don't understand how America can have so much and get so little.

The economists say there is just as much dough in the cruller as ever. Except the track is bigger around. And very little of your tax dollar goes past the grandstand.

The experts and the economists hand you a simple sum in complicated and statistical egg-white. They throw the yolks away.

Try And Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

Jerry Nedwick of Chicago says, "Knowing how you like corn" (Where did he get a notion like that?) "I'm passing on an old vaudeville routine used by Harry Vokes and Hap Ward back in 1902:

Where did you get those pants?
Pantsylvania.
The Coat?
North Dacoata.
The Vest?
Vest Virginia.
The collar?
Collarado.
The hat?
Manhattan.
The shirt?
A fellow gave it to me.

Voltaire was once euchered into penning a few words after the demise of an associate he loathed and detested. After several false starts, he contrived the following: "I am informed that Monsieur So-and-So has breathed his last. He was a sturdy patriot, a gifted writer, a loyal friend, and an affectionate husband and father—provided, of course, he actually is dead."

KEEPING UP WITH HOLLYWOOD
By LOUELLA PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 18—(INS)—Since the new outbreak of gangland slayings in Los Angeles, I've been sittin' and waitin' for the first call about a new movie on the subject. The "winnah"—Papa Herb Yates, of Republic, announces "Hoodlum Empire" based on our own Bob Considine's gangster exposes, plus the added material newly-compiled by Sen. Estes Kefauver.

• — • — •

I was interested to learn that Bob Considine leaves soon for Washington to huddle with Kefauver about the new angles uncovered by his Senate Crime Investigating Committee. Last year, Bob's punchy articles for International News Service attracted great attention.

Another INS big league writer, Inez Robb, just sold her article on girl gangs to RKO.

• — • — •

Good thing Evie and Van Johnson are having themselves a whirl in New York, because MGM's hardest working actor (Van, I mean) has to start "The Family Man" in January. He, Evie and the kids will have time for the holidays at Sun Valley, but no more than that before he begins this original by Ben Barzman.

Dore Schary liked the story so much he paid Barzman $40,000 although $10,000 is the price usually paid for originals. That's because several studios were bidding for it.

• — • — •

No economy that I could see on the MGM lot. I visited "An American In Paris" and was fascinated at the way its star Gene Kelly directed the colorful dances.

The backgrounds are reproductions on a huge scale of famous paintings in Paris by Utrillo, Lautrec and other French artists who painted the real Paris. I've never seen a more magnificent set than the reproduction of Dufy's Place De La Concorde.

Vincente Minnelli told me the dance sequence took seventeen and a half minutes, the longest any such scene has ever run.

I went from there to the "Show Boat" set, some distance from the studio. There a complete replica of a Mississippi show boat has been built.

• — • — •

Maureen O'Hara had a nasty scare at a zoo in Sydney, Australia, when she was clawed on the back by a nine-year-old koala bear.

She visited the zoo to take a look at the kangaroos. The keeper put the bear (supposedly tame) in her arms for a photograph and he became frightened and clawed her. The scratches and bite aren't serious enough for hospitalization, but the 20th Century-Fox crew for whom she and Peter Lawford are making the picture, "Kangaroo," are keeping watch in case of infection.

• — • — •

Here's good news for the "Blondie" fans. Your Dagwood—Arthur Lake, of course—is going to make a series of half hour "Blondie" films for television.

Sam Burkett, producer of the successful "Charlie Chan" series, has made the deal with Wynn Rocamora, Arthur's agent. The first film will be made in January at the Roach Studio.

Meanwhile, Arthur and Pat are in New York taking in the shows and talking business in their leisure time.

• — • — •

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

Gloria de Haven has asked for police protection at her isolated Coldwater Canyon home. She thought she heard prowlers and wants to be protected in case they come around again.

Maj. Robert De Haven, Howard Hughes' test pilot, planed out for New Orleans to see Connie Haines. When Connie goes to Chicago to keep a date during the holidays, the major will have his mother there to meet his fiancee for the first time.

Valentina Cortesa has been selected as mistress of ceremonies on the Voice of America show, piped to her native Italy on Christmas Day.

That's all today. See you tomorrow.

MIRROR OF YOUR MIND

By LAWRENCE GOULD
Consulting Psychologist

Does using "bad language" mean you're evil-minded?

Answer: Not necessarily. The man who includes a "four-letter word" in almost every sentence is not thinking about what the words mean; he is using them because they were forbidden to him as a child, and thus represent aggressive self-assertion and defiance of authority. This explains their frequent use by men who chafe under unaccustomed discipline or who would like to rebel against conditions which they know they can't change. They would get little or no "kick" out of using scientific terms that meant the same things.

Can we train citizens for a free world?

Answer: Yes, says Dr. Robert J. Havighurst, professor of education at Chicago University. But this involves making the student a certain sort of person rather than impressing certain facts or theories on his mind. Above all he must be helped to feel that he himself is a "worthy person" and that other people are as worthy as he is. A child brought up to belittle and distrust himself will not feel inwardly secure, and so will be unable to trust or cooperate with others. Only self-respecting people can be good neighbors.

Does modern psychiatry rest on a great discovery?

Answer: Yes, on a discovery that might be compared with Sir Isaac Newton's legendary observation of the falling apple. This is that—as Dr. Paul Bergman puts it in Psychiatry—"a person, without knowing it, can be influenced in the present by a part of his own past." If you are unreasonably jealous of your wife, for instance, it may be wholly or partially because your mother was "unfaithful" and gave her love to a younger baby. Or if you hate "Army brass," the feeling may grow out of memories of a stern father.

Voltaire was once euchered into penning a few words after the demise of an associate he loathed and detested. After several false starts, he contrived the following: "I am informed that Monsieur So-and-So has breathed his last. He was a sturdy patriot, a gifted writer, a loyal friend, and an affectionate husband and father—provided, of course, he actually is dead."

Lonaconing Groups Plan Yule Program

Homes To Be Judged For Decorations

LONACONING — The traditional Christmas spirit pervailed in the community Saturday evening with Santa Claus's arrival, caroling, music by the Lonaconing city band and movies.

Mayor Burt, chairman of the Community Decorating committee, announces that the best decorated homes will be judged this Yule season again with prizes of $20, $10 and $5.

Preparations were made Sunday at the Lonaconing Republican Club for the Community Christmas treat planned for Thursday afternoon at the San Toy theatre. A free movie for the children will be held Thursday at 2:30 p. m.

A play, "What's Christmas?" will be presented at Central High School Wednesday at 2 p. m.

Principal R. O. McCullough will give his Christmas greetings. Carols will be sung by the mixed chorus. Patsy Amoruso will present "Christmas Everywhere".

"What's Christmas?" will be heralded by Marion Hadley. William McElvie will give "Scrooge's Questions" and Gene Reiber will give "His Nephew Replies". "The Poet's Belief" will be presented by Betty Powell and Kathleen Wilson.

"Joy to The World" will be sung by the entire assembly. Margaret Loar will be leader for the choral reading, "The Christmas Story." "Largo," Jeannette, Isabella" will be sung by the Mixed Chorus."

"Adeste Fideles" will be sung by the assembly and Marion Hadley will present "The Holy Tree". The school octet group will sing "Adoramus Te Gloria Patri". "Pastorale Scene" will be by Patty Ann Davis; "Holly and Mistletoe" by Arra Marie Bishop; "I Know That My Redeemer Liveth" by Dorothy Ann Marshall; "When the Bells Chimed" by Marion Hadley.

In "The Nativity", Mary will be enacted by Margaret Ann Dilfer and Joseph by Don Fint. "Silent Night" will be recessional song. Miss Daisy Cline is directing dramatics and Joseph L. Derry, music.

On Thursday the Junior High will hold its Christmas assembly program and on Friday morning the Elementary department will present a holiday program.

Jackson School pupils will be given their annual treat by the Parent-Teachers association Friday morning.

A jingle party will be held Wednesday evening at the Adam Thompson Rebecah lodge at the I.O.O.F. hall.

A Christmas cantata, "Music of Christmas" will be presented Sunday evening at the First Presbyterian church by the Adult Choir.

Tri-Towns Scouters To Meet Wednesday

WESTERNPORT — Tri-Towns District Scouters will meet Wednesday at 7:30 p. m. at Odd Fellow's Hall.

Reports will be given on recent scouting events and plans made for the annual observance of Scout Week in the Tri-Towns in February.

Plans for the annual Co-ed trip to Bethesda will be outlined.

Attends Meeting

FROSTBURG — Miss Irene L. Kirkeby, head of the department of Romance languages at Frostburg State Teachers College spent the weekend in Washington, attending a meeting of the American Association of Teachers of French.

For Rent — Three room unfurnished apartment, private bath and entrance. 125 Mt. Pleasant Street, Frostburg.

Midland School To Present Play

MIDLAND—The pupils of Midland Elementary School will present a Christmas operetta "Heigh-ho Holly" Thursday at 8 p. m. in the school auditorium.

The operetta is a story of a typical American family who discuss their many Christmas celebrations of the past and is interspersed with a little comedy. Father is expecting an important phone call from a daughter who is coming to visit the family while the other daughter has the phone tied up in a conversation with the boy friend. In the meantime the family talks over old times and Christmas carolers come calling.

A total of 154 students will have speaking and singing rolls in the operatta with 11 principal speaking roles and a total of nine choruses.

The rhythm band which is composed of the pupils in the second grade under the direction of Mrs. W. Marshall Fatkin will play several numbers during the production.

Mrs. Earl Smith, Mrs. Fred Bowden and Miss Mary Francis Comer, members of the school faculty, are directing the play, and the public is invited to attend.

Miss Comer To Be Wed

FROSTBURG—Miss Mary Frances Comer, 116 Center Street, has selected Tuesday evening, December 26, for her marriage to Joseph P. Martirano, Eckhart.

The ceremony will be performed in St. Michael's Church by Rev. Robert Hopkins, assistant pastor of St. Mary's Catholic Church, Cumberland.

The bride-elect has chosen Miss Mary Therese Spearman as her maid of honor and only attendant. Francis Gauido will serve as best man for Martirano. Lionel Norris and William Martirano, brother of the prospective bridegoom, will be ushers.

Miss Comer and Martirano are graduates of Frostburg State Teachers' College. The former is a member of the Midland School faculty and Martirano of the Beall Elementary School faculty.

Frostburg Lions Hold Yule Party

FROSTBURG — Holiday decorations emphasizing the Christmas theme, arranged by Alfreda Smith, Madeline Thomas, Connie Goebels and Ann Workman, was a feature of the annual Ladies Night Christmas party of the Frostburg Lions Club.

Preceding the dinner, there was group singing directed by Darrell Zeller and an invocation by Alex G. Close. Mrs. Close made the welcoming address, her topic being "Your Christmas and You."

Other numbers on the program, arranged by Mrs. Marie Holmes, included a piano duet by Mrs. Jesse Jacobs and her daughter, Ruth. Mrs. Oren Lemmert spoke on "What Christmas Means to Me," Christmas songs by a trio consisting of Violet Barclay, Charlotte Zeller and Louise Grimm; a Christmas musical quiz, with Eleanor Klinkhammer as narrator, Violet Barclay, pianist and Charlotte Zeller, quizmaster. The closing address was given by Louise Lemmert followed by group singing under directions of Neva Loar.

Each lady attending was presented with a corsage and a necktie was presented to each Lion by his wife.

District Governor Alvin Yaste, Cumberland and Mrs. Yaste were presented to the club by Pinkney Holmes, club president. Other guests were Mrs. William Dolder and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Ewing.

Frostburg Sportsmen To Hold Yule Party

FROSTBURG—The Ladies Auxiliary of the Eckart Square Circle Sportsmen's Association will hold its annual Christmas party tomorrow evening at the club house, Frog Hollow.

Episcopal Church Plans Services For Christmas

St. James To Hold Nativity Pageant

WESTERNPORT — Christmas at St. James Episcopal Church will open with a festival celebration of the Holy Communion on Christmas Eve, beginning with carols and a candlelight procession of choir and acolytes at 11 p. m.

Miss Ethel Engle, organist, will play a 15 minute recital before the service.

In addition to the traditional Christmas carols, the choir will sing Sults' Communion service in G and an anthem "Bethlehem."

The celebrant will be the rector, Rev. G. Stanley Schwind, who will also speak on "The Three gifts of the Christ Child."

There will be a low celebration of Holy Communion on Christmas Day at 10 a. m. and successive service at the same time Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday. The rector will also carry the Blessed Sacrament to the sick and shut-in during the Christmas tide.

The annual Church School Nativity pageant will be held Thursday, December 28, at 7 p. m.

The devotions will be led by J. William Cannon, Jr., Piedmont, and Elsie Mae Metcalf will be narrator.

Gertrude Ann Hudson, who portrays the Virgin Mary, will sing a setting of "Magnificat" by Woodward. Montgomery Johnstone will portray St. Joseph; Cecelia Ann Moomau, the Angel Gabriel; Joan Amoroso, the Herald and the Magi will be Thomson Forebeck, Norman Earl Rose, and William Rhodes.

Accompaniments will be played by the rector who will also play a brief recital before the pageant.

Following the pageant, there will be a program and party in the Parish House which will include a visit from Santa Claus who will distribute gifts and a treat.

Miss Pep, IV To Be Named

KEYSER, W. Va.—Miss Pep, IV, will be crowned tonight in Keyser High School gymnasium between the halves of the Keyser-Elk Garden basketball game by Miss Delores Allen, Miss Pep III.

East Side School To Give Yuletide Program Tonight

The pupils of East Side School will present a Christmas program at 7:30 o'clock tonight in the school auditorium, according to George E. Klinkhamer, principal.

Music for the event will be under the direction of Mrs. Margaret Carroll, of the Board of Education. She is also general director of the program.

Nine Christmas scenes—Christmas Tree, Fireside, Santa Claus, Yule Log, Caroling, Shepherds, Angels, Wise Men and Manger—will be presented with appropriate music. Student narrators for the scenes will be Russell McGaughey, Donna Smith and Larry Norris.

Jeanette Murray and Patricia Dombrosky will sing "Away In A Manger;" Merle Riggleman, "Winds In The Olive Trees;" Gary Apple, "Silent Night," and Judy Dodge, "I Heard The Bells Ring on Christmas Day."

Ronald Diehl and Nancy Conley will sing the first verse of "There's A Song In The Air;" Ruth DeVore and Wanda Rice, the second; Myrtle Appel, the third, and Mary Ellen Muir, the fourth.

The first verse of "Cantique de Noel" will be sung by Lucille Aaron, and the second by Sylvia Hendrickson.

A chorus of over 100 voices will accompany the singers.

Two Medical Men Called For Exams

P. Emmett Fahey, clerk coordinator of draft boards in Cumberland, received orders yesterday to send one dentist and one physician to Martinsburg, W. Va., for pre-induction physical examinations.

Fahey withheld names of the two medical men who are scheduled to report January 3 for tests. He said the two will be the second pair to be called since the special doctors draft went into effect last October on orders of President Truman.

Another registration will be held not later than January 16 for medical men in the third and fourth priorities.

East Side School To Give Yuletide Program Tonight

The pupils of East Side School will present a Christmas program at 7:30 o'clock tonight in the school auditorium, according to George E. Klinkhamer, principal.

Music for the event will be under the direction of Mrs. Margaret Carroll, of the Board of Education. She is also general director of the program.

Nine Christmas scenes—Christmas Tree, Fireside, Santa Claus, Yule Log, Caroling, Shepherds, Angels, Wise Men and Manger—will be presented with appropriate music. Student narrators for the scenes will be Russell McGaughey, Donna Smith and Larry Norris.

Jeanette Murray and Patricia Dombrosky will sing "Away In A Manger;" Merle Riggleman, "Winds In The Olive Trees;" Gary Apple, "Silent Night," and Judy Dodge, "I Heard The Bells Ring on Christmas Day."

Ronald Diehl and Nancy Conley will sing the first verse of "There's A Song In The Air;" Ruth DeVore and Wanda Rice, the second; Myrtle Appel, the third, and Mary Ellen Muir, the fourth.

The first verse of "Cantique de Noel" will be sung by Lucille Aaron, and the second by Sylvia Hendrickson.

A chorus of over 100 voices will accompany the singers.

Two Medical Men Called For Exams

P. Emmett Fahey, clerk coordinator of draft boards in Cumberland, received orders yesterday to send one dentist and one physician to Martinsburg, W. Va., for pre-induction physical examinations.

Fahey withheld names of the two medical men who are scheduled to report January 3 for tests. He said the two will be the second pair to be called since the special doctors draft went into effect last October on orders of President Truman.

Another registration will be held not later than January 16 for medical men in the third and fourth priorities.

OPEN EVENINGS UNTIL CHRISTMAS

ON THE LINE

By BOB CONSIDINE

NEW YORK (INS)—

YOU CAN save yourself some money this Christmas by not buying the kids a puzzle. Just let them figure out the answer to last week's decision by the Supreme Court. The court ruled that it's all right for a witness to refuse if asked "Are you a Communist?"

The decision, a unanimous one, concerned Mrs. Patricia Blau of Denver. When a grand jury requested her to outline her connections with the Communist Party of Colorado she refused to answer on the grounds that she might incriminate herself. Mrs. Blau, like a number of others in similar straits, including some of the Hollywood ten, was convicted of contempt.

She carried her case to the highest tribunal and it reversed the decision of lower courts. Mrs. Blau is free to continue the work which originally brought her under suspicion.

There is legal precedent for suit for libel or slander against any American who calls a fellow native a Communist and then cannot produce the party membership card of the accused, though the accused may have openly espoused every meander of the Communist line.

Yet in some states the Communist Party is a bona fide political body whose candidates regularly appear on the ballots. A declared Communist candidate running for public office) in California not long ago attracted 600,000 votes. In New York City we have seen the immense amount of work involved in defeating the veteran Communist member of the City Council, and a congressman whose voting record closely follows Communist precepts.

Theoretically, at least, it could be held libelous if you called a candidate on a Communist Party ticket a Communist and, after tearing up his party card, he sued you. Chances are he'd collect.

But there are other bewildering facets to the Supreme Court's decision in the Blau case.

The case rested on the court's interpretation of the ancient Fifth Amendment to the Constitution. It flung the memories of historians back to the dawn of the nation, when Chief Justice John Marshall ruled that Aaron Burr, being tried for treason (his alleged plot to create a splinter nation out of several western states), was under no compulsion to become a witness against himself. Marshall ruled that if what Burr said conceivably might hurt him, he did not have to say it.

The dismissal of Mrs. Blau means that the Supreme Court believes that it is criminal to be a Communitst. That was the kernal of its ruling, for it agreed with her attorney that if she had told the Denver grad jury that she was indeed a Communist this admission might have been used against her later if she were brought to court—as were Eugene Dennis and other members of the U. S. Communist politburo — and tried under the Smith Act. The Smith Act pronounces as criminal any membership in any organization which advocates the overthrow of the government by violent means.

There's a pretty good chance that the Blau decision will be brandished by attorneys of the Hollywood ten and others now in jail on contempt charges. They were jailed, in the main, for refusing to answer questions about their Communist affiliations. They were not convicted, as were Dennis and the others, for violation of the Smith Act.

The decision could also eliminate loyalty boards which screen prospective government employees. Conceivably, a Communist spy who is detailed to find work in an A-bomb or H-bomb plant could not be militated against because he refused to answer the board's inquiry about his Communist background. . . on the ground that if he did admit he was a Communist he might possibly be prosecuted under the Smith Act!

Sometimes this country seems to be working at cross purposes. To recapitulate, it is now legal to refuse to admit membership in the Communist Party because admission of such membership might open the witness to criminal action. Yet some states do not consider the Communist Party criminal, obviously, or they would not permit party candidates to run for office. And a Communist spy or saboteur who is exposed by a lawful American can collect damages from the lawful American if the American cannot produce the Commy's card . . . unless, of course, the Commy has been convicted under the Smith Act, and the Supreme Court (now considering the act) does not declare it unconstitutional.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE—Here's how to work it;

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different

ON THE LINE

By BOB CONSIDINE

NEW YORK (INS)—

YOU CAN save yourself some money this Christmas by not buying the kids a puzzle. Just let them figure out the answer to last week's decision by the Supreme Court. The court ruled that it's all right for a witness to refuse if asked "Are you a Communist?"

The decision, a unanimous one, concerned Mrs. Patricia Blau of Denver. When a grand jury requested her to outline her connections with the Communist Party of Colorado she refused to answer on the grounds that she might incriminate herself. Mrs. Blau, like a number of others in similar straits, including some of the Hollywood ten, was convicted of contempt.

She carried her case to the highest tribunal and it reversed the decision of lower courts. Mrs. Blau is free to continue the work which originally brought her under suspicion.

There is legal precedent for suit for libel or slander against any American who calls a fellow native a Communist and then cannot produce the party membership card of the accused, though the accused may have openly espoused every meander of the Communist line.

Yet in some states the Communist Party is a bona fide political body whose candidates regularly appear on the ballots. A declared Communist candidate running for public office) in California not long ago attracted 600,000 votes. In New York City we have seen the immense amount of work involved in defeating the veteran Communist member of the City Council, and a congressman whose voting record closely follows Communist precepts.

Theoretically, at least, it could be held libelous if you called a candidate on a Communist Party ticket a Communist and, after tearing up his party card, he sued you. Chances are he'd collect.

But there are other bewildering facets to the Supreme Court's decision in the Blau case.

The case rested on the court's interpretation of the ancient Fifth Amendment to the Constitution. It flung the memories of historians back to the dawn of the nation, when Chief Justice John Marshall ruled that Aaron Burr, being tried for treason (his alleged plot to create a splinter nation out of several western states), was under no compulsion to become a witness against himself. Marshall ruled that if what Burr said conceivably might hurt him, he did not have to say it.

The dismissal of Mrs. Blau means that the Supreme Court believes that it is criminal to be a Communitst. That was the kernal of its ruling, for it agreed with her attorney that if she had told the Denver grad jury that she was indeed a Communist this admission might have been used against her later if she were brought to court—as were Eugene Dennis and other members of the U. S. Communist politburo — and tried under the Smith Act. The Smith Act pronounces as criminal any membership in any organization which advocates the overthrow of the government by violent means.

There's a pretty good chance that the Blau decision will be brandished by attorneys of the Hollywood ten and others now in jail on contempt charges. They were jailed, in the main, for refusing to answer questions about their Communist affiliations. They were not convicted, as were Dennis and the others, for violation of the Smith Act.

The decision could also eliminate loyalty boards which screen prospective government employees. Conceivably, a Communist spy who is detailed to find work in an A-bomb or H-bomb plant could not be militated against because he refused to answer the board's inquiry about his Communist background. . . on the ground that if he did admit he was a Communist he might possibly be prosecuted under the Smith Act!

Sometimes this country seems to be working at cross purposes. To recapitulate, it is now legal to refuse to admit membership in the Communist Party because admission of such membership might open the witness to criminal action. Yet some states do not consider the Communist Party criminal, obviously, or they would not permit party candidates to run for office. And a Communist spy or saboteur who is exposed by a lawful American can collect damages from the lawful American if the American cannot produce the Commy's card . . . unless, of course, the Commy has been convicted under the Smith Act, and the Supreme Court (now considering the act) does not declare it unconstitutional.

ON THE LINE

By BOB CONSIDINE

NEW YORK (INS)—

YOU CAN save yourself some money this Christmas by not buying the kids a puzzle. Just let them figure out the answer to last week's decision by the Supreme Court. The court ruled that it's all right for a witness to refuse if asked "Are you a Communist?"

The decision, a unanimous one, concerned Mrs. Patricia Blau of Denver. When a grand jury requested her to outline her connections with the Communist Party of Colorado she refused to answer on the grounds that she might incriminate herself. Mrs. Blau, like a number of others in similar straits, including some of the Hollywood ten, was convicted of contempt.

She carried her case to the highest tribunal and it reversed the decision of lower courts. Mrs. Blau is free to continue the work which originally brought her under suspicion.

• — • — •

There is legal precedent for suit for libel or slander against any American who calls a fellow native a Communist and then cannot produce the party membership card of the accused, though the accused may have openly espoused every meander of the Communist line.

Yet in some states the Communist Party is a bona fide political body whose candidates regularly appear on the ballots. A declared Communist candidate running for public office) in California not long ago attracted 600,000 votes. In New York City we have seen the immense amount of work involved in defeating the veteran Communist member of the City Council, and a congressman whose voting record closely follows Communist precepts.

Theoretically, at least, it could be held libelous if you called a candidate on a Communist Party ticket a Communist and, after tearing up his party card, he sued you. Chances are he'd collect.

But there are other bewildering facets to the Supreme Court's decision in the Blau case.

The case rested on the court's interpretation of the ancient Fifth Amendment to the Constitution. It flung the memories of historians back to the dawn of the nation, when Chief Justice John Marshall ruled that Aaron Burr, being tried for treason (his alleged plot to create a splinter nation out of several western states), was under no compulsion to become a witness against himself. Marshall ruled that if what Burr said conceivably might hurt him, he did not have to say it.

The dismissal of Mrs. Blau means that the Supreme Court believes that it is criminal to be a Communitst. That was the kernal of its ruling, for it agreed with her attorney that if she had told the Denver grad jury that she was indeed a Communist this admission might have been used against her later if she were brought to court—as were Eugene Dennis and other members of the U. S. Communist politburo — and tried under the Smith Act. The Smith Act pronounces as criminal any membership in any organization which advocates the overthrow of the government by violent means.

There's a pretty good chance that the Blau decision will be brandished by attorneys of the Hollywood ten and others now in jail on contempt charges. They were jailed, in the main, for refusing to answer questions about their Communist affiliations. They were not convicted, as were Dennis and the others, for violation of the Smith Act.

The decision could also eliminate loyalty boards which screen prospective government employees. Conceivably, a Communist spy who is detailed to find work in an A-bomb or H-bomb plant could not be militated against because he refused to answer the board's inquiry about his Communist background. . . on the ground that if he did admit he was a Communist he might possibly be prosecuted under the Smith Act!

Sometimes this country seems to be working at cross purposes. To recapitulate, it is now legal to refuse to admit membership in the Communist Party because admission of such membership might open the witness to criminal action. Yet some states do not consider the Communist Party criminal, obviously, or they would not permit party candidates to run for office. And a Communist spy or saboteur who is exposed by a lawful American can collect damages from the lawful American if the American cannot produce the Commy's card . . . unless, of course, the Commy has been convicted under the Smith Act, and the Supreme Court (now considering the act) does not declare it unconstitutional.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE—Here's how to work it;

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different

Cards of Thanks

We wish to express our sincere thanks and appreciation to the friends and neighbors for their kindness and expressions of sympathy following the death of our husband and father, John E. Brennan. We also thank Rev. Lawrence Kilkenny and Rev. Louis Miltenberger, those who sent floral tributes, mass cards and who donated cars, and especially to the Police and Fire Departments, the Mayor and City Council and to the Knights of Columbus.
Mrs. John E. Brennan and Family

Cards of Thanks

We wish to express our sincere thanks and appreciation to the friends and neighbors for their kindness and expressions of sympathy following the death of our husband and father, John E. Brennan. We also thank Rev. Lawrence Kilkenny and Rev. Louis Miltenberger, those who sent floral tributes, mass cards and who donated cars, and especially to the Police and Fire Departments, the Mayor and City Council and to the Knights of Columbus.
Mrs. John E. Brennan and Family

"The Authority on Authorities"

LEAD AWAY FROM KING

THERE ARE times when the most frequently given advice about opening leads should be violated. That is true of the injunction against leading away from a guarded king. If the bidding makes you virtually certain that the ace is at your left, in position to catch your king in a finesse, you have only one sound chance to score a trick with your honor. That is by making the declarer think your partner holds it instead of you.

North: ♠ A Q 9 7 6 5 ♥ J 10 9 ♦ 6 ♣ K Q 9
West: ♠ K 10 2 ♥ K 4 ♦ 9 8 7 4 ♣ 7 4 3 2
East: ♠ 8 3 ♥ 8 5 2 ♦ K Q J 3 2 ♣ 8 6 5
South: ♠ J 4 ♥ A Q 7 6 3 ♦ A 10 5 ♣ A J 10

(Dealer: South. Both sides vulnerable.)

South	West	North	East
1 ♥	Pass	1 ♠	Pass
2 NT	Pass	3 ♠	Pass
4 ♥	Pass	6 ♥

That bidding was based on the rule which Charlie Goren so enjoys stating. When you hold a hand strong enough for an original bid opposite a hand that made an original bid, your side has the power required to bid a game; and if, in addition, the original bidder has enough surplus strength for a later game-forcing jump after a minimum response, then the side should have a good chance for small slam. So North didn't monkey with any ace-showing or Blackwooding after he learned that South had rebiddable hearts.

The slam was there, had West not foxed South into the wrong play. Counting his heart K as likely to take one trick and reckoning East was probably helpless, he felt that beating the slam depended entirely on his own spade K. The bidding marked the spade A as almost surely in the North, plus probably the Q. In that event, how could he make South refuse the finesse?

Then it dawned on him that he could make South think he had a singleton spade, with the A in East's hand. He tried this by leading the 2. South truly decided that the finesse of the Q probably would lose to East's K, whereupon a spade return would give West the setting ruff. So he came up with the A on the first trick, staking his hopes on then winning a heart finesse and clearing out trumps. As you can see, that caused him to lose to both of West's kingly honors.

* * *

Tomorrow's Problem

North: ♠ 5 2 ♥ A 10 8 ♦ A J 10 4 ♣ A Q 4 3
West: ♠ A J 8 7 3 ♥ None ♦ K 8 7 3 ♣ K J 9 8
East: ♠ K Q 6 ♥ K Q 6 5 3 2 ♦ None ♣ 10 7 5 2
South: ♠ 10 9 4 ♥ J 9 7 4 ♦ Q 9 6 5 2 ♣ 6

(Dealer: West. North - South vulnerable.)

If South had bid hearts, responding to North's double, why should North not lead the suit against West's 4-Spades?

New 20-Year High Average Reached By Stock Prices

NEW YORK, Dec. 18 (AP)—Prices hit a new 20-year high average today in one of the most active stock markets in 11 years.

A flood of buying orders from all over the country jammed the floor of the exchange at the start of business in response to the government's new emergency war mobilization plans.

The day ended with prices up a few cents to more than $2 a share, down from the peak of around $3.

The volume today was exceeded only by that registered at the start of the Korean war last June which was heaviest since the start of World War II in September of 1939.

The buying from all sides was stimulated by President Truman's blueprint for emergency war mobilization.

That, said Wall Street sources, is bringing on more government spending, a moderation but not a curbing of price inflation, a flight from the dollar into stocks and other real wealth, and investment in stocks of the huge sums of idle money now available.

The same sources said the public and others are ignoring the fact that we have lost one phase of the war and are entering on another, that we have had one round of tax increase and will have another, and that we have some controls and will have more.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks reached a new high for the year with an advance of 80 cents to $86.10, the best since February of 1931. The industrial component of the average was up $1.30, rails 40 cents, and utilities 10 cents.

The volume of business amounted to 4,490,000 shares. This compared with 2,410,000 shares last Friday. The total was the second highest since the early days of World War II when volume neared 6,000,000. At the start of the Korean war June 27 the volume leaped to 4,860,000 shares, with the market lower.

The most active issues of the day didn't reflect the extreme gains. Curtiss-Wright topped the list up ¼ at 11⅞. There followed New York Central up ⅝ at 20, Packard ⅜ at 4⅜, and Pacific Tin ⅜ at 5⅞.

Baltimore & Ohio, seventh most active, was off ⅜ at 18¾, and General Motors, 10th most active, unchanged at 45.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

By Shepard Barclay

"The Authority on Authorities"

LEAD AWAY FROM KING

THERE ARE times when the most frequently given advice about opening leads should be violated. That is true of the injunction against leading away from a guarded king. If the bidding makes you virtually certain that the ace is at your left, in position to catch your king in a finesse, you have only one sound chance to score a trick with your honor. That is by making the declarer think your partner holds it instead of you.

North: ♠ A Q 9 7 6 5 ♥ J 10 9 ♦ 6 ♣ K Q 9
West: ♠ K 10 2 ♥ K 4 ♦ 9 8 7 4 ♣ 7 4 3 2
East: ♠ 8 3 ♥ 8 5 2 ♦ K Q J 3 2 ♣ 8 6 5
South: ♠ J 4 ♥ A Q 7 6 3 ♦ A 10 5 ♣ A J 10

(Dealer: South. Both sides vulnerable.)

South	West	North	East
1 ♥	Pass	1 ♠	Pass
2 NT	Pass	3 ♠	Pass
4 ♥	Pass	6 ♥

That bidding was based on the rule which Charlie Goren so enjoys stating. When you hold a hand strong enough for an original bid opposite a hand that made an original bid, your side has the power required to bid a game; and if, in addition, the original bidder has enough surplus strength for a later game-forcing jump after a minimum response, then the side should have a good chance for small slam. So North didn't monkey with any ace-showing or Blackwooding after he learned that South had rebiddable hearts.

The slam was there, had West not foxed South into the wrong play. Counting his heart K as likely to take one trick and reckoning East was probably helpless, he felt that beating the slam depended entirely on his own spade K. The bidding marked the spade A as almost surely in the North, plus probably the Q. In that event, how could he make South refuse the finesse?

Then it dawned on him that he could make South think he had a singleton spade, with the A in East's hand. He tried this by leading the 2. South truly decided that the finesse of the Q probably would lose to East's K, whereupon a spade return would give West the setting ruff. So he came up with the A on the first trick, staking his hopes on then winning a heart finesse and clearing out trumps. As you can see, that caused him to lose to both of West's kingly honors.

* * *

Tomorrow's Problem

North: ♠ 5 2 ♥ A 10 8 ♦ A J 10 4 ♣ A Q 4 3
West: ♠ A J 8 7 3 ♥ None ♦ K 8 7 3 ♣ K J 9 8
East: ♠ K Q 6 ♥ K Q 6 5 3 2 ♦ None ♣ 10 7 5 2
South: ♠ 10 9 4 ♥ J 9 7 4 ♦ Q 9 6 5 2 ♣ 6

(Dealer: West. North - South vulnerable.)

If South had bid hearts, responding to North's double, why should North not lead the suit against West's 4-Spades?

New 20-Year High Average Reached By Stock Prices

NEW YORK, Dec. 18 (AP)—Prices hit a new 20-year high average today in one of the most active stock markets in 11 years.

A flood of buying orders from all over the country jammed the floor of the exchange at the start of business in response to the government's new emergency war mobilization plans.

The day ended with prices up a few cents to more than $2 a share, down from the peak of around $3.

The volume today was exceeded only by that registered at the start of the Korean war last June which was heaviest since the start of World War II in September of 1939.

The buying from all sides was stimulated by President Truman's blueprint for emergency war mobilization.

That, said Wall Street sources, is bringing on more government spending, a moderation but not a curbing of price inflation, a flight from the dollar into stocks and other real wealth, and investment in stocks of the huge sums of idle money now available.

The same sources said the public and others are ignoring the fact that we have lost one phase of the war and are entering on another, that we have had one round of tax increase and will have another, and that we have some controls and will have more.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks reached a new high for the year with an advance of 80 cents to $86.10, the best since February of 1931. The industrial component of the average was up $1.30, rails 40 cents, and utilities 10 cents.

The volume of business amounted to 4,490,000 shares. This compared with 2,410,000 shares last Friday. The total was the second highest since the early days of World War II when volume neared 6,000,000. At the start of the Korean war June 27 the volume leaped to 4,860,000 shares, with the market lower.

The most active issues of the day didn't reflect the extreme gains. Curtiss-Wright topped the list up ¼ at 11⅞. There followed New York Central up ⅝ at 20, Packard ⅜ at 4⅜, and Pacific Tin ⅝ at 5⅞.

Baltimore & Ohio, seventh most active, was off ⅜ at 18¾, and General Motors, 10th most active, unchanged at 45.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

By Shepard Barclay

"The Authority on Authorities"

LEAD AWAY FROM KING

THERE ARE times when the most frequently given advice about opening leads should be violated. That is true of the injunction against leading away from a guarded king. If the bidding makes you virtually certain that the ace is at your left, in position to catch your king in a finesse, you have only one sound chance to score a trick with your honor. That is by making the declarer think your partner holds it instead of you.

North:
♠ A Q 9 7 6 5
♥ J 10 9
♦ 6

West:
♠ K 10 2
♥ K 4
♦ 9 8 7 4
♣ 7 4 3 2

East:

♦ K Q J 3 2
♣ 8 6 5

South:
♠ J 4
♥ A Q 7 6 3
♦ A 10 5
♣ A J 10

South	West	North	East
1 ♥	Pass	1 ♠	Pass
2 NT	Pass	3 ♠	Pass
4 ♥	Pass	6 ♥

That bidding was based on the rule which Charlie Goren so enjoys stating. When you hold a hand strong enough for an original bid opposite a hand that made an original bid, your side has the power required to bid a game; and if, in addition, the original bidder has enough surplus strength for a later game-forcing jump after a minimum response, then the side should have a good chance for small slam. So North didn't monkey with any ace-showing or Blackwooding after he learned that South had rebiddable hearts.

The slam was there, had West not foxed South into the wrong play. Counting his heart K as likely to take one trick and reckoning East was probably helpless, he felt that beating the slam depended entirely on his own spade K. The bidding marked the spade A as almost surely in the North, plus probably the Q. In that event, how could he make South refuse the finesse?

Then it dawned on him that he could make South think he had a singleton spade, with the A in East's hand. He tried this by leading the 2. South truly decided that the finesse of the Q probably would lose to East's K, whereupon a spade return would give West the setting ruff. So he came up with the A on the first trick, staking his hopes on then winning a heart finesse and clearing out trumps. As you can see, that caused him to lose to both of West's kingly honors.

If South had bid hearts, responding to North's double, why should North not lead the suit against West's 4-Spades?

New 20-Year High Average Reached By Stock Prices

NEW YORK, Dec. 18 (AP)—Prices hit a new 20-year high average today in one of the most active stock markets in 11 years.

A flood of buying orders from all over the country jammed the floor of the exchange at the start of business in response to the government's new emergency war mobilization plans.

The day ended with prices up a few cents to more than $2 a share, down from the peak of around $3.

The volume today was exceeded only by that registered at the start of the Korean war last June which was heaviest since the start of World War II in September of 1939.

The buying from all sides was stimulated by President Truman's blueprint for emergency war mobilization.

That, said Wall Street sources, is bringing on more government spending, a moderation but not a curbing of price inflation, a flight from the dollar into stocks and other real wealth, and investment in stocks of the huge sums of idle money now available.

The same sources said the public and others are ignoring the fact that we have lost one phase of the war and are entering on another, that we have had one round of tax increase and will have another, and that we have some controls and will have more.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks reached a new high for the year with an advance of 80 cents to $86.10, the best since February of 1931. The industrial component of the average was up $1.30, rails 40 cents, and utilities 10 cents.

The volume of business amounted to 4,490,000 shares. This compared with 2,410,000 shares last Friday. The total was the second highest since the early days of World War II when volume neared 6,000,000. At the start of the Korean war June 27 the volume leaped to 4,860,000 shares, with the market lower.

The most active issues of the day didn't reflect the extreme gains. Curtiss-Wright topped the list up ¼ at 11⅞. There followed New York Central up ⅝ at 20, Packard ⅜ at 4⅜, and Pacific Tin ⅝ at 5⅞.

Baltimore & Ohio, seventh most active, was off ⅜ at 18¾, and General Motors, 10th most active, unchanged at 45.

Plumbing Bill Tabled After Dispute Arises

Opponents Charge Monopoly Will Result

Charging monopoly, discrimination and unjust expense on the city and taxpayers, a number of citizens and organized groups protested the passage of a plumbing ordinance by the Mayor and City Council last night.

The ordinance was up for its third and final reading before passage, but after the protests and rebuttals were debated back and forth in an old fashioned town meeting manner, the council tabled the ordinance until the next regular meeting.

Before the third reading was called for, Mayor Thomas S. Post asked if any of those attending the session wished to speak in opposition of the proposed plumbing bill.

Among those who took advantage of the Mayor's invitation were Gordon H. Green, 803 Shriver Avenue; Allen Russell, 701 Glenmore Street; Ray Hollingsworth of the Sears Roebuck Company and John Scalli, whose address was not given. In general they argued that the ordinance would give undo authority to the master plumbers of the city. Russell contended that the plumbers' union restricts the number of members in its organization.

A letter was read to the council from Earl L. Snyder, president of the Celanese Textile union, in which he expressed opposition to the ordinance. Earlier, the South Cumberland Business Men's Association voiced its opposition.

Spokesmen in favor of the plumbing ordinance were E. M. Rowley, of Plumbers Local 489, who stressed that Cumberland had a plumbing inspector from 1912 until 1941. Ray H. Lapp, a South Cumberland master plumber, favored adoption of the ordinance. He got the clerk to read a copy of a letter he had written to the South Cumberland Business Men's Association regretting the group's action in opposing the ordinance. Lapp's letter contended that qualified plumbers are as necessary as doctors, dentists, pharmacists and nurses. They protect the city from epidemic, he stated.

Tabling of the ordinance until the December 26 meeting was done on the motion of Finance Commissioner William Buchholtz.

Braddock Farms Plans Yule Party

The Braddock Farms Improvement Association will hold a Christmas program Friday night at 7:45 o'clock, C. O. Twigg, secretary of the association, announced last night. It will be the second annual Yule affair sponsored by the group.

The outdoor program will be held under a large lighted Christmas tree which will be placed in the center of the community, Twigg said, and the singing of carols and a visit by Santa Claus will highlight the affair.

A special singing program by children of the community is being planned by Mrs. David Durst, after which Santa will distribute gifts to the youngsters.

After the program carol singers of the community plan to visit homes throughout Braddock Farms and nearby areas to sing carols and hymns, Twigg related.

The public is invited to attend.

Firemen To Get Switchboard

Installation of a private branch switchboard for the use of the Cumberland Fire Department is nearing completion, Acting Fire Chief William L. Lindner reported yesterday.

He said the switchboard will be placed into use later this week, when members of the department learn the use of the equipment.

One of the major recommendations of the Board of Fire Underwriters, the switchboard will do much to speed the work of the fire fighters here.

A temporary switchboard was installed at Central Fire Station yesterday. Permanent equipment will be installed when it arrives.

When the switchboard is placed in operation, all fire calls in the city will be routed to Central Fire Station.

Fire companies will be dispatched on a multiple hookup so other companies will know the location of the fire and be ready to swing into action immediately.

Slippery Sidewalks Prompt Complaints

Police reported yesterday that complaints are beginning to mount as a result of icy sidewalks here.

Chief of Police R. E. Flynn said persons who are unable to remove ice from sidewalks should use ashes, sand or salt in order to make the walks safe for pedestrians.

SHOPPING DAYS till CHRISTMAS

Record Day At Post Office

Pictured here is part of the crowd that kept the local post office workers busy yesterday when over 190,000 pieces of mail were handled. This set an all-time record for any Christmas season here in Cumberland. Three parcel post windows were kept open all day and incoming parcel post from other cities was extremely heavy.

Record Set For Volume Of Mail At Local Post Office

With bundles of letters and parcel post piled everywhere at the local Post Office, yesterday set a new record in volume of mail handled here for any Christmas season.

Over 190,000 pieces of mail were handled between yesterday morning and midnight last night.

Fifty-six extra employes worked at top speed to take care of the rush. Five assistant carriers were used on the rural routes going out from Cumberland.

Superintendent of Mails W. R. Thayer said local mailing was extremely heavy, but most of the mail that had been held up because of the embargo is now coming through. Trains that usually do not carry mail at all were bringing two or three extra storage cars to take care of the hugh volume.

At the local Post Office, where only two letter cases are usually used, there were 16 in use yesterday.

Postmaster Thomas F. Conlon said people have not been wrapping packages as they should to insure against breakage of the carton. Yesterday 75 packages were turned back because of improper packaging.

Conlon pointed out that this takes extra time and creates confusion and he asks that people exercise more care in wrapping.

Fortunately, Conlon related, the Salvation Army has set up a booth in the main lobby at the Post Office and all those packages that were turned back were taken to the girl at the booth. She re-wrapped them and furnished all necessary cord and paper to make sure they were wrapped in accordance with Post Office regulations to insure safe arrival at their destinations.

Stamp sales remained high yesterday at the Post Office and Conlon expects they will remain so until about Wednesday.

Weather

Clear and cold with the lowest from 5 degrees to 15 degrees is the forecast for today. The high is to be from 30 to 35 degrees. Yesterday's low in Constitution Park was 11 degrees and the high was 27 degrees. Downtown, the lowest temperature was 18 degrees and the high was 32 degrees.

Lester Millenson Succumbs From Heart Attack

Local Businessman, Sportsman Was 56

Lester Millenson, 56, of 110 Luteman Road, well-known Cumberland businessman and sports enthusiast, died last night about 7:30 in Memorial Hospital where he had been a patient since Saturday a week ago after suffering a heart attack.

Mr. Millenson was born in Chicago, Ill., September 7, 1894 and spent his early life in East Newmarket, Md. He came to Cumberland about 1913 and since had engaged in the finance business here. He was owner of the National Loan Company and had been in business for the past 25 years.

An ardent golfer and baseball fan, Mr. Millenson was associated with the Cumberland Colts Baseball Club when the Colts were members of the Middle Atlantic League. His brother, Irving Millenson, was first secretary of the League which began operation in 1925. Mr. Millenson was a ticket seller for the club.

A veteran of the U. S. Navy in World War I, Mr. Millenson was a member of Cumberland Post No. 13, American Legion, Cumberland Country Club, and B'er Chayim congregation.

Survivors include his widow, the former Maxine Slifer of Charles Town, W. Va.; two brothers, George and Irving Millenson, both of this city; a son, John R. Millenson, a student at Duke University, Chapel Hill, N. C.; and a daughter, Leslie M. Millenson, at home. Miss Millenson is a student at Allegany High School.

The body is at Stein's Funeral Home where funeral arrangements are incomplete.

South End Lights Tree Tonight

The South End Christmas tree will be illuminated at the corner of Race and Seymour Streets tonight. The program is sponsored by the South Cumberland Business Men's Association with A. J. Saliga, Mrs. Karl Lehman and Nelson W. Russler in charge.

The Rev. Arthur Scrogum, pastor of Living Stone Church of the Brethren and president of the Cumberland Ministerial Association, and the Rev. Lawrence P. Landrigan, pastor of St. Mary's Church, will participate. James Scarpelli will switch on the tree lights.

The program is scheduled to get underway at 7:30 and Santa Claus will be on hand to greet children. Beginning Wednesday, Santa will visit on Virginia Avenue and make stops at stores of the South End business district through Saturday.

Music for the South End program will be furnished by the brass section of the Fort Hill High School band and the Fort Hill Choir directed by Miss Annetta Yates.

Attend TWUA Meeting

Earl L. Snyder, president of Celanese Local 1874, TWUA (CIO), and Viola Thrasher, president, and Gladys Brown, business agent, of the union's Lonaconing sub-local, have returned from a TWUA wage conference held in Washington over the weekend.

Lt. Cmdr. Charles M. Jones Graduates From Staff School

Lt. Cmdr. Charles M. Jones of Cumberland has graduated from the seventh regular course of the Air University's Air Command and Staff School at Maxwell Air Base, Ala.

Commander Jones attended the USN School in Newport, Rhode Island prior to going to Maxwell. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Jones this city, and served overseas duty in the Asiatic Pacific, and European Theaters from 1941 to 1949.

The Air Command and Staff School, second highest educational unit of the Air University, is designed to prepare officers for the command of groups and wings and for comparable staff duties. This course is open to regular Air Force officers with six to eleven years' commissioned service, reserve officers between the ages of thirty-one and thirty-seven, and a quota of Army, Navy, and Marine Corps officers all of whom must meet certain eligibility requirements set by the school.

City Council Votes Changes In Personnel

Louis T. Helman Gets Clerk Appointment

In compliance with a plan devised by Street Commissioner Lucile W. Roeder to set up a more adequate control system of inventory and other records at the City Warehouse, the Mayor and Council passed an order last night appointing Louis T. Helman as warehouse clerk at a monthly salary of $216.

Prior to making this appointment, Mrs. Roeder introduced an order abolishing the job of timekeeper at the warehouse and creating the position of warehouse clerk. That order also was passed unanimously.

Under an order introduced by Police and Fire Commissioner John J. Long, passed by council, Harry A. Spies of the fire department was retired and placed upon the lifetime pension list. He has been a member of the West Side Fire Company.

In another order, the council confirmed the probationary appointment of Conely C. Hammond to the Fire Department.

Council ordered payment of $13,264.50 for the new fire engine placed in service at West Side. Commissioner Long commented that the pumper passes and exceeds all guaranteed tests, and on runs about the city topped the steepest hills at 30 miles per hour.

Margaret R. Spiker, in another personnel change, tendered her resignation as clerk in the Water Department. She indicated she will accept employment with the Corps of Army Engineers in Washington, D. C., January 8.

Mayor Post Lights City Yule Tree

Carol singing was the feature of brief ceremonies at City Hall last night which Mayor Thomas S. Post turned on the brightly colored lights on the community Christmas tree in front of City Hall.

Because of the 27-degree cold only a few hundred spectators turned out for the traditional ceremonies.

Monroe Harris, music director at Beall High School, Frostburg directed the group singing and acted as master of ceremonies.

Clergymen of three faiths prayed during the program and each stressed the serious world situation in a different manner. Hope for permanent peace and justice for all peoples of the world was stressed in their prayers. They were Rev. Norman O. Scribner, pastor of Centre Street Methodist Church; Rabbi Herbert J. Wilner, B'er Chayim Congregation, and Rev. J. Lawrence Kilkenny, pastor of St. Patrick's Catholic Church.

Music was furnished by a brass section of the Allegany High School band, the Fort Hill High School a cappella choir, directed by Miss Annetta Yates, and the Allegany High School choristers, directed by Miss Dorothy Willison.

The tree was decorated by Edgar Bucy, Edward Lible and Richard Linthicum, of the Cumberland Fire Department.

Optimist Club To Hold Party For Boys Group

The local Optimist Club will hold its fifth annual Christmas party for the Junior Optimist Boys Club tomorrow at 6:15 p. m. at Central YMCA. Turkey dinner will be served and gifts will be presented to the guests, according to Allan Staggers, publicity chairman.

Kenneth R. Shafer is chairman of the committee on arrangements and was assisted by Hugh G. Funkhouser, Dr. Leonard S. Cooper and John I. Spiker.

Regular meetings of the Optimist Club have been suspended during the holidays.

Salvation Army Begins Issuing Food Orders

Other Aid Slated For Needy Of Area

The Salvation Army yesterday began issuing Christmas food orders to the needy of the Cumberland area.

Major Elmer Wall, commander, said about 150 family food orders ranging from $5 to $10 were issued yesterday.

Another 150 orders are slated to be issued today.

The amount of the food order, which may be used for food and some candy and nuts, depends upon the size of the family and its needs.

Major Wall said the amount is sufficient for a good Christmas dinner, with some food left over for several other meals.

The need for Christmas relief, Major Wall said, may exceed last year, when the Army distributed aid to 379 families.

In addition to the food orders, some of the most needy persons will receive clothes and a few of the sick and needy will also get an order for coal.

Toys will be distributed Wednesday through Friday at the Citadel.

For the late comers, the Salvation Army is planning to distribute food baskets.

The equivalent of the food orders, most baskets will contain two pounds of sugar, five to 10 pounds of potatoes, onions, a can each of peas, red beans, milk and soup, a pound of dried beans, a pound of rice, a package of tea, can of corn, oleomargarine, bread, sack of flour, a small picnic ham, and a half dozen or more of apples and oranges. A small amount of candy and cookies will also be included.

Major Wall said every attempt will be made to make sure that every needy family is supplied with a good Christmas dinner.

CWA Will State Strike Position

The position of the Communications Workers of America will be outlined prior to the impending strike of the independent telephone operators union in Maryland, officials of Division 34, CWA, said last night.

Strike ballots have been mailed to about 3,000 operators employed by the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company, and officials of the operators' union, the Maryland Telephone Traffic Union, said a walkout will be called December 24 if contract negotiations are not settled by then.

The operators' union is an independent organization and officials of Division 34, CWA, said the position of the CWA group will be stated because of the "independency" of the operators' union.

Margaret C. Weiss, Baltimore, head of the Maryland Telephone Traffic Union, referring to the mailing of the strike ballots, said "it is customary to take such a vote when a union approaches the end of negotiations with no settlement in sight."

A local telephone company spokesman commented that only a few of the operators here belong to the Maryland Telephone Traffic Union and doubted whether a strike would affect the Cumberland branch of the C. and P.

Pfc. L. V. Shirley Home On 12-Day Leave

Marine Pfc. Leslie V. Shirley, 21, Wiley Ford, W. Va., is home on a 12-day leave from Parris Island, S. C., where he finished basic training recently.

A former student of Fort Ashby High School, Shirley worked at Lou's Auto Stores prior to entering active Marine service.

He is married to the former Miss Shirley Green.

Youth Practices Sunday School Lesson By Christmas Giving

By ROGER SCHNELL
News Staff Writer

"It is better to give than to receive."

That's what the Sunday school teacher said, and it inspired 11-year-old Donald Heinrich, Jr., of 310 Pulaski Street, to use his Christmas money for materials to make 20 small doll beds he wants distributed to unfortunate children in hospitals this Christmas.

Each bed, besides cradling a small doll Heinrich purchased, is completely made up with mattress, sheets, blankets, pillow and pillow case.

He made the beds out of cigar boxes, used old cotton spools for legs, and for bed posts he resorted to clothes pins. They are held together with glue and shoe nails.

Donald explained that he purchased all the material except the cigar boxes which were given to him by merchants. It took some time to gather everything—boxes, clothes pins, glue, nails, bat cotton, and so on.

Bought Everything

"I spent about two hours on each bed, gluing and nailing it together, and painting it," Donald said. He has all of them painted light blue.

How about all of the needlework on that dainty bed clothing? "That took some persuading," Donald explained.

"Although I bought everything, from the lace that borders the edges of the pillow cases to the bat cotton for the mattress, my grandmother did all the sewing," he said.

His grandmother is Mrs. A. W. Heinrich, 512 Shriver Avenue, who incidentally is Donald's employer and who paid him for hauling wood that provided income for him to buy the material for the beds.

The only other source of funds he had was his Dad, who gave him $5 for having a good report card this fall. Donald is in the sixth grade at Columbia Street School.

It was more than just working and raising money, though, the youth explained, for "in order to save the money after I got it, I gave up ice cream cones and shows."

Rev. Randolph Keefe, pastor of Grace Baptist Church, which Donald attends, liked the idea so well that he asked the boy to bring his beds and dolls to the church so the congregation could see them.

"It is good to know that we have a boy among us who does such a good deed," Rev. Keefe remarked.

Donald conceived the idea originally when he read a newspaper story about the need for toys for children in hospitals and orphanages. That was on December 8, and since that time he has been busy making the 20 beds and dressing them up.

Will Make Five More

The Salvation Army will get the beds today, distributing them according to Donald's wish. He plans to make five more before Christmas and most of them will be given to lesser privileged children he knows.

When asked what he would like for Christmas, Donald replied, "A tool set so I can make other things to give away."

The youth doesn't expect to see many of the youngsters who will receive his gifts, but he hopes they will be about eight or nine years old.

If he could talk to each one of them, Donald says he would wish them a happy Christmas, but he also would tell them to go to Sunday School regularly.

He would add: "If they really want to be happy at Christmas, or at any other time, they should try to do something for someone else."

Christmas Spirit Sparkles At City Hall

Mayor Thomas S. Post, other city officials, clergymen, high school musicians and spectators are shown on City Hall steps last night during the brief ceremony which preceded the lighting of the community Christmas tree in front of City Hall. Mayor Post turned on the lights as several hundred chilled spectators watched. A number of carols were sung by choristers from Fort Hill and Allegany High Schools.

County Schools Attendance High Higgins Reports

Fall Figures Rated Among Best In Years

Allegany county public school children have amassed a commendable attendance record during the three fall months of the current school year, Homer S. Higgins, director of pupil personnel in the county school system, said yesterday.

In a number of cases, Higgins emphasized, records listed for September, October and November were the best reported in the past five years.

"Attendance in Allegany county schools is on the increase to the extent that we have virtually no truancy problems," he said. "Of course, there are always some cases of poor and irregular attendance, but these are decreasing."

In September, the elementary division of the Allegany schools had a 98.1 per cent attendance, the best mark in the five-year period beginning with the 1946-47 school session. The same month the junior high division recorded 97.4 per cent attendance, exceeded only by the corresponding month in 1949. Senior high attendance in September reached 97.6 per cent, topped only by 1949's September figure.

Elementary division attendance in both October and November also was the best for the respective months in the past five years. The percentages were 97.4 in October and 95.8 for November.

Junior high and senior high division percentages for October and November were second best for the five years, topped only by percentages for the same months in 1949. October percentages were 96.4 for the junior high and 96.6 for senior high. For November the junior high percentage was 94.6 and the senior high 95.3.

Attendance figures for the county negro schools also was considered the best for the five-year period, Higgins stated. In September Carver Elementary had 99.1 per cent, Carver Junior High, 99.1, and Carver High School 98.3. Lincoln Elementary in Frostburg recorded 97.8 for September. Similar high percentages were listed for both Carver and Lincoln for October and November, Higgins added.

Cold Wave To Continue Today

Like a bolt from the blue, the cold wave that hit this area over the weekend remains with some of the lowest temperatures being recorded for the season.

In the city, the lowest temperature yesterday was 18 degrees, but in Constitution Park the mercury hit a low 11 degrees.

Roads in the area are clear but in Garrett County where it snowed again last night, Police were advising travel with chains only.

Icy spots continued to remain on many of the roads in Allegany County but driving was not listed as hazardous if care is observed.

At Deal, Pa., the temperature at 8 o'clock last night was 10 degrees above zero and the skies were cloudy.

A temperature of 14 degrees was recorded at Thomas, W. Va., where it was snowing again at 8 o'clock yesterday evening. Thomas already has 30 inches of snow on the ground.

A little snow was falling at Terra Alta, Pa., where a temperature of 12 degrees was reported.

The temperature at Altamont was given as 16 degrees.

The forecast for this area calls for clear skies and low temperatures of between 5 degrees and 15 degrees.

Seal Sale Nets $7,895 To Date

The Allegany County Tuberculosis Association has raised $7,895.49 since November 20 in the sale of 1950 Christmas Seals, according to Miss Jean Reinhart, executive-secretary.

This amount is 53 per cent of the county's goal of $15,000, she said.

The Maryland Tuberculosis Association and its affiliated county associations have raised $163,844.75 since the campaign started in November.

In making this announcement, William H. Staub, president of the Maryland Tuberculosis Association, expressed gratification for the response given the annual Christmas Seal Sale but cautioned against letting up until the state goal of $342,200 has been reached.

The state-wide total to date shows that $3,850.23 more has been raised this year than during the same period of last year's campaign.

News In Brief

A child hygiene clinic will be held at LaVale Fire Hall tonight at 10 o'clock with Mrs. Elizabeth Rosenmerkel, public health nurse, in charge.

Plumbing Bill Tabled After Dispute Arises

Opponents Charge Monopoly Will Result

Charging monopoly, discrimination and unjust expense on the city and taxpayers, a number of citizens and organized groups protested the passage of a plumbing ordinance by the Mayor and City Council last night.

The ordinance was up for its third and final reading before passage, but after the protests and rebuttals were debated back and forth in an old fashioned town meeting manner, the council tabled the ordinance until the next regular meeting.

Before the third reading was called for, Mayor Thomas S. Post asked if any of those attending the session wished to speak in opposition of the proposed plumbing bill.

Among those who took advantage of the Mayor's invitation were Gordon H. Green, 803 Shriver Avenue; Allen Russell, 701 Glenmore Street; Ray Hollingsworth of the Sears Roebuck Company and John Scalli, whose address was not given. In general they argued that the ordinance would give undo authority to the master plumbers of the city. Russell contended that the plumbers' union restricts the number of members in its organization.

A letter was read to the council from Earl L. Snyder, president of the Celanese Textile union, in which he expressed opposition to the ordinance. Earlier, the South Cumberland Business Men's Association voiced its opposition.

Spokesmen in favor of the plumbing ordinance were E. M. Rowley, of Plumbers Local 489, who stressed that Cumberland had a plumbing inspector from 1912 until 1941. Ray H. Lapp, a South Cumberland master plumber, favored adoption of the ordinance. He got the clerk to read a copy of a letter he had written to the South Cumberland Business Men's Association regretting the group's action in opposing the ordinance. Lapp's letter contended that qualified plumbers are as necessary as doctors, dentists, pharmacists and nurses. They protect the city from epidemic, he stated.

Tabling of the ordinance until the December 26 meeting was done on the motion of Finance Commissioner William Buchholtz.

Braddock Farms Plans Yule Party

The Braddock Farms Improvement Association will hold a Christmas program Friday night at 7:45 o'clock, C. O. Twigg, secretary of the association, announced last night. It will be the second annual Yule affair sponsored by the group.

The outdoor program will be held under a large lighted Christmas tree which will be placed in the center of the community, Twigg said, and the singing of carols and a visit by Santa Claus will highlight the affair.

A special singing program by children of the community is being planned by Mrs. David Durst, after which Santa will distribute gifts to the youngsters.

After the program carol singers of the community plan to visit homes throughout Braddock Farms and nearby areas to sing carols and hymns, Twigg related.

The public is invited to attend.

Firemen To Get Switchboard

Installation of a private branch switchboard for the use of the Cumberland Fire Department is nearing completion, Acting Fire Chief William L. Lindner reported yesterday.

He said the switchboard will be placed into use later this week, when members of the department learn the use of the equipment.

One of the major recommendations of the Board of Fire Underwriters, the switchboard will do much to speed the work of the fire fighters here.

A temporary switchboard was installed at Central Fire Station yesterday. Permanent equipment will be installed when it arrives.

When the switchboard is placed in operation, all fire calls in the city will be routed to Central Fire Station.

Fire companies will be dispatched on a multiple hookup so other companies will know the location of the fire and be ready to swing into action immediately.

Slippery Sidewalks Prompt Complaints

Police reported yesterday that complaints are beginning to mount as a result of icy sidewalks here.

Chief of Police R. E. Flynn said persons who are unable to remove ice from sidewalks should use ashes, sand or salt in order to make the walks safe for pedestrians.

SHOPPING DAYS
till CHRISTMAS

Record Day At Post Office

Pictured here is part of the crowd that kept the local post office workers busy yesterday when over 190,000 pieces of mail were handled. This set an all-time record for any Christmas season here in Cumberland. Three parcel post windows were kept open all day and incoming parcel post from other cities was extremely heavy.

Record Set For Volume Of Mail At Local Post Office

With bundles of letters and parcel post piled everywhere at the local Post Office, yesterday set a new record in volume of mail handled here for any Christmas season.

Over 190,000 pieces of mail were handled between yesterday morning and midnight last night.

Fifty-six extra employes worked at top speed to take care of the rush. Five assistant carriers were used on the rural routes going out from Cumberland.

Superintendent of Mails W. R. Thayer said local mailing was extremely heavy, but most of the mail that had been held up because of the embargo is now coming through. Trains that usually do not carry mail at all were bringing two or three extra storage cars to take care of the hugh volume.

At the local Post Office, where only two letter cases are usually used, there were 16 in use yesterday.

Postmaster Thomas F. Conlon said people have not been wrapping packages as they should to insure against breakage of the carton. Yesterday 75 packages were turned back because of improper packaging.

Conlon pointed out that this takes extra time and creates confusion and he asks that people exercise more care in wrapping.

Fortunately, Conlon related, the Salvation Army has set up a booth in the main lobby at the Post Office and all those packages that were turned back were taken to the girl at the booth. She re-wrapped them and furnished all necessary cord and paper to make sure they were wrapped in accordance with Post Office regulations to insure safe arrival at their destinations.

Stamp sales remained high yesterday at the Post Office and Conlon expects they will remain so until about Wednesday.

Weather

Clear and cold with the lowest from 5 degrees to 15 degrees is the forecast for today. The high is to be from 30 to 35 degrees. Yesterday's low in Constitution Park was 11 degrees and the high was 27 degrees. Downtown, the lowest temperature was 18 degrees and the high was 32 degrees.

South End Lights Tree Tonight

The South End Christmas tree will be illuminated at the corner of Race and Seymour Streets tonight. The program is sponsored by the South Cumberland Business Men's Association with A. J. Saliga, Mrs. Karl Lehman and Nelson W. Russler in charge.

The Rev. Arthur Scrogum, pastor of Living Stone Church of the Brethren and president of the Cumberland Ministerial Association, and the Rev. Lawrence P. Landrigan, pastor of St. Mary's Church, will participate. James Scarpelli will switch on the tree lights.

The program is scheduled to get underway at 7:30 and Santa Claus will be on hand to greet children. Beginning Wednesday, Santa will visit on Virginia Avenue and make stops at stores of the South End business district through Saturday.

Music for the South End program will be furnished by the brass section of the Fort Hill High School band and the Fort Hill Choir directed by Miss Annetta Yates.

Lester Millenson Succumbs From Heart Attack

Local Businessman, Sportsman Was 56

Lester Millenson, 56, of 110 Luteman Road, well-known Cumberland businessman and sports enthusiast, died last night about 7:30 in Memorial Hospital where he had been a patient since Saturday a week ago after suffering a heart attack.

Mr. Millenson was born in Chicago, Ill., September 7, 1894 and spent his early life in East Newmarket, Md. He came to Cumberland about 1913 and since had engaged in the finance business here. He was owner of the National Loan Company and had been in business for the past 25 years.

An ardent golfer and baseball fan, Mr. Millenson was associated with the Cumberland Colts Baseball Club when the Colts were members of the Middle Atlantic League. His brother, Irving Millenson, was first secretary of the League which began operation in 1925. Mr. Millenson was a ticket seller for the club.

A veteran of the U. S. Navy in World War I, Mr. Millenson was a member of Cumberland Post No. 13, American Legion, Cumberland Country Club, and B'er Chayim congregation.

Survivors include his widow, the former Maxine Slifer of Charles Town, W. Va.; two brothers, George and Irving Millenson, both of this city; a son, John R. Millenson, a student at Duke University, Chapel Hill, N. C.; and a daughter, Leslie M. Millenson, at home. Miss Millenson is a student at Allegany High School.

The body is at Stein's Funeral Home where funeral arrangements are incomplete.

Lt. Cmdr. Charles M. Jones Graduates From Staff School

Lt. Cmdr. Charles M. Jones of Cumberland has graduated from the seventh regular course of the Air University's Air Command and Staff School at Maxwell Air Base, Ala.

Commander Jones attended the USN School in Newport, Rhode Island prior to going to Maxwell. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Jones this city, and served overseas duty in the Asiatic Pacific, and European Theaters from 1941 to 1949.

LT. CMDR. C. M. JONES

The Air Command and Staff School, second highest educational unit of the Air University, is designed to prepare officers for the command of groups and wings and for comparable staff duties. This course is open to regular Air Force officers with six to eleven years' commissioned service, reserve officers between the ages of thirty-one and thirty-seven, and a quota of Army, Navy, and Marine Corps officers all of whom must meet certain eligibility requirements set by the school.

City Council Votes Changes In Personnel

Louis T. Helman Gets Clerk Appointment

In compliance with a plan devised by Street Commissioner Lucile W. Roeder to set up a more adequate control system of inventory and other records at the City Warehouse, the Mayor and Council passed an order last night appointing Louis T. Helman as warehouse clerk at a monthly salary of $216.

Prior to making this appointment, Mrs. Roeder introduced an order abolishing the job of timekeeper at the warehouse and creating the position of warehouse clerk. That order also was passed unanimously.

Under an order introduced by Police and Fire Commissioner John J. Long, passed by council, Harry A. Spies of the fire department was retired and placed upon the lifetime pension list. He has been a member of the West Side Fire Company.

In another order, the council confirmed the probationary appointment of Conely C. Hammond to the Fire Department.

Council ordered payment of $13,264.50 for the new fire engine placed in service at West Side. Commissioner Long commented that the pumper passes and exceeds all guaranteed tests, and on runs about the city topped the steepest hills at 30 miles per hour.

Margaret R. Spiker, in another personnel change, tendered her resignation as clerk in the Water Department. She indicated she will accept employment with the Corps of Army Engineers in Washington, D. C., January 8.

Shuck Reelected Head Of Ridgeley Fire Company

New Officers To Be Obligated Jan. 8

Ridgeley, W. Va. Volunteer Fire Company held its annual election of officers for the coming year at the Fire Hall it was announced last night by Robert F. Edenhart, recording secretary. The new officials will be obligated January 8, 1951.

William E. Shuck, president, was re-elected to office while other officers were Harry A. Bean, vice-president; Harry F. Kelso, treasurer; Edenhart, recording secretary; Charles E. Shepherd, financial secretary; Jesse H. Simmons, attorney; E. Leo Rice, fire chief; George Hartman, assistant fire chief; I Edmund Detrick, Jr., captain; William T. McCullough, first lieutenant; Roy S. McCullough, sergeant at arms; and Leo V. Mills, chaplain.

Three members were elected to the board of governors. They are K. Albert Wolfe, B. Frank Magruder and Eugene H. Mulligan. Named to the executive committee were Ralph Imes and Ralston Kelso.

Five delegates to the state convention which will be held in Weston, W. Va., next August will be William E. Shuck, Robert F. Edenhart, K. Albert Wolfe, E. Leo Rice and Robert Zimmerman.

A regular business meeting concluded the session and refreshments were served.

Christmas Spirit Sparkles At City Hall

Fall Figures Rated Among Best In Years

Allegany county public school children have amassed a commendable attendance record during the three fall months of the current school year, Homer S. Higgins, director of pupil personnel in the county school system, said yesterday.

In a number of cases, Higgins emphasized, records listed for September, October and November were the best reported in the past five years.

"Attendance in Allegany county schools is on the increase to the extent that we have virtually no truancy problems," he said. "Of course, there are always some cases of poor and irregular attendance, but these are decreasing."

In September, the elementary division of the Allegany schools had a 98.1 per cent attendance, the best mark in the five-year period beginning with the 1946-47 school session. The same month the junior high division recorded 97.4 per cent attendance, exceeded only by the corresponding month in 1949. Senior high attendance in September reached 97.6 per cent, topped only by 1949's September figure.

Elementary division attendance in both October and November also was the best for the respective months in the past five years. The percentages were 97.4 in October and 95.8 for November.

Junior high and senior high division percentages for October and November were second best for the five years, topped only by percentages for the same months in 1949. October percentages were 96.4 for the junior high and 96.6 for senior high. For November the junior high percentage was 94.6 and the senior high 95.3.

Attendance figures for the county negro schools also was considered the best for the five-year period, Higgins stated. In September Carver Elementary had 99.1 per cent, Carver Junior High, 99.1, and Carver High School 98.3. Lincoln Elementary in Frostburg recorded 97.8 for September. Similar high percentages were listed for both Carver and Lincoln for October and November, Higgins added.

Cold Wave To Continue Today

Like a bolt from the blue, the cold wave that hit this area over the weekend remains with some of the lowest temperatures being recorded for the season.

In the city, the lowest temperature yesterday was 18 degrees, but in Constitution Park the mercury hit a low 11 degrees.

Roads in the area are clear but in Garrett County where it snowed again last night, Police were advising travel with chains only.

Icy spots continued to remain on many of the roads in Allegany County but driving was not listed as hazardous if care is observed.

At Deal, Pa., the temperature at 8 o'clock last night was 10 degrees above zero and the skies were cloudy.

A temperature of 14 degrees was recorded at Thomas, W. Va., where it was snowing again at 8 o'clock yesterday evening. Thomas already has 30 inches of snow on the ground.

A little snow was falling at Terra Alta, Pa., where a temperature of 12 degrees was reported.

The temperature at Altamont was given as 16 degrees.

The forecast for this area calls for clear skies and low temperatures of between 5 degrees and 15 degrees.

Seal Sale Nets $7,895 To Date

The Allegany County Tuberculosis Association has raised $7,895.49 since November 20 in the sale of 1950 Christmas Seals, according to Miss Jean Reinhart, executive-secretary.

This amount is 53 per cent of the county's goal of $15,000, she said.

The Maryland Tuberculosis Association and its affiliated county associations have raised $163,844.75 since the campaign started in November.

In making this announcement, William H. Staub, president of the Maryland Tuberculosis Association, expressed gratification for the response given the annual Christmas Seal Sale but cautioned against letting up until the state goal of $342,200 has been reached.

The state-wide total to date shows that $3,850.23 more has been raised this year than during the same period of last year's campaign.

Plumbing Bill Tabled After Dispute Arises

Opponents Charge Monopoly Will Result

Charging monopoly, discrimination and unjust expense on the city and taxpayers, a number of citizens and organized groups protested the passage of a plumbing ordinance by the Mayor and City Council last night.

The ordinance was up for its third and final reading before passage, but after the protests and rebuttals were debated back and forth in an old fashioned town meeting manner, the council tabled the ordinance until the next regular meeting.

Before the third reading was called for, Mayor Thomas S. Post asked if any of those attending the session wished to speak in opposition of the proposed plumbing bill.

Among those who took advantage of the Mayor's invitation were Gordon H. Green, 803 Shriver Avenue; Allen Russell, 701 Glenmore Street; Ray Hollingsworth of the Sears Roebuck Company and John Scalli, whose address was not given. In general they argued that the ordinance would give undo authority to the master plumbers of the city. Russell contended that the plumbers' union restricts the number of members in its organization.

A letter was read to the council from Earl L. Snyder, president of the Celanese Textile union, in which he expressed opposition to the ordinance. Earlier, the South Cumberland Business Men's Association voiced its opposition.

Spokesmen in favor of the plumbing ordinance were E. M. Rowley, of Plumbers Local 489, who stressed that Cumberland had a plumbing inspector from 1912 until 1941. Ray H. Lapp, a South Cumberland master plumber, favored adoption of the ordinance. He got the clerk to read a copy of a letter he had written to the South Cumberland Business Men's Association regretting the group's action in opposing the ordinance. Lapp's letter contended that qualified plumbers are as necessary as doctors, dentists, pharmacists and nurses. They protect the city from epidemic, he stated.

Tabling of the ordinance until the December 26 meeting was done on the motion of Finance Commissioner William Buchholtz.

Braddock Farms Plans Yule Party

The Braddock Farms Improvement Association will hold a Christmas program Friday night at 7:45 o'clock, C. O. Twigg, secretary of the association, announced last night. It will be the second annual Yule affair sponsored by the group.

The outdoor program will be held under a large lighted Christmas tree which will be placed in the center of the community, Twigg said, and the singing of carols and a visit by Santa Claus will highlight the affair.

A special singing program by children of the community is being planned by Mrs. David Durst, after which Santa will distribute gifts to the youngsters.

After the program carol singers of the community plan to visit homes throughout Braddock Farms and nearby areas to sing carols and hymns, Twigg related.

The public is invited to attend.

Firemen To Get Switchboard

Installation of a private branch switchboard for the use of the Cumberland Fire Department is nearing completion, Acting Fire Chief William L. Lindner reported yesterday.

He said the switchboard will be placed into use later this week, when members of the department learn the use of the equipment.

One of the major recommendations of the Board of Fire Underwriters, the switchboard will do much to speed the work of the fire fighters here.

A temporary switchboard was installed at Central Fire Station yesterday. Permanent equipment will be installed when it arrives.

When the switchboard is placed in operation, all fire calls in the city will be routed to Central Fire Station.

Fire companies will be dispatched on a multiple hookup so other companies will know the location of the fire and be ready to swing into action immediately.

Slippery Sidewalks Prompt Complaints

Police reported yesterday that complaints are beginning to mount as a result of icy sidewalks here.

Chief of Police R. E. Flynn said persons who are unable to remove ice from sidewalks should use ashes, sand or salt in order to make the walks safe for pedestrians.

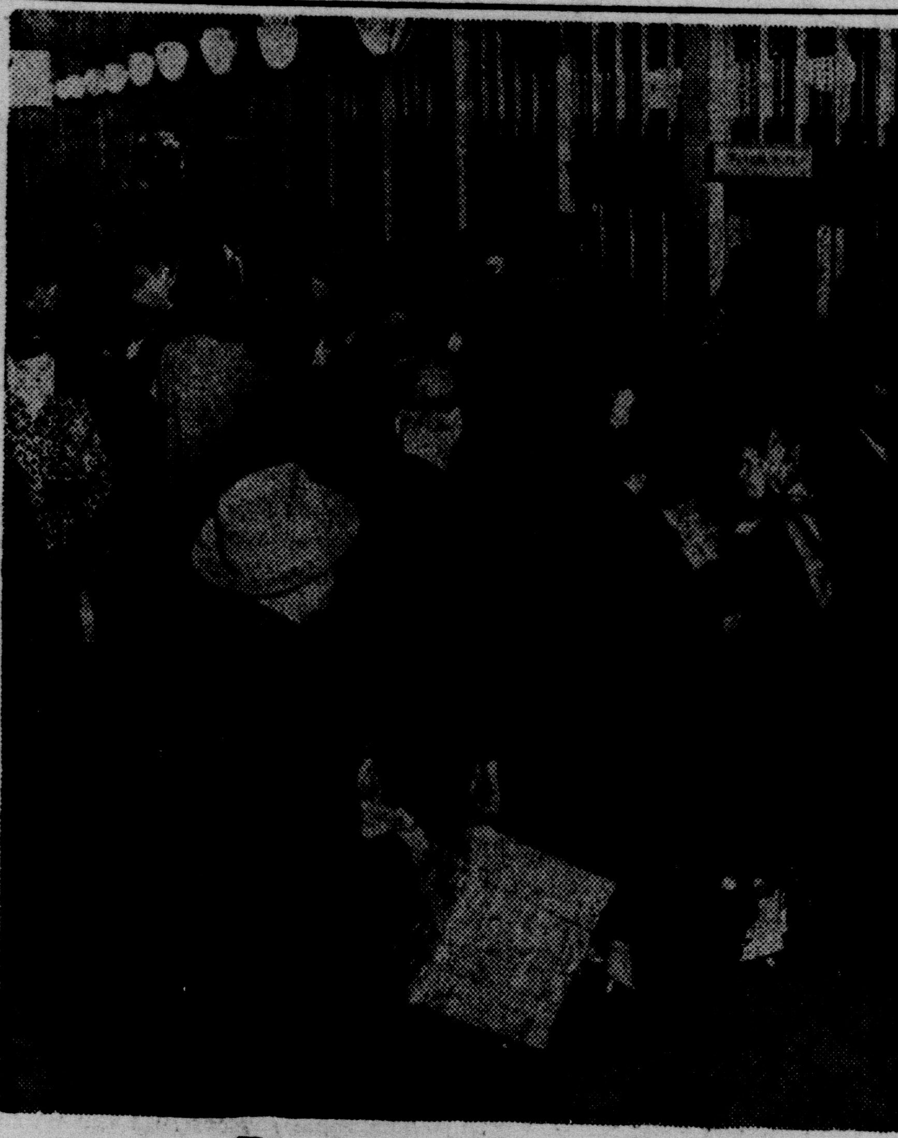
SHOPPING DAYS
till CHRISTMAS



Record Day At Post Office

Pictured here is part of the crowd that kept the local post office workers busy yesterday when over 190,000 pieces of mail were handled. This set an all-time record for any Christmas season here in Cumberland. Three parcel post windows were kept open all day and incoming parcel post from other cities was extremely heavy.

Record Set For Volume Of Mail At Local Post Office

With bundles of letters and parcel post piled everywhere at the local Post Office, yesterday set a new record in volume of mail handled here for any Christmas season.

Over 190,000 pieces of mail were handled between yesterday morning and midnight last night.

Fifty-six extra employes worked at top speed to take care of the rush. Five assistant carriers were used on the rural routes going out from Cumberland.

Superintendent of Mails W. R. Thayer said local mailing was extremely heavy, but most of the mail that had been held up because of the embargo is now coming through. Trains that usually do not carry mail at all were bringing two or three extra storage cars to take care of the hugh volume.

At the local Post Office, where only two letter cases are usually used, there were 16 in use yesterday.

Postmaster Thomas F. Conlon said people have not been wrapping packages as they should to insure against breakage of the carton. Yesterday 75 packages were turned back because of improper packaging.

Conlon pointed out that this takes extra time and creates confusion and he asks that people exercise more care in wrapping.

Fortunately, Conlon related, the Salvation Army has set up a booth in the main lobby at the Post Office and all those packages that were turned back were taken to the girl at the booth. She re-wrapped them and furnished all necessary cord and paper to make sure they were wrapped in accordance with Post Office regulations to insure safe arrival at their destinations.

Stamp sales remained high yesterday at the Post Office and Conlon expects they will remain so until about Wednesday.

South End Lights Tree Tonight

The South End Christmas tree will be illuminated at the corner of Race and Seymour Streets tonight. The program is sponsored by the South Cumberland Business Men's Association with A. J. Saliga, Mrs. Karl Lehman and Nelson W. Russler in charge.

The Rev. Arthur Scrogum, pastor of Living Stone Church of the Brethren and president of the Cumberland Ministerial Association, and the Rev. Lawrence P. Landrigan, pastor of St. Mary's Church, will participate. James Scarpelli will switch on the tree lights.

The program is scheduled to get underway at 7:30 and Santa Claus will be on hand to greet children. Beginning Wednesday, Santa will visit on Virginia Avenue and make stops at stores of the South End business district through Saturday.

Music for the South End program will be furnished by the brass section of the Fort Hill High School band and the Fort Hill Choir directed by Miss Annetta Yates.

Weather

Clear and cold with the lowest from 5 degrees to 15 degrees is the forecast for today. The high is to be from 30 to 35 degrees. Yesterday's low in Constitution Park was 11 degrees and the high was 27 degrees. Downtown, the lowest temperature was 18 degrees and the high was 32 degrees.

Lester Millenson Succumbs From Heart Attack

Local Businessman, Sportsman Was 56

Lester Millenson, 56, of 110 Luteman Road, well-known Cumberland businessman and sports enthusiast, died last night about 7:30 in Memorial Hospital where he had been a patient since Saturday a week ago after suffering a heart attack.

Mr. Millenson was born in Chicago, Ill., September 7, 1894 and spent his early life in East Newmarket, Md. He came to Cumberland about 1913 and since had engaged in the finance business here. He was owner of the National Loan Company and had been in business for the past 25 years.

An ardent golfer and baseball fan, Mr. Millenson was associated with the Cumberland Colts Baseball Club when the Colts were members of the Middle Atlantic League. His brother, Irving Millenson, was first secretary of the League which began operation in 1925. Mr. Millenson was a ticket seller for the club.

A veteran of the U. S. Navy in World War I, Mr. Millenson was a member of Cumberland Post No. 13, American Legion, Cumberland Country Club, and B'er Chayim congregation.

Survivors include his widow, the former Maxine Slifer of Charles Town, W. Va.; two brothers, George and Irving Millenson, both of this city; a son, John R. Millenson, a student at Duke University, Chapel Hill, N. C.; and a daughter, Leslie M. Millenson, at home. Miss Millenson is a student at Allegany High School.

The body is at Stein's Funeral Home where funeral arrangements are incomplete.

Attend TWUA Meeting

City Council Votes Changes In Personnel

Louis T. Helman Gets Clerk Appointment

In compliance with a plan devised by Street Commissioner Lucile W. Roeder to set up a more adequate control system of inventory and other records at the City Warehouse, the Mayor and Council passed an order last night appointing Louis T. Helman as warehouse clerk at a monthly salary of $216.

Prior to making this appointment, Mrs. Roeder introduced an order abolishing the job of timekeeper at the warehouse and creating the position of warehouse clerk. That order also was passed unanimously.

Under an order introduced by Police and Fire Commissioner John J. Long, passed by council, Harry A. Spies of the fire department was retired and placed upon the lifetime pension list. He has been a member of the West Side Fire Company.

In another order, the council confirmed the probationary appointment of Conely C. Hammond to the Fire Department.

Council ordered payment of $13,264.50 for the new fire engine placed in service at West Side. Commissioner Long commented that the pumper passes and exceeds all guaranteed tests, and on runs about the city topped the steepest hills at 30 miles per hour.

Margaret R. Spiker, in another personnel change, tendered her resignation as clerk in the Water Department. She indicated she will accept employment with the Corps of Army Engineers in Washington, D. C., January 8.

Mayor Post Lights City Yule Tree

Carol singing was the feature of brief ceremonies at City Hall last night which Mayor Thomas S. Post turned on the brightly colored lights on the community Christmas tree in front of City Hall.

Because of the 27-degree cold only a few hundred spectators turned out for the traditional ceremonies.

Monroe Harris, music director at Beall High School, Frostburg directed the group singing and acted as master of ceremonies.

Clergymen of three faiths prayed during the program and each stressed the serious world situation in a different manner. Hope for permanent peace and justice for all peoples of the world was stressed in their prayers. They were Rev. Norman O. Scribner, pastor of Centre Street Methodist Church; Rabbi Herbert J. Wilner, B'er Chayim Congregation, and Rev. J. Lawrence Kilkenny, pastor of St. Patrick's Catholic Church.

Music was furnished by a brass section of the Allegany High School band, the Fort Hill High School a cappella choir, directed by Miss Annetta Yates, and the Allegany High School choristers, directed by Miss Dorothy Willison.

The tree was decorated by Edgar Bucy, Edward Lible and Richard Linthicum, of the Cumberland Fire Department.

Optimist Club To Hold Party For Boys Group

The local Optimist Club will hold its fifth annual Christmas party for the Junior Optimist Boys Club tomorrow at 6:15 p. m. at Central YMCA. Turkey dinner will be served and gifts will be presented to the guests, according to Allan Staggers, publicity chairman.

Kenneth R. Shafer is chairman of the committee on arrangements and was assisted by Hugh G. Funkhouser, Dr. Leonard S. Cooper and John I. Spiker.

Regular meetings of the Optimist Club have been suspended during the holidays.

Salvation Army Begins Issuing Food Orders

Other Aid Slated For Needy Of Area

The Salvation Army yesterday began issuing Christmas food orders to the needy of the Cumberland area.

Major Elmer Wall, commander, said about 150 family food orders ranging from $5 to $10 were issued yesterday.

Another 150 orders are slated to be issued today.

The amount of the food order, which may be used for food and some candy and nuts, depends upon the size of the family and its needs.

Major Wall said the amount is sufficient for a good Christmas dinner, with some food left over for several other meals.

The need for Christmas relief, Major Wall said, may exceed last year, when the Army distributed aid to 379 families.

In addition to the food orders, some of the most needy persons will receive clothes and a few of the sick and needy will also get an order for coal.

Toys will be distributed Wednesday through Friday at the Citadel.

For the late comers, the Salvation Army is planning to distribute food baskets.

The equivalent of the food orders, most baskets will contain two pounds of sugar, five to 10 pounds of potatoes, onions, a can each of peas, red beans, milk and soup, a pound of dried beans, a pound of rice, a package of tea, can of corn, oleomargarine, bread, sack of flour, a small picnic ham, and a half dozen or more of apples and oranges. A small amount of candy and cookies will also be included.

Major Wall said every attempt will be made to make sure that every needy family is supplied with a good Christmas dinner.

CWA Will State Strike Position

The position of the Communications Workers of America will be outlined prior to the impending strike of the independent telephone operators union in Maryland, officials of Division 34, CWA, said last night.

Strike ballots have been mailed to about 3,000 operators employed by the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company, and officials of the operators' union, the Maryland Telephone Traffic Union, said a walkout will be called December 24 if contract negotiations are not settled by then.

The operators' union is an independent organization and officials of Division 34, CWA, said the position of the CWA group will be stated because of the "independency" of the operators' union.

Margaret C. Weiss, Baltimore, head of the Maryland Telephone Traffic Union, referring to the mailing of the strike ballots, said "it is customary to take such a vote when a union approaches the end of negotiations with no settlement in sight."

A local telephone company spokesman commented that only a few of the operators here belong to the Maryland Telephone Traffic Union and doubted whether a strike would affect the Cumberland branch of the C. and P.

Pfc. L. V. Shirley Home On 12-Day Leave

Marine Pfc. Leslie V. Shirley, 21, Wiley Ford, W. Va., is home on a 12-day leave from Parris Island, S. C., where he finished basic training recently.

A former student of Fort Ashby High School, Shirley worked at Lou's Auto Stores prior to entering active Marine service.

He is married to the former Miss Shirley Green.

Boy With Yule Gifts

Pictured here is Donald Heinrich with the 20 doll beds he made to give to underprivileged children in hospitals this Christmas. He made them all himself, using money he had saved to buy materials. The beds are all painted blue and are made from cigar boxes, clothes pins, and old cotton spools. Each cradles a small doll with complete bed clothing, from mattress and blankets to lace bordered pillow slips.

Youth Practices Sunday School Lesson By Christmas Giving

By ROGER SCHNELL
News Staff Writer

"It is better to give than to receive."

That's what the Sunday school teacher said, and it inspired 11-year-old Donald Heinrich, Jr., of 310 Pulaski Street, to use his Christmas money for materials to make 20 small doll beds he wants distributed to unfortunate children in hospitals this Christmas.

Each bed, besides cradling a small doll Heinrich purchased, is completely made up with mattress, sheets, blankets, pillow and pillow case.

He made the beds out of cigar boxes, used old cotton spools for legs, and for bed posts he resorted to clothes pins. They are held together with glue and shoe nails.

Donald explained that he purchased all the material except the cigar boxes which were given to him by merchants. It took some time to gather everything—boxes, clothes pins, glue, nails, bat cotton, and so on.

Bought Everything

"I spent about two hours on each bed, gluing and nailing it together, and painting it," Donald said. He has all of them painted light blue.

How about all of the needlework on that dainty bed clothing? "That took some persuading," Donald explained.

"Although I bought everything, from the lace that borders the edges of the pillow cases to the bat cotton for the mattress, my grandmother did all the sewing," he said.

His grandmother is Mrs. A. W. Heinrich, 512 Shriver Avenue, who incidentally is Donald's employer and who paid him for hauling wood that provided income for him to buy the material for the beds.

The only other source of funds he had was his Dad, who gave him $5 for having a good report card this fall. Donald is in the sixth grade at Columbia Street School.

It was more than just working and raising money, though, the youth explained, for "in order to save the money after I got it, I gave up ice cream cones and shows."

Rev. Randolph Keefe, pastor of Grace Baptist Church, which Donald attends, liked the idea so well that he asked the boy to bring his beds and dolls to the church so the congregation could see them.

"It is good to know that we have a boy among us who does such a good deed," Rev. Keefe remarked.

Donald conceived the idea originally when he read a newspaper story about the need for toys for children in hospitals and orphanages. That was on December 8, and since that time he has been busy making the 20 beds and dressing them up.

Will Make Five More

The Salvation Army will get the beds today, distributing them according to Donald's wish. He plans to make five more before Christmas and most of them will be given to lesser privileged children he knows.

When asked what he would like for Christmas, Donald replied, "A tool set so I can make other things to give away."

The youth doesn't expect to see many of the youngsters who will receive his gifts, but he hopes they will be about eight or nine years old.

If he could talk to each one of them, Donald says he would wish them a happy Christmas, but he also would tell them to go to Sunday School regularly.

He would add: "If they really want to be happy at Christmas, or at any other time, they should try to do something for someone else."
